City diving into water system upgrades

DIANE JOHNSTON
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – Greater clarification is coming to water issues in the city.

Temiskaming Shores is planning to upgrade the McCamus Avenue treatment plant, which now serves both Dymond and New Liskeard.

It's also launching a pilot project to track water usage in the restaurant and accommodations sectors.

It'll use the data to develop a single bylaw for water billing in the sectors across the entire municipality, said Mayor Carman Kidd after council met earlier this week.

The big-ticket item is the replacement of the McCamus plant's aging iron removal filters.

The cost will be offset by up to $516,400 from the federal and provincial governments under the Clean Water and Wastewater Fund.

Iron is an aesthetic concern causing discolouration, said public works director Doug Walsh.

Over time, it can also affect the quality of the

AND THE BAND PLAYED ON...

The New Liskeard Public School/Timiskaming District Secondary School elementary division band, made up of children aged 11 to 14 in grades five to eight, hit all the right notes when they performed a mini concert at Northdale Manor on Thursday, June 15. Music teacher Karen Ross said some of the band members were seasoned musicians while others were new to the band. They opened up their performance with O Canada. (Staff photo by Sue Nielsen)

DID YOU GET THE SPEAKER THIS WEEK?

Here are some of the stories in our June 21 edition...

- The Town of Latchford has submitted an application to the provincial government's Natural Gas Grant Program in an effort to bring natural gas to town.

- Practical solutions exist to Canadians' most pressing concerns, says federal New Democratic leadership candidate Charlie Angus.
- Two ground-mounted solar project sites in Cobalt are expected to move forward this year.
- There will be a whole lot of brew ha-ha happening in Haileybury the second week of July.
- Another farmers' market will be opening in the Temiskaming area on Friday, July 14.
- A company's search for cobalt in the Bay Lake area is in the early stage of exploration.
- Gas leaks in Haileybury prompted the

- evacuation of the Temiskaming Lodge and the nearby Island View Apartments last week.
- For the second year in a row, the Harvest to Home Market will be held on Highway 11 outside Englehart over the summer and early part of the fall.
- The mosquitoes and black flies weren't too bad and a bear seen in the distance only seemed interested in crossing the road at the Get Active event.
- Our C-front this week features a story and photos on the 1st Englehart Girl Guides of Canada community garden in Englehart.

Application for Zoning By-law Amendment
Notice of Complete Application
And Notice of Statutory Public Hearing
Under Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990 c.P.13

The City of Temiskaming Shores has received the following application to amend the Town of New Liskeard Zoning By-law 2233:

File #: ZBA-2017-05(NL)
Owner: James McNamara
Agent: Ian Laferriere
Property: 258 Farah Avenue

A public hearing will be held to consider the Zoning By-law Amendment application:

Date: Tuesday, July 11, 2017
Time: 6:00 p.m.
Place: Council Chambers at City Hall, 325 Farr Drive, Haileybury

The application proposes to rezone the subject land from Medium Density Residential (R3) to Medium Density Residential Exception (R3-E) to add a 4-unit townhouse as a permitted use on the property and to recognize the following considerations specific to the proposed development:

Lot area (minimum)	200m² per dwelling unit
Lot frontage, 4-unit townhouse (minimum)	20m
Building setback, rear, main building (minimum)	2m
Dwelling unit area, 4-unit townhouse (minimum)	50m² for a one bedroom dwelling unit; plus 10m² for each additional bedroom
Entrance setback (minimum)	8.8m

The proposed development includes 4 units divided vertically (side-by-side units), all facing Edith Street. The R3 zone currently permits up to 4 units per property, but does not permit the proposed configuration.

The property is designated Residential Neighbourhood in the City of Temiskaming Shores Official Plan and is zoned Medium Density Residential (R3) in the Town of New Liskeard Zoning By-law 2233.

City diving into water system upgrades

Walsh said new technologies have been developed to remove iron.

The city is releasing a request for proposals from consultants and contractors to design and build a new system.

The existing system is in "pretty rough shape," Kidd said.

"We've been patching and trying to keep them going, so this will give us a new system."

He said water volumes going through the plant have also increased since the New Liskeard and Dymond water systems were linked last year.

At its June 20 meeting, council also approved the $12,500 purchase of nine cold-water meters from Sudbury-based Wamco Waterworks Northern.

They'll be installed in various restaurants and hotels across the municipality to track consumption over a one-year period.

In a report to council, city staff said the municipality has no accurate water consumption data for the sectors.

Establishments are billed differently for water usage under existing bylaws in the former municipalities of New Liskeard, Haileybury and Dymond, Kidd said.

Some have meters while others don't, and in some cases, restaurant billing is based on seating, he said.

He said the data collected during the study will be presented to the business sector as a new bylaw is drafted to equalize measures across the municipality.

Water meters are not under consideration for residential use, he continued.

After looking at the cost of installing and monitoring residential meters, "it's not really cost-effective for us," he said.

Tourism talk at Building Ties

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Special) – Tourism was on the agenda when Temiskaming Shores hosted the latest Building Ties event.

On June 9, 55 people from the Temiskaming Shores area, Timiskaming First Nation (TFN), and Témiscamingue, Quebec, came to Riverside Place to share a meal and some tourism talk.

It was the ninth Building Ties gathering. The initiative was launched to bring the area's Ontario, Quebec and First Nation communities closer together.

Among the speakers were TFN Chief Wayne McKenzie, Nadine Gaudaur and Karl Chevrier, who outlined upcoming summer activities at the TFN.

André Nault and Marika Lemire offered a presentation about nine museums on the Quebec side of the border, while Anny Roy discussed a local produce initiative.

Temiskaming Shores economic development officer James Franks presented information about upcoming festivals and events in the city.

Nicole Guertin and Bernard Flébus then offered a glimpse of this year's Foire gourmande de l'Abitibi-Témiskaming et le nord-est ontarien.

The group also recognized the Temiskaming Shores campus of Collège Boréal, which closes its doors in June.

The local campus and ACFO-Témiskaming were behind the Building Ties effort.

Translation services for the event were provided by Suzanne Boland-Taillefer of Corbeil.

TFN will host the next Building Ties event September 20.

Canadian values

Unless your IQ is at room temperature, you'll know 2017 is Canada's sesquicentennial year.

We are celebrating 150 years of national pride on July 1 as celebrations roll out locally and across the country.

We also make note of Aboriginal Day on June 21.

What does it truly mean to be Canadian?

Does it involve standing tall singing O Canada waving flags together espousing diversity, inclusion, love and respect?

There is big money being spent by the provincial and federal governments during this sesquicentennial year.

The provincial government spent $200,000 of our money on a giant yellow duck as part of the Canada 150 celebrations.

What a bunch of quacks.

Meanwhile, in this great country of ours 89 Indigenous communities are presently without safe drinking water.

And it's a country where a child is more likely to be sexually assaulted than to graduate from high school and where the murder rate for Indigenous people is worse than Somalia's.

We've got a lot to be proud of as Canadians, but there's much we need to question.

Let's go back 150 years to 1867 shall we?

The first Prime Minister of Canada, Sir John A. McDonald, while the Minister for Indian Affairs, is famous for directing the residential school experience.

The sole purpose of the residential school program was to "kill the Indian in the child."

Sue Nielsen

They killed the "Indian in the child" all right. It is estimated that over 6,000 Indigenous children died in residential schools. There are possibly thousands more deaths but the government stopped recording them in 1920.

Indigenous children as young as five experienced loss of culture, language, and identity while suffering mental, physical, spiritual and sexual abuse.

Yes, this happened in Canada, the country we live in.

We have Justice Murray Sinclair's Truth and Reconciliation Report recognizing the past injustices done to Indigenous Canadians.

If you aren't aware of the residential school experience, or the Truth and Reconciliation report or the missing and murdered Aboriginal women inquiry, educate yourself.

Maya Angelou said, "When you know better, you do better."

Sorry, but the feel good "kittens and rainbows" story we will roll out July 1 about Canada is not the reality of this country.

Perhaps this country has fallen short of its own values and visions?

Moving forward, let us put our imagined superiority aside if our beliefs segregate us into a hierarchy making some matter more than others. No one is less important than anyone else.

This is the true Canadian way.

EDITORIAL

Animal abuse

There was a horrific incident of animal abuse coming out of Sudbury last week.

A woman beat a dog, it was captured on video and she and her partner were then arrested and charged with animal cruelty.

Social media was ablaze with comments about this incident as animal lovers united to condemn the cruelty.

There was another case of animal abuse at the end of May where a dog was found beaten and buried alive near Montreal.

The animal sadly died from its injuries.

Psychologists have found there is a strong link between physical abuse and animal abuse. It is not uncommon for people who either abuse people or animals to have been abused themselves, usually in childhood.

Aboriginal Day

Wednesday, June 21, marked Aboriginal Day in Canada.

A day set aside to celebrate the heritage, diversity and outstanding achievements of Canadians identifying as Aboriginal - First Nations, Inuit and Metis peoples.

Aboriginal issues that have been largely ignored by the federal government include community viability, clean drinking water, inequities in education and health care and the abolishment of the hood.

And there are animals being neglected and abused in this region as well. People are dropping off pets on back roads and near people's homes in acts of desperation.

We simply cannot accept the actions of abusers and they should be dealt with by the justice system.

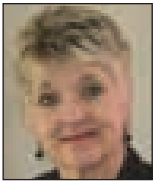

But in reality, prevention is the key. How we treat each other matters, especially when it comes to childhood trauma.

There are angels among us.

We salute all the people in our region who love and respect animals and those who have pet rescue operations.

They are doing good work spending their time, energy and money looking after someone else's pets.

Keeping the cottage safe and secure

TEMAGAMI (Special) - One of the biggest areas of concern for cottage owners is the increase of cottage break and enters, thefts, and damage that have occurred this year.

The Temiskaming and Temagami Detachments of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) along with the Temagami Lakes Association and the Temagami Lake Watch Program are working together to reduce these crimes.

Cottage break and enters, damage and theft are serious concerns impacting police, cottage owners, the cottagers association and insurance companies. The OPP encourages crime prevention at the cottage in support of local cottagers' associations and Cottage Watch initiatives across Ontario.

Local residents can assist police. All suspicious matters need to be reported and obtain as much information as possible. This includes physical descriptions, clothing descriptions, vehicle descriptions (licence plate), island numbers and the area where they were last seen. Note the direction that the suspects are heading.

Operation Identification is a property marking initiative designed to help discourage the theft of valuables by facilitating the identification of recovered stolen property. Thieves like to target the easy to carry items so that it doesn't hinder their movement.

ETCHING

One easy way to help discourage theft of these items is to etch them with an identifying number such as your vehicle licence plate number or to use a tool similar to the TRACE pen.

This pen is a personal anti-theft marking system that helps individuals protect their property. TRACE pens have tiny discs, about the size of a grain of sand and each hold a unique personal identification number, linking your property to you within a global database. The use of the TRACE pen allows police to positively identify when an item is stolen, when labelled with the TRACE pen. This anti-theft tool is already being utilized in the Temagami area and the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police approves and supports its use with the goal of reducing property theft in Ontario.

The cottagers association encourages cottage owners to use these pens to assist police in locating stolen items. When you identify your property with the TRACE pen, police are then able to access the database when they suspect property is stolen.

In association with this, it is always a good idea to copy down a list of the serial numbers of all electronic devices, tools, generators and to keep this list in a secure area as these numbers can assist in investigations.

Remember to assure your safety at all times. Contact police immediately and do not tamper with the crime scene as valuable evidence can be lost.

Visit the OPP website for more information on Operation Identification or Safeguard Ontario Property Security Program for helpful tips to safeguard your home and secure your property at: www.opp.ca. or contact your local detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police at 1-888-310-1122.

The Crime Stoppers Civilian Board of Directors will pay up to $2,000 for any information leading to an arrest. Callers do not have to give their name and do not have to testify in court. Calls are never traced or taped. Call the Tri-Town Region Inc. Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS).

INSPECTION

Inspection of Approved Aerial Herbicide Spraying Abitibi River and Timiskaming Forests

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNRF) invites you to inspect the MNRF-approved aerial herbicide spray project. As part of our ongoing efforts to regenerate and protect Ontario's forests, selected stands on the Abitibi River and Timiskaming Forests (see map) will be sprayed with herbicide to control competing vegetation, starting on or about July 20, 2017. The herbicide Forza, registration P.C.P.# 26401 Pest Control Products Act will be used.

The approved project description and project plan for the aerial herbicide project is available for public inspection at the office of First Resource Management Group Inc. and on the MNRF public website at ontario.ca/forestplans beginning June 1, 2017 until March 31, 2018 when the Annual Work Schedule expires. ServiceOntario Centres in Cochrane, Timmins, and Kirkland Lake District Offices provide access to the Internet.

Interested and affected persons and organizations can arrange an appointment with MNRF staff at the MNRF District Office to discuss the aerial herbicide project.

During recent emergency preparedness activities in Temiskaming Shores, the 1st New Liskeard Girl Guides took on the role of mock evacuees and spent the night at the Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena. They also learned about emergency services. Meeting with Fire Chief Tim Uttley were, from left, Guides Brynn Durrant, Rebecca Loach, Allie Tobler, Alison Turcotte and Ella Caldwell. (Supplied Photo)

TEMISKAMING SHORES – Camping isn’t out of the ordinary for Girl Guides. But a sleepover in the arena? That’s just what the 1st New Liskeard Girl Guides did May 12-13 as part of Emergency Preparedness Week. The group was scheduled to spend the night in a mock evacuation centre set up by the Canadian Red Cross at one end of the Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena. But as bad luck would have it, the Red Cross was called into action to help victims of flooding in the James Bay and Ottawa areas.

The Guides were undeterred – 13 members and leaders Lori Caldwell, Lisa Labonte and Audrey Shelton climbed into sleeping bags and spent the night in the arena foyer. The group also learned about safety, thanks to presentations from the Ontario Provincial Police, paramedics and the Temiskaming Shores Fire Department. On the morning after their sleepover, they had breakfast with Temiskaming Shores Mayor Carman Kidd and city manager Chris Oslund. The Girl Guides have now wrapped up their year, concluding with a weekend gathering at Camp Temiskaming on Fairy Lake June 9 through 11. “We are looking for new members next September,” said leader Shelton in an email.

Weekly meetings are held Tuesdays, beginning September 19. For registration info, go to www.girlguides.ca.

Christmas time in the city

Diane Johnston
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – It’s never too early to begin thinking about Christmas.

And the festive season is on the minds of Village Noël Témiskaming organizers.

A new schedule and expanded activities for students, a log sawing competition, and on-site demonstrations by artisans are planned for 2017, committee chair Réjeanne Bélisle-Massie told Temiskaming Shores councillors June 6.

Village Noël, launched in 2015, has “huge” potential for growth, she said.

And the larger it becomes, she said, “the more economic spinoffs we will have.”

She provided council with a summary of last year’s festivities.

Organizers estimated attendance at 5,000 from the Temiskaming Shores area, 1,500 from Quebec, and 500 from other parts of Ontario. Some 1,500 students from eight schools took in events.

Twenty-seven wooden kiosks were located throughout the downtown. Four more will be added this year.

Forty artists and craftspeople from Ontario, another 11 from Northwestern Quebec, and six food producers took part.

That tally doesn’t include vendors at the Riverside Farmers’ Market, which was one of six partners joining Centre culturel ARTEM in the event.

Twenty-nine local musicians as well as several groups and individual performers from outside the area provided live entertainment.

Anglophones, francophones and First Nations participated, Bélisle-Massie said.

“We’re trying to represent the three cultures around the lake.”

Behind the scenes, more than 250 volunteers in addition to city staff were working.

FINANCES

On the financial front, revenues tallied almost $196,000, with almost two-thirds of the support coming from FedNor.

Of that sum, sponsorships accounted for $4,000.

Bélisle-Massie said demand for sponsors was high in 2016, which saw the final Bikers Reunion and the One Foot Forward fundraiser.

Businesses and organizations provided in-kind help valued at $68,600.

Almost $6,000 came from kiosk rentals, and souvenir sales raised $3,000.

Revenues outstripped expenses by about $5,300.

She said Village Noël has also created some tangible assets, including a downtown sound system and improved electrical infrastructure as well as the kiosks.

This year’s Village Noël Témiskaming will run November 23 through 25.

Together, Temiskaming Shores residents Michele Hamel (right) and her mother, Ginette Leveille, cut their hair on May 9 donating 18 inches of hair to 360 Hair in Langley, British Columbia, a Canadian company accepting dyed hair to be used in wigs for children with cancer. This is the third time Michele has donated her hair - first at age six and then again at nine. So far the 12-year-old she has donated 29.5 inches with her goal to donate at least 48 before she reaches age 25. “Sometimes it feels good to make a change because it makes you see the world from another perspective,” said Michele about giving her hair to help others. ### Should You Get the Pneumonia Vaccine?

What is the Pneumonia Vaccine (Pneumovax)?

Pneumococcal Disease (PD) is an infection caused by a type of bacteria (streptococcus pneumoniae). When this bug invades the body, it can lead to serious illness, such as pneumonia. But the bacteria can also cause blood poisoning and meningitis, which is inflammation of the tissues around the brain and spinal cord.

PD bacteria can travel through the air and spread by close contact, through sneezing, coughing or kissing. It can also be picked up from surfaces and objects. The most common signs and symptoms are fever, chills, sweat, aches and pains, and headaches.

Who Should Get the Vaccine?

People 65 and older and those with conditions that affect the immune system, such as:

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| • Cancer                                 | • Diabetes  |
| • Chronic heart, liver or kidney disease | • HIV infection and AIDS                            |
| • Chronic lung disease                   | • No spleen or a spleen that does not work properly |
| • Nephrotic syndrome                     | • Sickle cell disease                               |
| • Cirrhosis of the liver                 | • Now also recommended for asthma                   |
| • Alcoholism                             |   |

About eight out of 10 cases occur in these high-risk groups. The vaccine protects against 65% of people. Vaccination also makes the disease milder for those who may catch it.

Five Tips for Reducing Your Risk of contracting PD:

1. If you are 65 or older or in the risk group noted above, see your primary care provider about getting the vaccine.
2. Wash your hands
3. Be active
4. Get enough sleep, as this can help to keep your immune system strong
5. Have regular follow up visits with your primary care provider.

If you are a patient of the Temagami Family Health Team and would like to have the pneumonia vaccine, please call the office to schedule an appointment.

Shoebox tally up

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff) – There may be a lot of shoes without boxes in Southern Temiskaming.

Tallies for the 2016 Operation Christmas Child Shoebox Campaign have been released.

A total of 887 shoeboxes filled with toys, school supplies, personal care items and good wishes were packed in South Temiskaming.

That's up from the 854 boxes sent to the Christian organization the previous year.

The recent collection will be distributed to children in need in Haiti, Chile, Costa Rica, Senegal and, for the first time, the West African country of Gambia.

“This program allows individuals and groups to help bring joy and hope to children in desperate situations around the world,” writes Elaine Glassford, the effort's district coordinator.

“The shoeboxes help the children feel loved and to know that they have not been forgotten.”

Canadians assembled more than 664,500 boxes last year. Around the world, more than 11.4 million boxes were distributed to children.

Operation Christmas Child is a project of Samaritan's Purse, a Christian relief and development organization headed by Franklin Graham, son of evangelist Billy Graham.

DECODING THE OAT

There's nothing like a piping hot bowl of oatmeal or a platter of freshly baked oatmeal cookies to comfort the soul on a frigid winter day. This hearty grain is packed with nutritional benefits that help keep your heart healthy and your cholesterol levels in check. But besides their dietary goodness, oats are surprisingly complex. In fact, they are among the most genetically complex organisms on earth, according to Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada (AAFC).

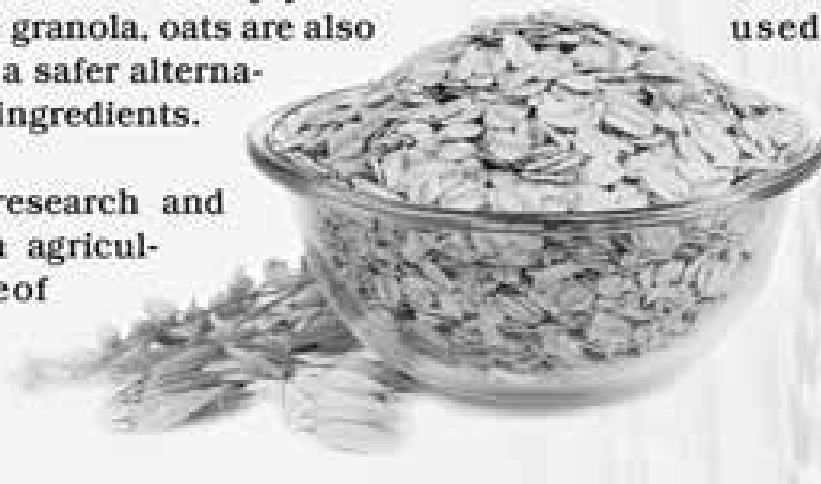

The AAFC has been conducting research on oats for more than 20 years. Recently, Canadian researchers have taken on the challenging task of mapping the oat genome for two main reasons:

1. to develop a more robust version with better weather- and insect-resistant properties, and
2. to help oat farmers further enhance the already impressive health benefits of oats by influencing the selection of specific traits.

With their high protein, mineral and healthy oil content, oats are renowned for their nutritional value. Among the discoveries of the past 20 years, researchers have found that oats slow down the body's absorption of cholesterol and sugar thanks to a unique soluble fibre called -glucan. In practice, this means that eating oats makes you feel full for longer, as slower digestion maintains levels of hormones associated with feelings of satiety.

Canadian farmers already produce 15 per cent of the 22 million tons of oats harvested worldwide each year. Cracking the genetic code of the oat would be a huge win for Canada's agricultural industry, especially for farmers in more difficult climates. Enjoyed in muffins, breakfast bars and homemade granola, oats are also used in skincare products as a safer alternative to certain artificial ingredients.

Thanks to continued research and innovation in Canadian agricultural practices, the future of oat farming is looking hearty, healthy and delicious!

TemFund has made loans of $15 million

Darlene Wroe
Speaker Reporter

COBALT - Representatives of the Temiskaming DevelopmentFund Corporation (TemFund) were at Cobalt council Tuesday, June 20, to provide an overview of the work they do with the industrial sector in the region.

Business development coordinator Lorne Hillcoat and director Suzanne Othmer outlined the mandate of the organization and its history.

It was the first time that TemFund has made a presentation to council since Mayor Tina Sartoretto came to office in 2010, she commented. The mayor is an ex-officio board member of TemFund.

Hillcoat explained that TemFund focuses on the industrial sector with a mandate to provide loans and create and sustain industrial jobs.

TemFund is not linked to any government agency, he also noted.

Since TemFund was established in 1989, after the closure of Sherman Mine, it has turned over $15 million in loans, Hillcoat continued. The organization started with $4 million, he said.

“I know what you do is extremely confidential,” commented Councillor George Othmer.

WHY DID THE TURTLE CROSS THE ROAD?

Turtles are being spotted in and around the Temiskaming region as they cross busy highways when females are searching for spots to lay their eggs. Drivers should be alert on rainy or damp days as this is when turtles move about seeking nesting spots. If you see something that looks like a rock on the road, it could be a turtle. You can help them by blocking traffic or actually picking them up by the back end, not by the tail but by the shell area. This snapping turtle (a metre long) was spotted crossing Highway 11 just south of Cobalt in Coleman Township. (Staff photo by Sue Nielsen)
