ENGLEHART – Cleanup efforts continued this week following a gasoline spill caused during a Highway 11 collision north of Englehart.

About 20,000 litres of gasoline spilled from one of two tractor-trailers involved in a November 26 collision between Road 4 and Road 5 in Chamberlain Township.

“We expect the cleanup to take several days,” said Gary Wheeler, a spokesperson for the Ontario Ministry of the Environment, Conservation and Parks, in an email the following night.

Gas spill

Cleanup continuing after highway collision

“Thankfully, it appears that none of the fuel went into the nearby Blanche River or any intermediary waterways.

“Environmental crews have removed the remaining gasoline from the tanker and are now focusing on remediating the impacted environment,” he continued.

“Ministry staff will continue to be involved as necessary.”

He said the ministry takes all spills and threats to the environment “very seriously.”

“Ministry staff were at the site to ensure that the owner of the transport truck takes the necessary steps to clean up the spill.”

The collision left the driver of the fuel carrier with injuries described as serious but non-life threatening.

The driver of the other vehicle and a passenger were reported to have sustained minor injuries.

That driver was charged under the Highway Traffic Act with careless driving.

In addition, the proposed severed lands would benefit from a newly created easement over the retained lands as proposed by Application No. 54-C-187873. The proposed retained lands are approximately 62.4 hectares in size with 62 metres of frontage and are currently vacant.

The purpose of this notice is to inform the public of the nature of the application, invite public input, advise on how to make comments on the application and advise the public of future notification and appeal rights.

That’s just mean

We are often defined by what comes out of our mouths and how we use our words.

I found it interesting the word “toxic” is the 2018 Oxford Dictionary Word of the Year beating out “gaslighting” and “techlash.”

The Oxford Dictionary says toxic was chosen because of its sheer scope of usage around the globe.

The dictionary defines toxic as poisonous and shows a 45 per cent increase in the number of times people looked up the word on its website.

I think of toxicity as meanness. Metaphorically speaking there are toxic people and relationships, toxic politics and even toxic climates.

And let’s be clear, there’s nothing more toxic than a bad metaphor.

Perhaps the most pervasive use of the word toxic came from the #METOO movement referring to toxic masculinity.

People like Jian Ghomeshi and Harvey Weinstein come to mind.

Thankfully, getting your toxic sexual assault game on rightly spells disaster in 2018.

We know good and decent men have been unfairly targeted by the “toxic masculinity” label.

The good ole bully Don Cherry with his rants about hockey violence, European players and boozing is 21st century toxic vernacular.

Sometimes you just can’t laugh off that toxicity because children are listening.

How about the toxic happenings south of the border where fleeing migrants (women and children) are being tear-gassed as they approach the border between the United

Sue Nielsen

States and Mexico?

Need we explain why tear-gassing children is toxic behavior?

How do we not view the murder of American journalist Jamal Khashoggi in Saudia Arabia as anything but super toxic?

When I speak to my daughter and son-in-law in Scotland they tell me England’s Prime Minister, Theresa May, is toxic.

The Scots have a distinct dislike of the English as I am learning.

Toxicity comes in many forms.

Just wander around the social media sphere and in particular on Facebook and you will find out what toxicity is.

Heaven forbid you express an opinion on social media because online trolls will quickly pounce.

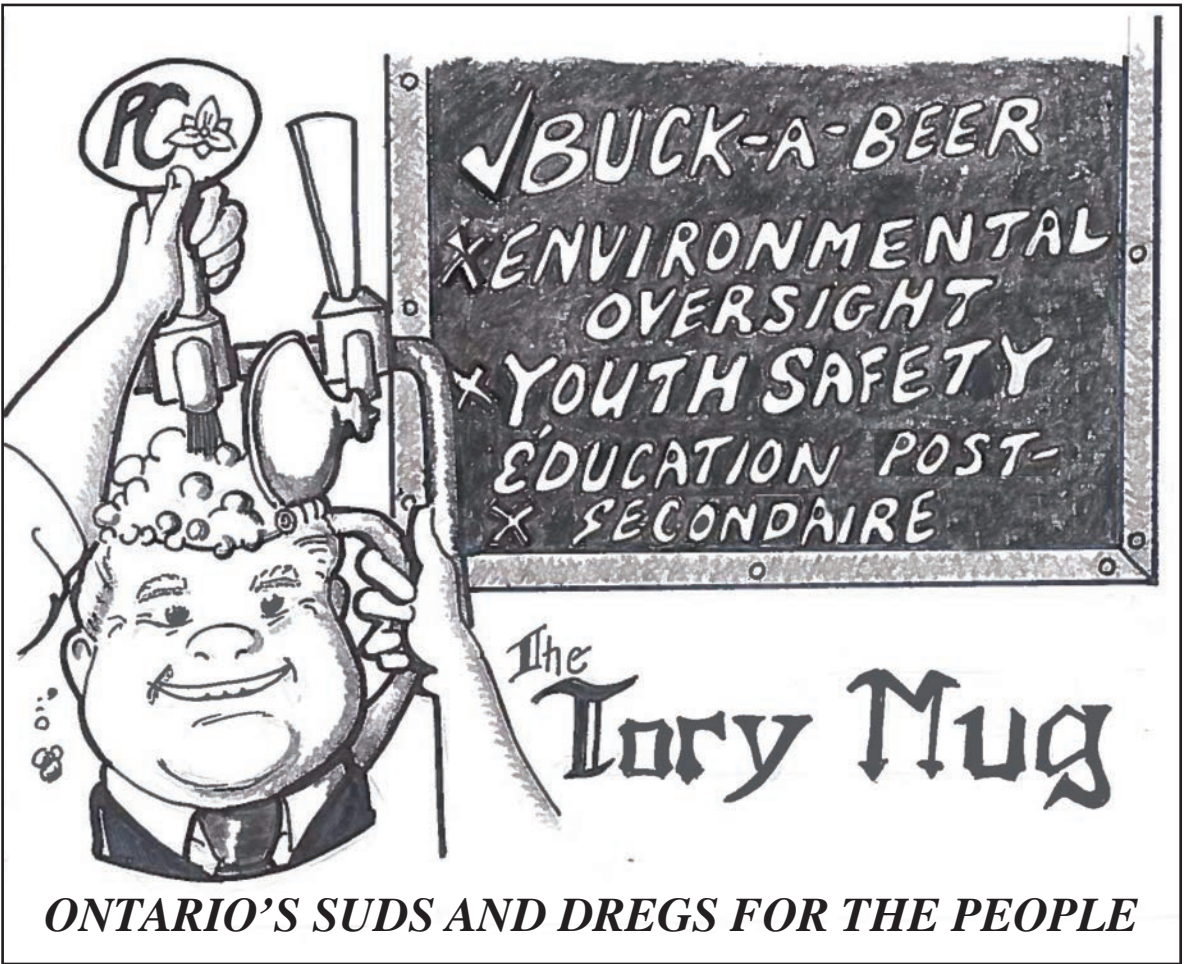

Of course there are toxic work environments, which I have not experienced and toxic politics, which I was a part of, left and didn’t get the t-shirt.

There is nothing more toxic than opioids, especially fentanyl, being pushed, prescribed and directed at our most vulnerable.

We are being told there are necessary evils in this world and we must accept them.

No way.

Because for every incident of toxicity there’s an antidote - the expression of love and kindness.

EDITORIAL

Sour deal

The Dairy farmers of Ontario say there will be huge concessions made as a result of the newly negotiated North American Free Trade Agreement.

This new version of NAFTA is called the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA).

It seems like the auto industry benefitted from USMCA but concessions had to be made off the backs of Canada’s dairy farmers, some of whom operate farms in the South Temiskaming region.

Farmers say concessions made in the USMCA will affect their bottom line cash flows.

The deal grants U.S. milk producers up to 3.6 per cent of the Canadian domestic market.

Canada’s Minister of Foreign Affairs, Chrystia Freeland, said the government would compensate dairy farmers for any losses incurred from the trade deal with the United States and Mexico.

We hope there is adequate help for our local dairy farmers who may be adversely affected by the USMCA.

And there is no better reason to buy Canadian dairy products than to fully support our local hard working dairy farmers.

Please check the label on milk, cheese, butter and other dairy products to make sure they are Canadian made.

The farming industry of South Temiskaming is vitally important to the region’s overall economic well-being.

Village Noël success

The Temiskaming Speaker and Weekender wishes to extend a hearty thank you to the organizers, volunteers, groups, sponsors, visitors, merchants and artisans who all made the 2018 Village Noël Temiskaming a complete success last weekend.

Thousands of people from across Northeastern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec flocked to New Liskeard for the three-day event featuring a French Canadian Christmas theme.

From the sleigh rides, to the Carver Kings, the axe throwing, the music and children’s games to the annual New Liskeard Santa Claus Parade, the event was a huge success providing fun for the whole family.

It was a perfect way to kick off the Christmas season in South Temiskaming.

Surviving Holiday Eating When You Have Diabetes

'Tis the season for family, festivity and food – lots of food! Temptations are everywhere and parties and travel can interfere with daily routines.

Here are 5 tips that can help:

- Holiday-Proof Your Plan
You may not be able to control what food you're served but you can meet the challenges if you have a plan:
  - Eat close to your usual times to keep your blood sugar steady.
  - If your meal is served later than normal, eat a small snack at your usual mealtime and eat a little less when dinner is served.
  - If you plan to have a sweet treat, cut back on other carbs (like potatoes and bread) during the meal.
- Outsmart the Buffet
Make healthy choices easier:
  - Start with vegetables to take the edge off of your appetite
  - Eat slowly. It takes at least 20 minutes for your brain to realize you're full.
  - Avoid or limit alcohol. If you have a drink, have it with food. Alcohol can lower blood sugar and interact with diabetes medications.
- Fit in Favorites
If you plan for it, no food needs to be on the naughty list. Slow down and enjoy a small serving.
- Keep Moving
Being active is your secret holiday weapon; it can help make up for eating more than usual and reduce stress during this most stressful time of the year. Take a walk with family and friends after a holiday meal.
- Get Your Rest
Sleep loss can make it harder to control your blood sugar and when you're sleep deprived, you'll tend to eat more and prefer high-fat, high-sugar food. Aim for 7 to 8 hours per night to guard against mindless eating.

For more tips to survive holiday eating, feel free to schedule an appointment with our Registered Dietitian (705-569-3244).

The Temagami Medical Centre and Family Health Team is committed to keeping you as healthy as possible!

Concerts strike a note for Cobalt teen

Darlene Wroe

COBALT - Cobalt teen Jamie Morin Kennedy has undergone a second brain surgery at Toronto Western Hospital and is now recovering.

Doctors say the surgery, which was performed to remove infected and damaged tissues, went well, her mother Jessica Kennedy stated in a Facebook post Wednesday morning, November 28.

The teen suffered a stroke in late October as the result of a large blood clot and after initial speculation that she was suffering a migraine, she was eventually transported to North Bay and then to Toronto Western Hospital where she underwent her first brain surgery.

On her Facebook page, Jessica Kennedy related that Jamie woke Wednesday morning at 5 a.m. and was talking and knew where she was. “She is in lots of pain again right now, but that is to be expected!” Jessica posted.

“Her surgeon said things went well,” she added. “I just can’t believe the strength of my little girl!”

Fundraisers have been taking place to support the family as they spend time with Jamie in Toronto. Along with the sale of t-shirts and bracelets, a bottle drive has also been taking place.

On Thursday, November 29, a spaghetti supper and silent auction was scheduled at the Cobalt Community Hall.

CONCERTS

Morin Kennedy turns 18 on Friday, November 30.

To continue the fundraising effort for her and her family, there will be a benefit concert at the Cobalt Miner’s Tavern Friday evening beginning at 7 p.m.

Cobalt Rocks Jamie’s Birthday: Benefit Concert will be emceed by Martin Drainville. Performers will include Charlie Angus, Two Rivers Band, Robyn Dewar, Brigid Wilkinson, John Shymko, and Me You and Lou, as well as other surprise performances. Increasing highway traffic concerns Latchford

Speaker Reporter

LATCHFORD - Latchford town council wants the Ministry of Transportation to conduct a traffic count on Highway 11 in the area where it passes through the community.

At its Thursday, November 15, council meeting, council discussed their observations that the traffic is heavier than it was in the past and that there are more transports going through the town than there were in recent years.

"It would be good to get a traffic count down and compare it to five or ten years ago," commented Latchford Mayor George Lefebvre.

"With the heavy traffic going through town, even removing snow at corners becomes hazardous for our staff to do," he added.

Latchford chief financial officer Lise Remillard commented that it is "very scary to be on the highway."

Councillor Mike Brooks added that when he crosses the highway on foot he makes sure that he has enough time to walk across the highway, but adds in an additional amount of time in case he should fall, so that he would have enough time to get up again and get off the highway before a transport came along.

Council commended the work of the Ontario Provincial Police in ticketing traffic passing through the town at a speed higher than the posted 60 kilometres an hour.

"All they're doing is making our community safer," said Brooks.

Lefebvre later commented to The Speaker that he doesn't see speeding as the problem, but "it's just an overall traffic problem."

He added that in winter conditions, the high rate of traffic makes it difficult for Latchford residents to get onto the highway.

WELL MANOR-ED VISITORS

Eight-day-old Charlee Matton napped through the hubbub at Northdale Manor's annual bazaar, safe in the arms of her great-great-grandmother, Rita Garreau. Making the November 17 bazaar a family affair were Charlee's great-grandmother, Marie-Paule Belanger of New Liskeard, in the foreground, and her great-aunt, Lise Goddard, visiting from Tiny Township. The Holiday Season allows us to reflect on the blessings that were granted to us throughout the year. That feeling of gratitude may be transformed into the desire to give back. This year, start a new family Christmas tradition and consider a donation to the Temiskaming Hospital Foundation.

Your gift will help to purchase medical equipment that will make a difference in the lives of every member of the community.

Please donate to the Temiskaming Hospital Foundation-Care Close to Home Campaign.

Le temps des Fêtes nous permet de prendre le temps de constater à quel point la vie nous a choyés. Et ce sentiment de reconnaissance peut se convertir en un désir de redonner. Cette année, veuillez commencer une nouvelle tradition de Noël et envisagez de faire un don à la Fondation de l'Hôpital Temiskaming.

Votre don aidera à faire l'achat d'équipements médicaux et qui feront une grande différence dans la vie des gens de la communauté.

ASK THE EXPERTS

Let's Discuss DIGGIN' OUT

THE BLOWER
Pro's :

- One pass and your done.
- You can put the snow exactly where you want it to be, no need to dig out and remove piles that have built up over time.
- No ruts. With a blower you will achieve a better uniform, level surface.

- There are many options to choose from based on your specific needs and budget. i.e., front mount, rear mount, hydraulic or manual chute, etc.

Con's :

- Slow go, you must go slower with a blower than with a plow or blade.
- Have to have a larger accumulation. You don't want to run the blower over an inch of snow and risk picking up stones or debris.
- More fuel consumption, tractor runs at high RPM.

PRO'S & CON'S OF AN ARRAY OF
SNOW REMOVAL
ATTACHMENTS

THE STRAIGHT BLADE
Pro's :

- These blades clear snow quickly and easily in narrow or large environments.
- For increased maneuverability, a straight blade can be angled 30 to 45 degrees right or left for exact plowing.

- Usually the least expensive and fastest option for snow removal attachments.

Con's :

- Multiple passes. You will have to go over more than once, as the snow will spill over the side edges of the blade as you go.
- Needs a larger area in which to place the snow.
- Snow will build up where you are pushing it over time. Eventually you will have to dig it up and move it elsewhere.
- You must be careful of your down pressure as not to scrape too deep. You could do damage to your paved or interlock stone driveways or lawn.

ARTICULATING V-PLOW

Pro's :

- V-plows allow better control, the direction of the push, when compared to a straight blade.
- The V-position cuts through heavier snow and can be used to break through deep unplowed snow.
- The scoop position allows for better cleanup or maneuvering in tight spaces, as well as carries more snow. Can also be used as a conventional straight blade.

Con's :

- Has the same cons as a straight blade. Although V-plows are significantly

SNOW PUSHER aka BOX PLOW

Pro's :

- If you have a large amount of snow to move in a small amount of time, this attachment is for you. Best for large, wide driveways or parking lots.
- If the operator is skilled, snow can be removed in one pass, as the snow does not spill over the side because of the side wings.
- You are better able to control where the snow is placed.

Con's :

- Again, snow will build up and you will have to handle it again.
- Built more for wide open spaces, as the pushers are usually larger and more cumbersome.

HAND SHOVEL (NOT RECOMMENDED)

Pro's :

- It's cheap.
- Gives you some physical activity.

Con's :

- It's cheap.

- Risk of injury.
- Extremely time consuming. You will have to handle the snow multiple (possibly hundreds) of times before area is clear.
- May lead to extreme fatigue and irritability.
