CERB recipients being moved to EI program

Darlene Wroe
Speaker Reporter

DISTRICT - Canadians receiving Canadian Emergency Response Benefit (CERB) payments during the pandemic will see their payments shift to the EI (Employment Insurance) program at the end of this month.

Nipissing-Timiskaming MP Anthony Rota explained the goal of the federal government is that “as the economy begins to restart ... we want to make sure it restarts safely. The federal government wants to make sure all Canadians have access to the support they need. The last thing we want to see is somebody being left behind.”

Rota noted the CERB program “has supported about 8.5 million Canadians and their families” since its launch. Many Canadians had to stop working due to the pandemic, or saw their hours reduced “which made it very difficult to sustain themselves,” he commented in a telephone interview.

At the end of July the federal government announced Canadians receiving CERB payments would be moved to the EI program, he said.

"The transition was planned from the beginning."

The transition will allow people to be moved between the programs without disruption to their benefits, and with no increase in employment insurance premiums, he said.

The federal government is making a change in the unemployment rate by which calculations are made to determine eligibility for applicants, Rota explained. The new rate of 13.1 per cent is being applied across the country to help Canadians access the support. In Northern Ontario, the rate is 13.5 per cent so the change is not expected to have an impact locally, but will assist those who are in other regions where there was a better employment rate prior to the pandemic.

"What happens is it creates a floor so everyone can have a certain amount of coverage," Rota said. "The temporary measures will establish entry requirements for EI across the country."

"This is just recognizing the pandemic continues to make labour conditions very uncertain and unpredictable across the country, so it's setting a floor."

He explained that the base rate of 13.1 “will help more Canadians access EI regular benefits and provide eligible Canadians with access to a minimum of 26 weeks of benefits.”

The amount of EI payments will depend on the amount of money the individual was earning prior to becoming unemployed.

"Some will qualify for more, some for less. It will depend on what they were earning, but it should be comparable," Rota said.

There are different programs available to help people as they seek reemployment, but they are not through the CERB program, he commented.

Rota noted that he has heard from people who have received CERB funding, and have expressed appreciation for the support.

"It's allowed them to live with some dignity."

Rota said the wage subsidy made available for employers has also worked out well for the region and “allowed employers to stay afloat and allowed them to keep their employees. By subsidizing their wages, the government has allowed employers to

Prepping for that first bus ride, online

Diane Johnston
 Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – The pandemic has forced the cancellation of events big and small, but kids are still slated to return to school in September. And that’ll mean some youngsters will be boarding the big yellow buses for the first time. For the past decade, first-time riders and their parents have had the opportunity for a trial run at a Young Rider’s Day.

This year, because of COVID-19 precautions, the event has moved online.

Children won’t be able to take a short bus ride and meet the drivers who pass on essential safety information. But they will be able to watch safety videos, take part in a colouring contest and quiz, and enter a draw for a prize pack.

“We’re doing it for a week to give people time to participate in a format that works for them,” said Keetha Willard, an organizer of the event and member of the Willard Bus Lines team.

The educational event runs August 24 through 28, and can be accessed through the Timiskaming Health Unit’s website at timiskaminghu.com.

“I’m hoping that the parents will watch the videos with the child,” she said.

She said they’ll offer “lots of good messaging” on, for example, the safety zone where kids are visible to drivers and how to behave while on board.

The advice is also something to consider if children walk or bike to school, or caregivers drop them off, she said.

And given the quickly evolving practices surrounding the resumption of school, she said the health unit site offers health and safety information on, for example, the wearing of masks.

The Young Rider’s Day has been a pre-school tradition since 2010. It’s hosted by the Timiskaming Bus Buddies under the umbrella of the Timiskaming District Road Safety Coalition.

It involves the region’s four school boards, transportation consortia, busing providers, and safety advocates.

The initiative was recognized in 2016 with an Ontario Ministry of Transportation Road Safety Achievement Award in the partnership category.

Armstrong Township hires new bylaw officer

By Jamie Mountain
 Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

EARLTON – Pete Gilboe is a busy man these days.

Armstrong Township council passed a bylaw for an agreement with Gilboe to supply the township with contract bylaw enforcement services at its August 12 meeting.

They also appointed him as their bylaw enforcement officer.

Gilboe joins Armstrong Township while already providing bylaw enforcement officer services for Latchford, Cobalt and Coleman Township.

“It’s pretty much just a similar (agreement) as Coleman Township. He’s going to carry out the requirements,” said clerk-treasurer Amy Vickery-Menard.

“He’s going to wear proper distinguishing clothing to show that he is the bylaw enforcement officer. We’re going to pay him an average rate of $25 an hour, thirty cents per kilometre (travelled). He said he could probably give us approximately four hours per week. We didn’t talk about, in this contract, that it would kind of be like on-call, as needed. It wouldn’t be like a guaranteed four hours per week.”

Gilboe recently retired from the Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNRF) where he had an award-winning career as a conservation officer for 31 years.

He brings many years of experience to the position of bylaw enforcement officer and is familiar with the district.

Gilboe started off as a summer student in Temagami in 1984 where he worked at fish and wildlife parks across Ontario until he was hired as a conservation officer in Carleton Place in 1989, where he patrolled the City of Ottawa.

He then transferred to Moosonee in 1993 and worked there for four years before moving on to Sault Ste. Marie in 1997.

In 2001 he moved back to the district where he spent the remainder of his career with the MNRF.

Gilboe was chosen as the 2015 Ontario Conservation Officer of the Year. He was nominated by his partner and friend, Michael Schenk, and was selected to receive the award by a provincial committee comprised of natural resources law enforcement staff, including representatives of the Ontario Conservation Officers Association (OCA).

He previously received the Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal, Peace Officer Exemplary Service Medal, an OCOA Award of Valour and an OCOA Lifesaving Award.

Gilboe has also received a Volunteer of the Year award from Ducks Unlimited Ontario and numerous letters of recognition for his assistance during emergency situations. In 2010, he was awarded the Peace Officer Exemplary Service Medal for 20 years of service as a Conservation Officer.

Armstrong, Coleman, Latchford and Cobalt residents who have bylaw concerns can reach Gilboe by calling his cellphone at 705-648-3750, via email at petegilboe3750@gmail.com or by calling their municipal office.

Temagami pursuing logo protection

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

TEMAGAMI – Temagami council is looking into how much it would cost the municipality to seek the appropriate legal assistance to move forward with the protection of its name “Temagami” and its logos.

The Municipality of Temagami enjoys recognition as a unique cottage, canoeing and wilderness area and it is becoming common for companies to name products and services using the “Temagami” brand name.

As such, the municipality now feels it is in its best interest to consider seeking protection of the word and its logo as official marks with the understanding that such protection is available to public authorities like a municipality.

Normally geographical names, such as those used by towns, villages and regions, are not available for exclusive use, such as a registered trademark would provide. However, public authorities, such as a municipality, can apply for protection of their name and logo as official marks.

This protection is different from the conventional trademark in that there is no requirement to identify a product line or specific goods or services in the application, and once approval is received, this official mark protection does not have to be renewed.

“When you’re looking at a logo, like Temagami Dry was already an established trademark, but whether it’s an ‘Experience Temagami’ or a new logo is developed if we’re trying to refresh the image, then we would have a logo or a mark that we could provide protection to,” treasurer-administrator Craig Davidson said at the August 6 council meeting.

“Not that I think we should be in the business of buying up a whole bunch of logos, but there is like five or six right now that have been licensed already by different companies for (use by) their business. One that springs to mind is the Temagami Canoe Company does have a copyright on their logo. Anybody that was setting up business in Temagami, or actually anywhere in the world, if they wanted to have Temagami be their brand name, I don’t know how much protection we could actually provide saying that you had to be within the municipal boundary in order to be able to use it because it is a regional name. It’s more looking at trying to protect the image of Temagami that we’re trying to put forward as we work through our strategic plan.”

Protecting the name and official marks would better position the municipality to restrain the use of the official marks or marks that would be so close that they could be mistaken for them.

In this way, while not limiting the use of the name, over time, a Temagami brand could emerge through the use of the official mark and logos.

“Right now I haven’t done any research as to what the cost would be but we all know that lawyers aren’t cheap,” Davidson stressed.

Councillor John Shymko commented that one thing he felt council should keep in mind is that the name Temagami is an Anishinaabemowin phrase and that he didn’t think it would be in their best interest to “put limitations upon another language’s phrase.

“So just bear in mind that we have people who still speak Anishinaabemowin and we should probably take them into consideration as well before we try to put ownership on that,” he said.

Temagami Mayor Dan O’Mara commented that right now the municipality is just investigating what the logo protection would cost and how it would go forward, “so that’s the intent.”

Councillor Barret Leudke said that he supports the logo protection initiative and that he encourages “the investigation, in the least, just so that we have an idea.

“I know when you get into trademarking or copywriting a logo and you get into the details of describing the logo, we’ll find through your investigation and as a group and have a report back to council, that it’s pretty complex,” he said.

“It’s more so than just saying it’s a couple of wind-swept trees, to actually cover it and protect (the logo) well, you have to be very detailed and then other logos that are similar, you could be competing with that description. I have some experience in it myself and I’d offer what I know at a later time, but I’ll let the administration do their work. I’m interested in seeing what the costs are to date and what kind of feedback they get when they investigate it.”

Council approved a recommendation to seek the appropriate legal assistance to move forward with the protection of the Temagami name and its logos and further that municipal staff report back to council once details have been finalized along with the cost of the initiative.

keep employees. As the economy starts picking up again and it restarts, employers don’t have to go looking for new employees. They have them already employed.”

Rota said the other program that has worked out well for the region has been the availability of loans to small businesses, allowing them to borrow up to $40,000. A portion of that loan is forgivable, he explained.

“It gives companies, especially small businesses, that opportunity to get back into a restart mode as the economy starts to pick up.”

Rota said the federal government has been adjusting its programs as it learns more about COVID, and those programs will continue to be adjusted.

Those having difficulty with the programs, or other difficulties, are welcomed by Rota to telephone his office in Temiskaming Shores at 705-647-6262, or his North Bay office if they are in the south end of the riding.

“We will help them get through it,” he said.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Active travel and healthy lifestyles

Dear editor,

We in public health share the community’s grief for the recent tragic deaths of two community members who were cycling and express our deep condolences to the victims’ families and others involved. While grieving and processing continue, we understand many are reflecting on active travel and that it might be helpful to share a public health perspective.

Encouraging people to walk and wheel is a really good idea: for the people doing it, for the families whose children play beside or in the streets, for our downtowns, for all of us as we keep working to build communities that are resilient, lively and strong.

For many, the best way to travel in town is in non-motorized ways (e.g. on foot, by bike or scooter known as active travel) or other types of mobility devices.

These types of travel are good for your body, your mood and connect you to others in your community. You sleep better, think more clearly and feel happier. This is all well-known and well-researched.

These ways of moving make sense. Less traffic plugging up the roads in our downtowns, fewer fast-moving vehicles in areas where we want our kids playing outside. Studies of downtown areas where cycling lanes have been added show time and again that business is better when there is more space for people to arrive by ways other than their car.

We are in the midst of a climate crisis, a known public health emergency. One way (of many) to help reduce the impact of this crisis and to lessen how badly our communities will be affected is to reduce the use of gas-powered vehicles.

None of this is new. Streets can be designed to be safe for everyone: people who walk, cycle, take transit, or drive, and people of all ages and abilities. Off-road paths give space for people to travel without being near motorized traffic. Some proven solutions are easy and low-cost, others need a bigger investment now to see the pay-out over time.

Our communities are moving in the right direction. Municipalities have taken steps to start making roadways safer, and things like public transit, side-walks and active travel routes reduce individual car rides and help everyone get around more easily. As the main decision-makers of policy, road and land use, municipalities need all of our support in making this a priority.

As individuals or in groups we can all encourage and support healthy community design. People can also help make roadways safer by following posted speed limits, sharing the road, role modelling active travel, and ensuring young people have the skills to use roads safely.

Workplaces can promote active travel with policies and supports; schools can teach the importance of active travel and encourage young people to walk and wheel to school; even the health sector can promote active travel to patients.

Let’s keep working together for transportation systems that meet the needs of everyone – for healthy communities in Timiskaming.

Acting Medical Officer of Health

BUCKE-ROO CAMPING

By Robert Ritchie

Camping in Temiskaming has been going extremely well with campers respecting and following the health experts’ advice of social distancing, wearing face coverings and hand washing/sanitizing habits. In the many campgrounds that surround the Temiskaming District we have a variety of municipal, provincial, and privately owned campgrounds. Municipal and provincial campgrounds are governed by the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms allowing all people a safe and welcoming camping experience and this in turn welcomes tourists from all over the world to explore Temiskaming and its campground treasures. This is at the heart and soul of Canadian values making sure that all people not just the like-minded can enjoy camping in our district. I heard that the economic development of Temiskaming is striving to establish Temiskaming as a safe and welcoming district for new Canadians and existing Canadians from other districts and provinces within Canada.

This summer even with covid-19 restrictions on travels, which were lifted mid-summer in Ontario and Canada, we had visitors from northern and southern Ontario, from as far as British Columbia to Quebec. We have also had some from the Philippines after their quarantine, camping safely in Temiskaming. This was accomplished by following the health experts’ advice, slowing down and thinking of what needs to be done to be safe and being Canadian friendly.

Temiskaming’s public campgrounds offer not just physical resources and beautiful landscapes to visitors but also offers welcoming accommodations. Without public campgrounds, public parks, public trails, public areas to fish offshore, public beaches, destinations in Temiskaming can become less attractive.

So, welcome all people to Temiskaming, lets put our best foot forward to welcoming all visiting campers and maybe they will make Temiskaming their home. Comments can be sent to buckaroo.camping@gmail.com

Helping Your Child Maintain a Healthy Weight

Parents want their children to grow up healthy, happy and ready to succeed in life. But, childhood obesity is undermining children’s health. According to Statistics Canada, almost one third of Canadians aged five to 17 are overweight or obese.

Many of the physical problems associated with being overweight or obese as a child – such as heart disease, diabetes, or arthritis - may not appear until adulthood, but the social and emotional problems start early. Some overweight kids are bullied at school. They often have low self esteem and suffer socially resulting in a higher likelihood that they will experience depression.

TIPS FOR PACKING A HEALTHY LUNCH BOX

Get your kids to help you so that healthy lunches are a family affair.

- Get out the cookie cutters – not for cookies, but for sandwiches. Kids love food in shapes.
- Serve sliced meat rolled up into tubes and offer the bread separate. Tuna salad can be offered with crackers.
- Use leftovers. If your child liked last night’s beef stew, serve it up for lunch in a thermos after heating it up in the morning.
- Breakfast for lunch? Pancakes or a sliced boiled egg can be a hit too (remember to put in an ice pack though).
- Fruits and veggies are always a part of a nutritious lunch. To make them more fun, include a dip.

TIPS FOR BEING PHYSICALLY ACTIVE

- On average only 4% of Canadian children take part in enough physical activity. Children need physical activity to build strength, coordination and confidence. All of these characteristics lay the groundwork for leading a healthy lifestyle in the future.
- Children should participate in at least 60 minutes of physical activity per day.
- Limit the amount of screen time your children have. In fact, if they are younger than 2 years of age, the Canadian Paediatric Society does not recommend any screen time at all. If they’re between two and five years of age, the recommendation is one hour per day – that’s right, just one hour!
- Be aware of the opportunities your community offers to help your family stay healthy.

Physical activity can include everyday activities like walking the dog, planting a garden, playing tag, building a snowman or tobogganing, and even household chores like sweeping or shoveling the driveway. Be your child’s role model and set a positive example by being physically active as a family.

THIS ONLINE EVENT INCLUDES:

TRAVEL TO SCHOOL SAFETY!

Whether they're taking the bus or walking to school this year, help your child learn the safety rules before the first day of school!

Young Rider Day is going virtual this year for the week of August 24th to 28th!

Be sure to follow the Timiskaming District Road Safety Coalition Facebook page for daily safety tips!

Colouring page, safety quiz and fun videos also available at www.timiskaminghu.com

Have your child colour the picture below and drop it off at your Timiskaming Health Unit office or take a picture and email it to us at: aeltermane@timiskaminghu.com for a chance to win a prize!

Road safety tips to remember!

1. Always looks both ways before crossing the street.
2. Walk 10 big steps in front of the school bus, never behind.
3. Stay seated, with your back pack on your lap while on the bus.
4. Make eye contact with drivers before crossing the street, so you know they see you.
5. Stand back on the curb while waiting to cross the street, or waiting for the school bus.

Thinking about back to school? Add vaccinations to the check list. These vaccines are free and required for school attendance for 4 to 6 year olds:

- ☒ Tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis and polio (Tdap-IPV)
- ☒ Measles, Mumps, Rubella and Varicella (MMRV)

Immunization against chicken pox (varicella) is required for children born in 2010 or later.

If your child is due for a vaccine, book an appointment with your health care provider or the Timiskaming Health Unit - recommended before school starts.

Not sure if your child is due? Contact the Timiskaming Health Unit at 705-647-4305 / 1-866-747-4305 or by email at immunize@timiskaminghu.com

Did you know there is a new online tool to help you keep track of immunizations? You can:

- ☒ keep track by reporting immunizations to your Public Health Unit.
- ☒ view current, overdue and upcoming immunizations. Like a Yellow Card, only better.

Check it out at www.timiskaminghu.com then search "Yellow Card" to link to ICON.

CITY BULLETIN

PUBLIC NOTICE

OFFICE REOPENING/OPEN AIR BURNING PERMITS

On August 4th, 2020 many municipal buildings and facilities in the City of Temiskaming Shores, including the Fire Administration Office at the Dymond Fire Station, will be reopening to the public. The Fire Department would like to advise all residents that no member of the public will be permitted to enter the office unless they are wearing a mask or face covering in a manner that covers their nose, mouth and chin. Also, during this time, only one member of the public at a time will be permitted to enter the Fire Department Office until further notice. The City and Fire Department will continue to follow the directions of our Medical Officer of Health in order to help reduce the spread of COVID-19, and we appreciate your everyone’s cooperation during these difficult times.

Residents requiring a new Burning Permit may once again obtain a burning permit at City Hall in Haileybury or at the Fire Department Administration office at the Dymond Fire Station at no cost. You may also contact the Fire Department by calling (705) 672-3363 ext. 4702 or 4703 and leave a detailed message and someone will contact you to arrange an inspection. Those residents who obtained a Burning Permit in 2019 may still continue to burn in accordance with the conditions as outlined on the open air-burning permit.

Residents are also reminded that you may only burn if conditions allow the fire to burn safely and all necessary steps are taken to control and extinguish the fire. All other conditions as outlined on the burning permit must be followed. Please ensure you adhere to the following burning safety tips so you can enjoy your fire and help reduce the risks to our Firefighters:

- No Day Burning - You may only burn from 6pm – 8am.
- Only Burn Dry, Woody Type Materials - Household trash, plastic or tires are illegal to burn. You may not burn grass or leaves or anything that may cause excessive smoke.
- Always Stay with Your Fire - A responsible person of 18 years of age or older must be present to supervise the fire at all times.
- Respect Your Neighbour - Don’t burn where smoke will bother your neighbour or blow across roadways or hamper visibility.
- Control Your Fire - Only burn what you can effectively control. Don’t even consider burning when it is windy.

For more information contact the Fire Department or email: slangford@temiskamingshores.ca or jplante@temiskamingshores.ca

NOTICE

WATER DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM MAINTENANCE

Please be notified that the Environmental Crews of the Public Works Department will be carrying out maintenance programs, flushing and testing of fire hydrants throughout the municipal water distribution systems. The work may cause some discoloration in the water; however the effect should be minimal. If a coloured water problem is encountered in your water service line, flushing the service by letting the water run for a period of time should cure the problem. If the coloured water persists, please contact the Public Works Department for assistance at 705.647.6220.

Thank you for your co-operation as Environmental Crews carry out this important maintenance activity.

Sharrows

What are Sharrows?

A bicycle sharrow, two chevrons painted above a bicycle symbol on the road, indicates the lane is shared by both bicyclists and motorists.

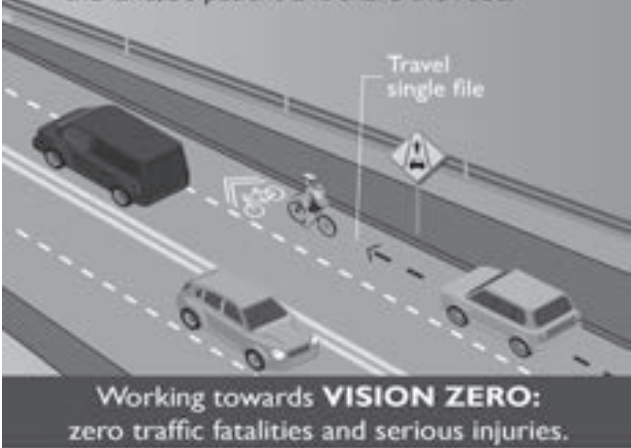

Vehicle and bicycle traffic may be in the lane. Remember sharrows do not mean that the indicated space is exclusively for bicyclists.

Bicyclists

Bicyclists should “take the lane” by riding closer to the middle of the lane to reduce the risk of vehicles passing too closely.

Motorists

Sharrows closer to the middle of the lane remind you that it is unsafe to drive side-by-side with bicyclists. When bicyclists claim the lane, be patient and share the road.

Online auction to benefit animal shelter

Sue Nielsen

Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES — Rescuing abandoned, ill, abused and stray animals is an endless task - and a costly one.

A local animal shelter located in New Liskeard called Northern Animals Rescue and Sanctuary (NARS), operated by Jennifer MacKewn, is providing a home, love and comfort to animals.

But the sanctuary itself is in need of help as food, medicine and care don't come cheap.

Lake Temagami resident Reina Lee has taken it upon herself to organize an online auction with all proceeds being donated to NARS on August 22 and 23.

She operates an art gallery on Lake Temagami called Gallery 212 and she is admittedly 100 per cent an animal lover.

The online auction begins at 9 a.m. on August 22 and concludes at 8 p.m. the next day.

“Jennifer MacKewn and the volunteers work very hard to help many, many animals. And not just local ones. The rescue runs on donations and volunteers and now more than ever they need money and donations,” said Lee.

All the money raised through the auction will be turned over to NARS to help offset costs of running the shelter, for medicine, food and spay and neuter bills.

She has created a Facebook group where she will host the online auction and post photos and descriptions of donated items.

Lee is currently looking for donations of handmade arts and quality crafts for the auction.

“We already have some magnificent pieces that have been generously donated from different artists including Lori Nawrocki, Lynda Shaw, Debbie Baron and Jeannie Craig Porter.”

WHY HOST THE AUCTION?

Lee said the fundraiser serves two purposes:

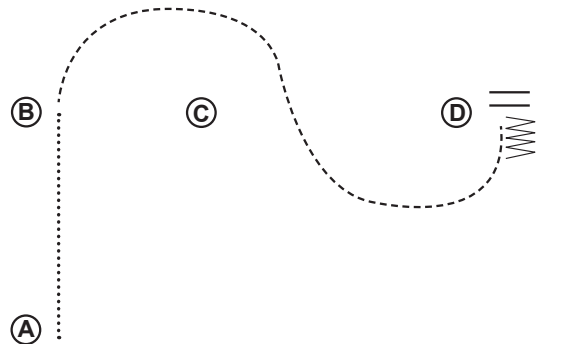

It raises much needed monies for the purchasing of necessities for the shelter and it offers exposure for the talented artists that generously donate their works of art.

The online auction can be found on the Facebook page called Fundraiser for Northern Rescue and Sanctuary.

For more information on the Northern Animals Rescue and Sanctuary email Jennifer MacKewn at northernanimalsrescue@yahoo.com or telephone 647-444-4941.

Par ses sacrements, une alliance est établie entre Dieu et nous dans nos cœurs, comme l'annonçait le prophète Jérémie (31, 31-34) : « Je mettrai ma loi, au fond de leur être, je l'écrirai sur leur cœur. Ils seront mon peuple, je serai leur Dieu ». Tél : 705-672-3296 / Adresse : 341 Sutherland Way, Haileybury, ON

WE DON'T BREW OUR BEER FOR THE AWARDS.

BUT HE DOES!

Our brewmaster, Andrew Kohnen, threw away a successful career in logistics to pursue his dream of reconnecting with the brewing roots of his family. This carried him to the UK's prestigious Brewlab in Sunderland, England, where he procured the alchemy that would drive his signature brewing style.

He took what he could from there and ventured to Scotland, Cornwall, and ultimately to Krefeld, Germany, working in the same brewery that had belonged to his ancestors. He came home to Canada for Hockley.

You could call it dumb, but we call it destiny.
