

Day rates Kap-Kig-Iwan usage fees spike

Darlene Wroe
Speaker Reporter

ENGLEHART - The walk-in rate for Kap-Kig-Iwan Provincial Park will be eliminated for the 2021 season.

People who are walking in to the park will now have to pay a daily rate of $12.25, or a seasonal rate of $84.75.

Last year the walk-in rate was $1 for youths and $2 for adults.

While the park is operated by the Town of Englehart through an agreement reached between the town and Ontario Parks at the beginning of 2021, Ontario Parks controls the entrance fees. Town representatives were not aware that Ontario Parks intended to eliminate the walk-in fees.

Town chief administrator Shawn LaCarte related that town representatives met with the park superintendent a couple of weeks earlier and at that time she explained that the walk-in rate would be removed for 2021.

He also related that the representatives asked for the decision to be reconsidered due to the close proximity of the park to the town, and because Englehart supports the park with employees. LaCarte said the town also offered to cover any loss that the park might show due to the use of walk-in rates.

"The representative from Ontario Parks explained the change has already been made so the walk-in rate will not be available in the 2021 season," he said.

LaCarte said the town had negotiated the rate with Ontario Parks a few years ago.

The town intends to advertise the change on its Facebook page, he said, and it will also be including the park superintendent's telephone number.

He continued that the town had been planning to do some upgrades to the comfort station at the park where there are showers and where the main washrooms for the park are located.

He said the project was discussed at the meeting with the Ontario Parks representative, but "Ontario Parks said they were undecided whether any

HUT HURRY

Lake Temiskaming was like a speedway March 11 when several anglers, including Codey Shepherd and Sheldon West in their 4X4, hurried onto the lake to remove their hut. Weather conditions that day included strong winds that knocked over huts, combined with mild temperatures and rapidly melting snow. The deadline to remove huts on the lake is Monday, March 31. work should be completed to the comfort station because it has been sinking and causing tiles to break on the floor. We will have to discuss further with Ontario Parks."

The town does plan to hire some summer staff for the park (students and non-students). The positions will be advertised in the next week or two.

The decision of Ontario Parks was discussed at the town's committee-of-the-whole meeting March 10. At that time Councillor Doug Metson commented that last year Kap-Kig-Iwan's campsites were completely rented out. The park would have shown a loss last year if the town had not been operating it.

Mayor Nina Wallace said that the town "may be closer to walking away" from operating the park during the summer months.

LaCarte commented that Englehart supports the park because it is close to town and is a regular destination for residents for their recreational outings.

- Temagami is looking to provide more outdoor recreational opportunities through a Canada Healthy Communities Initiative.
- Wetlands are wonderful when it comes to sewage lagoons as the Town of Cobalt seeks Ministry of the Environment approval for its wetland system.
- Hilliard Township sees value in exploring economic development partnerships with area municipalities.
- The Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena will be the site of vaccination clinics in the not too distant future.
- Rep teams from Temiskaming Shores may be restricted to provincial borders for the upcoming 2021-2022 hockey season.

Elk Lake receives funding for outdoor rink upgrades

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

ELK LAKE – Elk Lake will be receiving funding to upgrade the town’s outdoor ice rink.

The Government of Canada is investing over $252,000 into the project through the Community, Culture and Recreation Infrastructure Stream (CCRIS) of the Investing in Canada plan. The Government of Ontario is providing more than $210,000 in funding, while James Township is contributing over $168,000.

“During the past 36 years that I have lived here, I’ve watched and participated in activities at our outdoor rink facility,” said James Township Reeve Dave Mullin in a media release of the funding announcement.

“It is very exciting to see something that, had it been neglected and left alone, could have become lost, but instead it’s been kept alive and utilized by our town. The addition of a roof will extend the life of our rink far into the future, for all our residents to take advantage of.”

The announcement was made March 15 by Paul Lefebvre, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Natural Resources, Member of Parliament for Sudbury, on behalf of The Honourable Catherine McKenna, Federal Minister of Infrastructure and Communities; Dave Smith, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Energy, Northern Development and Mines and Minister of Indigenous Affairs and Member of Provincial Parliament for Peterborough-Kawartha, on behalf of The Honourable Laurie Scott, Ontario’s Minister of Infrastructure; and Reeve Mullin.

The project includes the construction of a roof over the existing outdoor rink and fitness facility. It will allow residents and visitors to have better access to the rink all year long, enjoy a safer and more comfortable skating environment, and create increased opportunities for community activities and events.

Mullin said in a later email that all of the funding is earmarked for the construction of a new roof on a “Pre-engineered, all-steel building with lighting.”

He added that the building will also be on a concrete footing, with the town hoping to pour a concrete floor in the future.

“One step at a time,” he remarked.

DAY ON THE PATH

Before the skating paths at the New Liskeard waterfront succumbed to the warm weather, members of the Williams family from Earleton were in New Liskeard on March 6 to enjoy the outdoors. From the back is Kris Williams with his children Kade, 13, Evan, 11, and Asha, 7. The family is ordinarily actively involved with hockey. The skating path was an opportunity for exercise and for the kids to see friends in an outdoor setting, their father commented. (Staff photo by Darlene Wroe)

Good for You!

The theme for this year’s Nutrition Month is “Good for You!” This theme originates on the idea that healthy eating looks different for everyone. Yes, everyone! There is no ‘one-size-fits-all’ approach to healthy eating because each person has their own culture, tradition, lifestyle, circumstance, preferences, and nutritional needs.

Here are a couple of tips to help YOU find YOUR healthy:

- Listen to your body. By listening to your body, you will begin to recognize and identify your body’s individualized needs.
- Enjoy food. Make food choices that reflect your personal preferences, culture and traditions, budget, life stage, and lifestyle.
- Recognize that all food can be healthy. All food is healthy as long as you are conscious of the choices you make in relation to your health motivators and values. Eating can be both nourishing and a satisfying experience.
- Know what health means to you. “Health” does not mean the same thing to all people. Cultural, social, and emotional elements of food are unique to each individual and are just as important as the physical nourishment it provides our bodies. Defining “health” for you, will help you to acknowledge, maintain, or achieve YOUR healthy.
- Work with a dietitian. Dietitians are regulated health professionals with an in-depth knowledge of nutrition science. They are uniquely positioned to offer personalized support to help you achieve your individual health goals and to provide guidance or specialized dietary advice to individuals with specific dietary requirements.

This Nutrition Month we hope that YOU are able to find YOUR healthy and celebrate what’s “Good for You”! Please contact the Temagami Family Health Team at 705-569-3244 for support in achieving your healthy and/or to book an appointment with the Registered Dietitian.

Committed to keeping you as healthy as possible!

EDITORIAL

Caution is needed

The COVID-19 vaccinations are beginning to roll out across the Temiskaming region.

The Temiskaming Health Unit (THU), along with doctors' offices and pharmacies, are inoculating the most vulnerable, beginning with those of a certain age.

This is good news indeed and renews our faith in science in terms of how quickly vaccines have been developed to reduce the pandemic infection rates.

While spring is here and many in the region may be completely tired of winter and tired of public health restrictions, a cautious approach is still needed.

In the short term, after someone receives a vaccine, nothing will have changed in regard to infection rates until everyone, or close to everyone, is vaccinated.

This means that while vaccinations scale up, public health measures like wearing masks, washing hands and distancing from others is still needed.

Let us remember there are still many vulnerable people among us such as cancer patients, immunocompromised individuals, transplant patients and others dealing with serious illnesses that need protection in the form of public health restrictions.

Flash flooding

Last week the City of Temiskaming Shores and many local businesses were completely caught off guard by rapidly warming temperatures and flash floods.

The spring runoff did indeed seem to all take place in one day on March 11 when a small lake formed at the corner of Highway 65 West and Wilson Drive.

Several businesses experienced water damage on the day and it is our hope that they weren't too severe.

Moving forward, we hope the reason for the water back-up has been understood and steps are taken to resolve any flooding issues in the future.

And thanks to everyone who rushed in to support the Hidden Treasure thrift store and Northern Animal Rescue and Sanctuary, who experienced severe damages due to the flooding.

This is what community is all about.

Stop the violence

I read the tragic news about Sarah Everard, a 33-year-old marketing executive who was murdered in the United Kingdom by a police officer, and it bothered me.

Everard was killed while walking home.

I immediately thought about my daughter who lives in the U.K. and is the same age as Sarah was.

It was sad to learn police had roughed up and arrested women gathering for vigils protesting the murder of Everard.

Even the Duchess of Cambridge, Kate Middleton, showed her respects leaving flowers at a memorial for the slain woman.

This column is not intended to defame police officers, but to draw attention to the danger women face for simply walking on any streetscape.

My daughter went for a walk one day in a Glasgow park to get out of the house and away from her computer.

She's been working from home and it has been challenging for her.

She never expected to be surrounded by a gang of teenage boys on bikes threatening her with violence.

But that's what happened and since then she is hesitant to walk outside alone without her husband accompanying her.

This is wrong on so many levels.

The way I see it, women are in danger 24/7, whether we are young, old, wearing skirts or pants, drunk or sober, with makeup or without makeup.

We remember Melanie Ethier, who went missing 24 years ago while walking home, knowing women are in danger for the simple act of walking home, even in this region.

In the aftermath of International Women's Day, it seems we have a long road ahead whereby women are safe from violence.

The Everard murder has ignited a firestorm of protests around the world concerning the right of women and girls to walk freely in our octagon-violence obsessed world.

We can't have a safe world when half the population is being beaten, raped and murdered.

As someone who goes into the backcountry, often alone, I don't worry about the four-legged dangers, but the two-legged ones.

Of course not all men are responsible for violence against women.

Sue Nielsen

My question: How often do good men call out their brethren for violent behavior?

Let's create a national database to monitor men who are violent towards women and let's make misogyny a hate crime.

And can we make our justice system more trauma-friendly when victims testify about their experiences?

Violence against girls and women is not something women have to own. It starts in the home where boys should be taught girls are equal in every sense of the word.

I encourage all women to stand safely in their power and beauty.

FIRST LESSON

It was a beautiful, sunny, warm day for snowboarding when Briana Lachapelle, 9, took her first snowboard lesson at the Tri-Town Ski and Snowboard Village February 20. The club is now closed for downhill action until next winter. (Staff photo by Sue Nielsen)

BABY STEPS

The season was short but sweet this year at the Tri-Town Ski and Snowboard Village. Before the warm weather spelled the end of downhill skiing, Weston Zubyc, 3, of New Liskeard, received some valuable lessons. He was paying close attention March 6 as Noe Pigeau taught him about being aware of the length of his skis, and how to turn on them without crossing one over the other. (Staff photo by Darlene Wroe)

Council makes priorities in waste management plan

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

TEMAGAMI – Temagami council continues to work on finalizing and implementing the municipality’s waste management master plan.

They received the waste management master plan report February 11 before directing staff to review the recommendations and present council with a prioritization and timing at their next regular meeting on March 4.

One of the key elements to the future of waste management for Temagami is the landfill site acquisition and expansion.

“There were a number of recommendations and as staff we went through it and tried to come up with the top four,” said treasurer-administrator Craig Davidson at the March 4 meeting.

“I believe looking at the expansion and the land acquisition is probably number one because if we aren’t able to expand Strathy (waste disposal site) then we’ll have to look elsewhere or come up with a different plan of attack for our waste. We probably need to know that sooner rather than later.”

Staff have contacted Story Environmental, which completes the monitoring at Temagami’s waste disposal sites, and requested that the information from the Strathy site be received as early as possible.

“From this, staff and the appropriate consultants can meet with the Ministry of Environment, Culture and Parks to confirm the next steps,” said Davidson.

“Once we have the expansion and acquisition completed we will have a better idea of what the future of waste management could look like.”

A second priority, Davidson said, is that staff are proposing that work start on the transfer station at the Lake Temagami Access Area.

There are different recommendations made in the report concerning that area, Davidson noted.

To ensure that all views are considered when council is considering options, staff are recommending that an ad hoc committee could be established.

“Having an ad hoc committee with Temagami First Nation, the Temagami Lakes Association, the Lake Temagami Permanent Residents Association and a couple of council members to sort of review the situation at the transfer station in the light of the waste management master plan to see if there’s any recommendations that can be made,” said Davidson.

The committee would be responsible for reviewing present operations, considering the recommendations made and outlining a plan on any changes.

SERVICE AGREEMENT

Davidson also noted that work is continuing on a “municipal-type service agreement” with Temagami First Nation.

“While we are not totally in charge with the schedule and timing of this agreement, staff will continue to work with Temagami First Nation on the structure and content of this agreement, but at this time we believe that it will mostly take the form that was discussed last year during budget deliberations,” he noted.

The final item that staff is recommending gets started as soon as possible is a waste audit by Tulloch Engineering “to gain a better understanding” of the composition of waste.

“Again, this is a key foundational item on which future waste management strategies and activities will be built,” said Davidson.

“The waste management report provided an estimate of $7,500 to complete this audit.”

Council approved a motion that encompasses implementing all four recommendations.

“I definitely think we need the whole idea of figuring out whether we can expand one of our main dumps,” commented Mayor Dan O’Mara.

“That in itself will be a game-changer one way or the other. Anything I can do to help and get involved in that, please let me know and hopefully we’ll get some answers to that very soon.”

HOG LINE REPORT

With Angus McStone

Deadline for this column was last Friday, which saw the opening of the championship round robin just getting started with Northern Ontario in the hunt. Still not sure about the format. Two wild cards have made the championship pool, where only one might have with the old format of one wildcard game on Friday night for the single participant.

And still miss the crowd and atmosphere, even on the tube.

Happy St Patrick, Æs Day

Happy green celebrations today as everyone celebrates all things Irish!

The Blarney was the last official event of 2020 before the great shutdown put everything in limbo. Sadly, things haven, Æt recovered enough to permit the event occurring this season, but the spirit is still there.

The Men, Æs Draw will hoist a beverage or two in honour of the work St Paddy did on our behalf from December 26th through February 15th to get us back to the roaring game.

Men, Æs Draw Results:

March 10: Half the draw goes the full 8, with one game needing a make on the last rock, and the other let off the hook.

P. Gordon spots S. McLean a lead and then swipes it away from him, T. Eckensviller doesn, Æt need to throw his last in the 8th to defeat B. McMullan, B. Terris claims to miss the broom by a sheet and still makes it to score 2 and wrestle a W from S. Hearn, and D. Willett just squeezes one out over B. Culp.

Awesome work under the Orange protocols.

Thursday Mixed

Thursday night mixed under Orange guidelines had us on the ice early and out after a beverage or two.

P. Gordon whomps S. Hearn, S. McLean biffs T. Eckensviller, S. Taylor and A. MacLeod go to a draw to the button with Taylor inching out MacLeod, B. Culp puts it all together over C. Martin, and despite a miracle shot attempt, F. Menard-Dalley perseveres over C. Camsell.

Please review the new draw handed out this evening. The left side of the draw will finish the season for us on April 8th, provided the weather cooperates and the plant doesn, Æt need to run too hard. The right side, which continues into May, is a wash.

Afternoon Open Curling

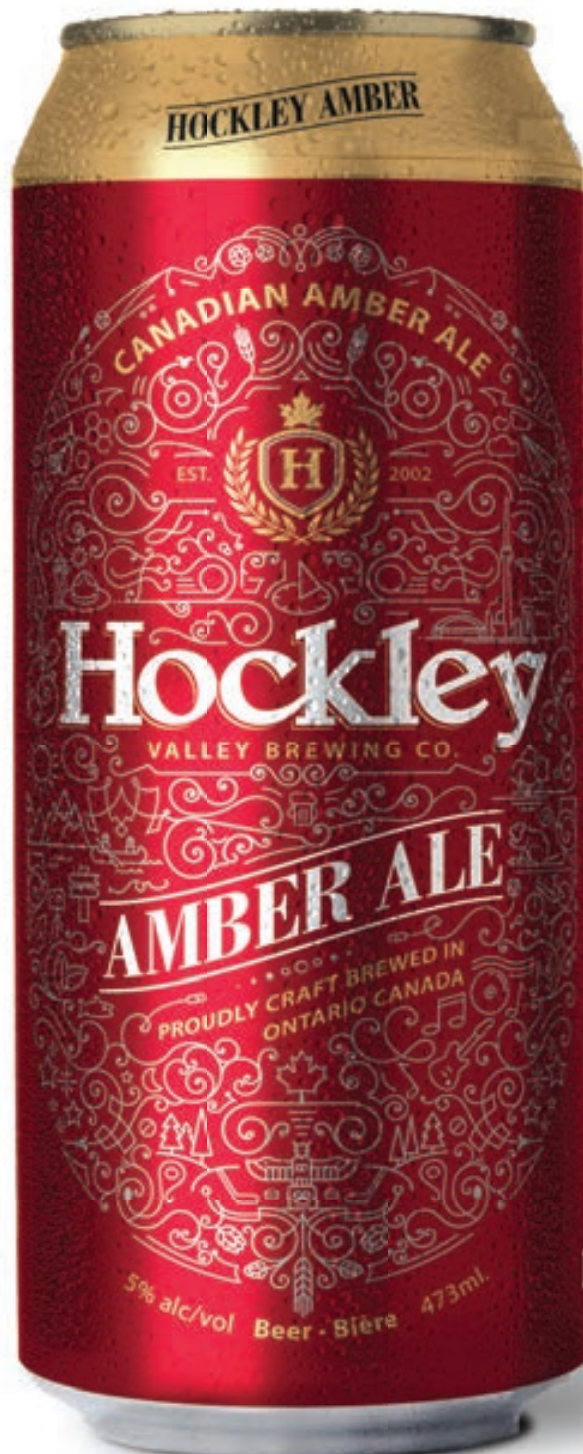

A quiet afternoon March 11 between the sheets for open curling (Thursday). Running out of skips for L. Olsen to try to beat. Found one today, though. C. Camsell just not quite right and L. Olsen ran him out of rocks. Curler of the Day: D. Robitaille

Another quiet one March 10 in the house, with most staying home watching the Brier. M. Bonney is a shade outside on his last and drops a close one to his arch nemesis L. Olsen, who flirted with no handle throughout the game. Curler of the Day: D. McCarty

March 9 Afternoon Open Curling is the first draw completed under the Orange level of health restrictions, and it went pretty well, too.

N. Melong has an angle raise to win but comes up a bit light to let birthday boy No Handle Olsen win on his special day. In the feature match, T. Morissette ran M. Bonney out of rocks for a one-stone win.

Curler of the Day: No one was particularly good, so the gift falls to L. Olsen.

Sophistication²
New look. Same great taste.
