Rain is needed to counter low water levels

DISTRICT - A combination of low precipitation and rapid snowmelt has resulted in low water levels now being seen on Lake Temiskaming. It could possibly mean that the lake and tributaries will be lower than normal throughout the season, depending on factors such as precipitation and evaporation.

“Due to a lack of precipitation in late March and early April, lower than usual water levels are being experienced across the northeast region,” commented Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry biologist Allison Bannister.

“Lake Temiskaming was fully drawn down to normal levels in the winter of 2020. In Spring 2021 a combination of low precipitation and rapid snowmelt have contributed to the current water level,” she said in an email interview.

“Water levels in Lake Temiskaming are primarily influenced by the amount of water entering the system through upwellings and precipitation and leaving the system by surface evaporation, absorption and dam outflow.

“In years such as this year with below-average seasonal precipitation (in winter and spring), and higher evaporation (which is related to ambient temperatures), less water may be present in the system.

“Temporary changes to the appearance and function of the lake, such as exposed shorelines, may impact the lake for all or part of the season, depending on precipitation and

DID YOU GET The Speaker THIS WEEK?

Here are some of the stories in our April 14 edition...

- A quick ice melt on Lake Temiskaming was weeks earlier than in 2020, but did not set a record as the ice was deemed officially off the lake on April 12. NOTE: The record was actually established on March 31, 2012.
- The location of Zack's Crib and it's proposed services will be explained to Temiskaming Shores council in the near future. The men's shelter is being proposed for location on Broadwood Avenue in New Liskeard.
- A drastic uptake in COVID-19 cases across the province has Dr. Glenn Corneil advising against socialization outside of immediate households in the Temiskaming region.
- Village Noel 2021 is relocating to the New Liskeard fair grounds according to Le Centre Culturel Artem president Réjeanne Bélisle-Massie.
- A project aimed at reducing reliance on carbon-based energy while creating a new economic development model is moving ahead in Charlton. It is being done in partnership with Indigenous groups.
- The Cobalt Historical Society is awaiting an environmental assessment on properties owned by Ontario Northland in Cobalt. Cobalt council has committed to sending a letter asking for clarification on the closing of two historical sites in Cobalt.

KL hospital discharges last COVID-19 patient

KIRKLAND LAKE (Special/Staff) – With the discharge of a patient on the weekend, all COVID-19 patients admitted to the Kirkland Lake hospital in recent weeks are now out of hospital.

On the staffing side, the cases of all employees associated with the recent outbreak at the hospital have also been resolved.

In a press release April 13, Blanche River Health (BRH) announced that most of the affected employees have also been cleared to return to work.

An outbreak at the hospital was declared in mid-March.

In its update, BRH said the Kirkland Lake site will remain under outbreak status until 14 days have passed since the last positive case was recorded in a patient or employee.

It extended thanks to community partners for their help during the outbreak.

They included Kirkland Lake Gold, which provided access to its rapid testing devices and staff who assisted with the “significant” volume of routine testing.

The Kirkland District Health Team provided staff to support the assessment centre and testing efforts as well as the hospital’s emergency and in-patient care.

The Englehart and District Family Health Team also provided clinical staff for the assessment centre and testing.

Full visitor restrictions, meanwhile, are still in place at both the Kirkland Lake and Englehart hospitals.

Emergency departments at both sites remain open 24/7.

Outpatient services are available by appointment, but some visiting specialist services have been temporarily suspended.

Physiotherapy services at the Kirkland Lake site have reopened.

Surgical services at Kirkland Lake continue to be limited, and focus on high priority or emergency cases only.

Dry spring

In response to a question about impact on fish spawning, she stated that “spring spawning behaviour in fish like walleye is dependent on water temperature, so when the correct temperature is reached, the fish will begin to spawn. Although walleye often exhibit site fidelity to a spawning site, if that site becomes unavailable (even temporarily) fish may spawn at other locations.”

Other wildlife may also be influenced by the low water levels. “Seasonal patterns of temperature and precipitation may influence the distribution and concentration of animals who require these habitats for food and shelter,” she stated.

Radiothon event page up and running April 16

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff) — The Temiskaming Hospital Foundation’s annual Radiothon, now in its seventh year, will take place on Thursday, April 22, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on CJTT FM.

This year’s event is going completely virtual with all donations pledged going through an online portal, accompanied by live on-air updates from the Foundation’s Board of Directors via CJTT.

The Foundation noted they are hoping to raise $35,000 this year for an Infant/Pediatric Ventilator to replace the aged model currently in use at the Temiskaming Hospital Emergency Department.

The foundation has decided to provide on-air updates at the 15-, 30- and 45-minute mark of each hour.

Temiskaming Hospital staff, professional staff and patients will provide testimonials and updates on the fundraiser throughout the day.

“We are so thankful for CJTT’s willingness and ability to adapt in order for us to hold this year’s Radiothon,” explained Temiskaming Hospital Foundation president Jim Rowe.

“While the event will look different, the goal remains the same and that is to raise funds in order to purchase a critical piece of patient equipment needed for Temiskaming Hospital. We want to thank everyone for their continued support and remind you that every nickel, dime and cent truly makes a large impact on our fundraiser.”

The Radiothon will have an event page scheduled to go live on Friday, April 16.

The page features information about the Infant/Pediatric Ventilator, a live donation tracker, testimonials and videos.

Visit the Temiskaming Hospital Foundation’s website at www.temiskaminghospital-foundation.org for more information.

For those who do not have internet access, donations can be sent ahead of the April 22 event by cash or cheque in order for the offline donations to be tallied and added to the online totals.

Mail your cash or cheques to The Temiskaming Hospital Foundation, 421 Shepherdson Road, New Liskeard, P0J 1P0. Donations over $25 will be eligible for a tax receipt.

Festival des Folies to make a return

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

DISTRICT – A popular district-wide event that reaches all rural municipalities in Temiskaming is making a return in 2021 after a year-long hiatus.

Festival des Folies Franco-Fun is slated to host its 15th annual event April 27 to April 30, this time in an all-virtual format.

The festival honours French Canadian traditions, culture, music, art, literature, food and entertainment.

“For the committee it was very important to have a 15th edition, version 2.0., because we felt that our population needed this,” explained festival co-organizer Jean-Claude Carrière in an email interview.

“At first, we were thinking of presenting a live version of the festival but with the new restrictions, we have decided to go with a virtual festival.”

A school activity, entitled le petit gnome et la Blande des Cinq, for children in kindergarten through Grade 3 will take place each day of the festival with Lorraine Hacquard and Annette Beukelman.

All of the festival’s activities will be held over Zoom. Participants are encouraged to visit the Festival des Folies Franco-Fun Facebook page and website for the Zoom links and any additional information regarding each activity.

WEDNESDAY

The Festival kicks off on the Wednesday morning with the opening ceremony at 10 a.m.

My French Challenge is then set for 4 p.m.

Another school activity for students in Grades 4 through 8, called les creatures du jurassique with Bill Bestiole, will also take place during the day.

THURSDAY

Activities on the Thursday will feature a quiz at 9 a. m., a duck race at 10 a. m. and Rebus at 1 p.m.

“We are very proud to have a partnership with the Temiskaming Shores and Area Rotary Club so the Festival des Folies Franco-Fun will be able to have a TV bingo in French and in English for our participants on Thursday, April 29,” said Carrière.

It starts at 2 p.m. on Eastlink channel 10.

“We also have this year a new event called Challenging My French, which is a series of activities where you have to solve the solution and practice your

FRIDAY

The Festival winds down on the Friday with a theatre play, presented by the theatre troupe Grouille ou Rouille, starting at 4 p.m.

There will also be a final school activity for students in Grades 4 through 8, called Ca demenage!, with Carolyne Mailhot.

The Saturday with the Family event has been postponed to Saturday, May 29.

“COVID did affect our preparations because we can’t have anything in-person,” said Carrière.

“So the committee had to think about having activities virtually. Then you need to have some notions with the technology. Hopefully, everything will go smoothly.”

April is DAFFODIL MONTH

Where there's awareness
there's hope

Join the fight against cancer

Cancer is the leading cause of death in this country, with some 30 per cent of Canadians dying from one type of cancer or another. In April, Daffodil Month, the Canadian Cancer Society asks the public to spare a thought for all those who are affected by this disease and to do something concrete in the fight against cancer.

Despite progress — the survival rate is now at 63 per cent — more Canadians die of cancer than any other disease. That’s why funding activities are organized throughout the month of April to help prevent cancer and fund research; it’s so that one day we can win the battle against this disease that kills 210 Canadians every day.

You can contribute to the fight against cancer by purchasing a bouquet of daffodils, which are a symbol of renewal, hope and courage. You can also wear a daffodil pin as a sign of solidarity with those who are fighting for their lives; you’ll be doing so along with all their families, and with the families of those who have lost their battle. You can also donate time or money or help raise funds.

Lastly, you can fight against cancer by taking care of your health and minimizing your risk of developing this disease. Even though you have no control over your age and your genes, you can control other risk factors, such as smoking, alcohol use, physical inactivity, chronic stress and sun exposure.

Mining operation digs deep for school boards

TIMMINS (Special) – The region’s four school boards have received $80,000, thanks to Glencore Kidd Operations.

The Glencore Community Support Fund has donated $20,000 to each of the four school boards to help staff and students through the COVID-19 pandemic.

“Thank you to all of the teachers, educational support staff and administration teams across all local schools for your ongoing support to school safety,” said Mark Furlotte, Glencore Kidd Operations general manager, in a media release.

“As schools continue to teach both in-class and remotely, this funding will help school boards purchase digital tools and supplies for ongoing virtual learning as well as COVID-19 related personal protective equipment to help keep school staff, students, families and our community safe.”

The donations are going to District School Board Ontario North East, the Conseil scolaire catholique de district des Grandes Rivières, the Northeastern Catholic District School Board, and the Conseil scolaire public du Nord-Est de l’Ontario.

Glencore Kidd Operations is located in Timmins. The Kidd Mine, at a depth of 9,900 feet, is described as the world’s deepest base-metal mine. The Kidd Concentrator began production of copper and zinc concentrates in 1966.

Alternate routes available to get to Aidie Creek

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

CHAMBERLAIN TOWNSHIP – Have no fear, there are still ways to get around the Aidie Creek Road bridge closure in Chamberlain.

Travellers heading to Aidie Creek Gardens from the north can take Wawbewawa Road to connect to the road. Those travelling to the south from Kirkland Lake can hook up with the road by taking Chamberlain Road 5.

“(The township is) working on some (road) signs at this point, they’re sort of waiting on my answer on what kind of signs we’d like,” said Aidie Creek Gardens manager Jeff Warner in a telephone interview.

“They’re willing to help us with the cost of them. They’re not just going to put up anything we want anywhere, but they’re willing to help with some of the cost, which is kind of nice.”

A crack had appeared and was growing on a wingwall at one end of the bridge’s foundation.

When engineers went to place a crack-monitoring device on the bridge, they discovered the crack had grown in the interval.

The decision was then made to close the bridge.

Engineers have been investigating the crack and will report to Chamberlain council with a suggestion for a next step.

“Right now it’s in the engineer stage, they’ve got a company hired to design something,” said Warner of the bridge’s current status.

“They think they have an idea of a way to fix it rather than replace it.”

Warner said the expected impact on his business is that customers may come up to the road closed sign and then be confused about how to get to Aidie Creek Gardens, thus resulting in a potential loss of business.

“They don’t even know there’s another way in. So the main sign probably will be where the road closed sign is saying how to (get here),” said Warner.

He said after talking to Jon Schenk, the public works superintendent for Chamberlain and Charlton-Dack on April 12, Warner had just posted directions on Aidie Creek’s Facebook page.

“It turns out Jon saw it, too, so he said ‘I’m going to use that on the signs.’ I said ‘Sure, go ahead.’”

Warner said the township would “hopefully” post some sort of signage to let people know of the closure.

“We’re just hoping (our customers) take the time to drive around,” he said.

“It sounds like a fairly quick repair (to the bridge) but does quick mean two months? Or does quick mean the summer and it would be done by the fall? I don’t know what ‘quick’ means.”

It’s not known at this time how long the Aidie Creek Bridge will be closed to the public.

COVID Fatigue – 6 Tips that Might Help

If you’re finding it hard to keep up with pandemic precautions, you might be feeling COVID fatigue – if so, you’re not alone. After so many months of hand washing, staying home, avoiding family and friends, and even disinfecting around the house, who can blame you!

Tips to Stay on Track

If you or someone close to you is experiencing COVID fatigue, there are a number of things you can do. These tips are like strategies for managing anxiety:

- Be physically active. Exercise is a great coping mechanism.
- Talk to others. Talking about how you feel and the challenges you are having can be very helpful. Often you find out that what you’re experiencing is common.
- Think differently. This may be easier said than done, but realize there are some things you can’t control, such as rising case numbers or the behaviour of other people. Instead, focus on the things you can control, for example, restricting your grocery shopping to once a week.
- Practice mindfulness and meditation. This allows you to be in the present moment and not worry about the future or the past. It can be done any time and anywhere and the more you practice, you better you get at it.
- Give yourself a COVID break. Limit how and when you consume news about the pandemic and that includes social media! Also avoid getting into online arguments with people who have different views. It’s unlikely to change their minds and may cause you to feel angry.
- Turn COVID precautions into a habit. Write down your commitment to new behaviours such as always having a mask and hand sanitizer when you go out. Set up cues in your home such as a basket for clean masks by the front door, to remind you and turn those behaviours into a habit.

While the pandemic may be a challenge for some time to come, please don’t give up. Check the dates of the upcoming COVID vaccination clinics and if you’re priority group has opened for booking, make that call and get your appointment scheduled. Please continue to remain vigilant and stay safe.

Lionel Venne book project now underway

Darlene Wroe
Speaker Reporter

DISTRICT - Work is now underway to create a book on the life and works of Elk Lake artist Lionel Venne.

Felicity Buckell of Temiskaming Shores has been attempting to obtain Ontario Arts Council funding for the project since 2018 and has now been successful.

The $7,000 grant will be applied to artists' costs in the creation of the book.

The project is being done in partnership with the Temiskaming Art Gallery and Le Centre Culturel ARTEM. The book will be published with both English and French text.

Buckell said she made her first application for funding for the project in 2018 when Venne's retrospective exhibition was held at the Temiskaming Art Gallery. Buckell had hoped to be able to produce a book in conjunction with that exhibition, she said in a telephone interview, but funding at that time was unavailable.

She applied again in late 2020 and recently learned that her application was successful.

Buckell said it was one of eight projects approved by the Ontario

Arts Council out of 42 applications received.

Buckell will be writing, researching and gathering information for the book.

She says the project is in the early stages, and while she doesn't want to promise the publication date, her original timeline was to have it out by Christmas.

Proceeds of the sale of the books will be donated to the Temiskaming Art Gallery.

"We're doing well," Buckell said of the project that has just gotten started. The research component has already started, and Venne now has a new website and Facebook page which Buckell is administering.

Anyone who owns artworks by Venne is asked to contact Buckell at felicity@lionelvenne.com.

She said she has already heard from at least 20 people in the community who own some of Venne's works. "People love Lionel and they're excited," she said of the response.

She related that someone commented this can be viewed as a community project. She added, "It's so clear to me Lionel is such a big part of this community. He's a part of the fabric of our community for sure."

Englehart swimmers can expect a great season

By Jamie Mountain
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

ENGLEHART – The Lee Pool in Englehart is expecting a great summer season this year even amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

Town of Englehart recreation coordinator Alex Regele said the summer of 2020 "was about adjustments" and ensuring the safety of employees of the pool and the public.

"The staff did a great job of following health and safety guidelines all summer," he noted in an email interview.

With an eye on this summer's swim season, Regele said the town hopes to keep improving operations and the overall experience that it provides the public when they visit the pool.

"The Town of Englehart, as always, hopes to open the pool in late June and have it in operation until late August," he explained.

"With that said, the Town of Englehart will follow the guidelines put in place by the Province of Ontario and the Temiskaming Health Unit to ensure safety for staff and the public."

Regele also noted the town was hopeful about offering swimming lessons this summer "as we were unable to offer them in the summer of 2020 due to COVID-19."

Your turn is coming soon.

Ontario's COVID-19 vaccine plan is helping to stop the spread and save lives. Thousands of people across the province are getting vaccinated every day.

As vaccinations continue, we need to stay the course to protect those we love. Wear a mask. Wash your hands. Keep your distance.
