"When the plop happens, then we'll have coverage of it," said Jamie Lindsay, president of the New Liskeard Agricultural Society. The society is staging a cow patty bingo, with cash prizes and merchandise going to five ticket holders identifying plop locations. Selling tickets on the weekend were Lindsay, at left, and society vice-president Sharron Graydon and entertainment director Peter Graydon.  on best practices (real-time data, not models), take a holistic, whole-society approach to public health and wellness, we will abolish vaccine mandates and passports, and we will support Canadians' rights to make medical decisions for themselves and their children based on informed consent."

Robertson stated, "We have more and more people who can't afford basic housing, more and more people who can't afford prescription medication or child care. We have an overdose epidemic. We have a climate crisis that needs bold action."

Rota said that, "over the last number of years as your Member of Parliament, I have worked tirelessly with municipalities and local economic development departments to bring new funding, new businesses, and to keep existing businesses growing in the riding. I also made sure benefits from social programs arrived in the riding as well as infrastructure and investments and as we come out of the COVID-19 pandemic I want to see that the support continues to grow so that we can all prosper together."

Trahan outlined his background, stating he is the deputy mayor of the Municipality of East Ferris and has been a North Bay police officer for 21 years, serving the residents of North Bay and Callander.

"I believe deeply in public service and giving back to the community," said Trahan.

"I feel I can make an impact on the region and Canada, because today as a police officer I see the high crime rates, violence and drug abuse. That has to change."

GHG EMISSIONS

"We have been using public dollars to invest in fossil fuel infrastructure, when we should be redirecting those billions of dollars towards clean energy sector and moving toward a net-zero economy," said Robertson in response to a question on greenhouse gas emissions and climate change.

Rota stated, "One of the things we want to do is take a look at the technology that's out there. We want Canada to be on the leading edge, not following somebody else and just buying their technology. We have been putting a lot of money into research and development and we want to continue that."

Trahan said the Conservative Party has a plan to combat climate change which will "allow us to meet our targets and reduce our emissions by 2030." Using a proposed low-carbon savings account, Canadians could make "lifestyle choices while allowing them to decide what best works for them and their family."

A PPC government, said Galante, "will withdraw from the Paris Accord and its unrealistic goals and punishing effects on Canadians.... We will abolish the carbon tax and we will leave the regulatory freedom to the provinces to create a carbon pricing system should they choose. We will abolish subsidies for the green technology and we will let the private sector innovate, which is what they do best.... We will prioritize implementing practical solutions to ensure we have clean air, clean water and soil, and that includes clean drinking water on First Nations."

THE ECONOMY

In response to a question about the economy in the North and employment opportunities, Rota responded, "Northern Ontario does have a lot of potential, and that's something we have to look at.... There is actually a lack of employees, and we're looking at developing that. FedNor is now an agency.... That will give us a lot more freedom to develop the com-

EDITORIAL

Bring back civility?

We've seen organized protestors dogging Liberal Leader Justin Trudeau of late on the federal election campaign trail.

Profane language, threats and harassment seem to be the calling card of a few groups these days.

And likely other political leaders and people who are running in the September 20 election are receiving the same type of vitriol on the campaign trail.

Many people might be asking, "Where has the civility gone?"

This type of obscene behaviour is undermining our democratic process and we usually see these anger-based protests south of the border.

Whatever your political beliefs are, using profanity, threats and acts of intimidation towards people seeking public office is not acceptable.

Certainly the COVID-19 pandemic, the unstable economy and inconveniences of lockdowns have made people angry and upset.

Anyone can criticize a party's platform or a candidate's stance on an issue, but destroying election signs, disrupting public gatherings and promoting uncivil behaviour is not the Canadian way.

The blood of thousands of Canadian soldiers was spilled to protect our democracy and the actions of a few on the campaign trail seems like a slap in the face to our veterans' sacrifices.

Politicians across the globe and here at home have made missteps managing the economy and the pandemic, but those individuals have worked hard to manage the pandemic as best they can.

Public service is a thankless job and now a dangerous job as we have seen during this election.

Let us bring back the civility to municipal, provincial and federal politics to make this region, province and country as strong and as noble as possible.

And let's take a minute to thank the hard working politicians who continue to serve the public while being threatened and harassed in public and online.

Pandemic of rage

Sue Nielsen

The front page of a major Canadian newspaper asked the question recently: Why is everyone so angry?

The pandemic seems to have ramped up people's rage. Throw in a federal election and you have a cesspool of bad behaviours happening.

I see people mad as hell about things as mundane as being in a coffee shop lineup or having to wait in line for service at a gas station.

Think about this for a moment readers: what if we never get beyond the COVID-19 pandemic and we must deal with lingering effects of the virus for decades.

In a survey of 6,000 Canadians taken in February and March by the Angus Reid pollsters, people expressed anger when asked about their reactions to COVID-19.

In some ways, I feel like the pandemic has put undue pressure on all of us, but that's the beauty of being all in this pandemic together.

And when I need to get away and de-stress myself so I can be a better person, I go to my canoe and a clean North-ern lake.

I spoke with my daughter this week and she tells me her doctor just informed her that the doc wouldn't be seeing patients in her office in person unless they are double vaccinated.

All is good with my girl because she is fully vaccinated.

I am seeing doctors around the world also saying they aren't going to perform in-person visits unless patients are fully vaccinated.

The reasoning behind this is because of the spread of the virus and because of a wish to have more people vaccinated to cut down on the infection rates of the virus.

So when I read a post placed on social media from someone recently about a letter a local doctor had sent to a municipality saying they would only be treating patients who are fully vaccinated in person, I shuddered.

The vitriol and the shameful comments that were posted about this local doctor sickened me.

Do people know we have a doctor shortage in the north? Do they realize how fortunate they are to have a doctor at their disposal? This doctor who has been at the forefront of maternal health across the globe?

I believe the vitriol is coming from vaccine refusers.

If memory serves me correctly, this doctor stepped in to fill a void in that community when the previous doctor left to set up a practice on the west coast.

She has served thousands of patients and provided quality front line health care to youth, adults and seniors over the years.

We all have our good days and our bad days, but let's not use medical professionals as our anger release valve.

We seem to have a lack of compassion and empathy for others since the pandemic arrived, and that's not the Canadian way.

Environment, economy, housing dominate online debate

panies that are growing here in Northern Ontario."

Trahan stated, "Canada's Conservatives have a detailed plan to get inflation under control, lower prices and make life more affordable for families.... There's some criminal penalties, including jail times for executives convicted of price fixing." He said the Conservative Party would stand up against "mergers that substantially reduce competition that lead to layoffs and higher prices.... With Canada's recovery plan, we will implement a month-long GST holiday this fall while purchases at retail will be GST-free for the month of December." He added, "Canadians continue to pay some of the highest prices in the world accessing the internet both at homes and mobile phones. These giant companies have too much power."

Galante said, "We have to take the drag off productivity and increase innovation. We do that by removing subsidies and bailouts and punishing taxes on Canadians' personal wealth. It's killing investment in the business sector and it's driving prices up here. We have got to eliminate all corporate subsidies, government bailouts that pick winners and losers.... We have to reduce the corporate tax rate gradually from 15 to 10 per cent, freeing up capital for investment in businesses that want to invest in the North, because we have so much potential up here. We want to abolish the capital gains tax on Canadians' personal wealth."

"I think what we have to do is incentivize hiring by helping businesses provide better wages and better work places," said Robertson.

"The NDP wants to make long-term deals with small businesses and want to pay their portion of the CPP and the EI premiums so that they can offer higher wages." He added, "We are going to help (small business) by making sure we have reliable broadband and cellphone everywhere across the district and across the country." He added, "We want to tax the super rich.... We want to close loopholes for tax cheats. We want to put a 20 per cent foreign ownership tax on buyers. We want to make sure corporations who profited from the pandemic are paying their taxes, so we can invest in affordable housing, so that we can invest in affordable childcare which is going to put more people in the workplace and help those small businesses and that's going to make life more affordable for Canadians which makes us more stable, more resilient, which makes our communities more healthy, which is good for the economy."

HOUSING

A question on the student housing crisis was posed to the candidates, and housing in general was discussed at the same time.

"I think we have to look at cooperation with the provinces and maybe even trilateral with the municipalities, provinces and federal government to improve," said Galante.

"We could look at zoning improvements to create incentives for the private sector to look at student housing."

Robertson stated, "It is not just students who are facing a serious crisis in housing affordability.... We have people in North Bay who are in bidding wars for rent." He said, "What we want to do right now is address the issue of supply.... Our government wants to raise tens of billions of dollars over a parliamentary session through taxation on the very rich and the corporations who are seeing the greatest profits they have ever seen. We want to build 500,000 affordable housing units across the country."

Rota stated, "There is a shortage of supply. What we need to do is increase it. We want to decrease the demand as well that is coming from foreign countries. One of the things that is part of our platform is to stop foreigners coming in who buy land and just sit on it. We're proposing a two-year block on foreign ownership on properties. Some of the other things we are looking at is a bill of rights for people buying houses." He explained a practice occurring in real estate in which bids are invited for a house when it is on the market, causing people to bid high in an effort to purchase the property.

"We want to put a tax on people who speculate."

Trahan stated the Conservative Party would "make homes more affordable for owners as well as renters." He said the party has a plan to build one million homes in the next three years. Investments in affordable housing will be encouraged, with the goal of creating more rental housing for Canadians, he said. Partnerships with municipalities and the private sector will be sought for the development of new rental units.

Arthritis Awareness

Arthritis is Canada's most prevalent chronic health condition – for which there is no cure

Fast Facts:

- Arthritis strikes people of every age, from infants to adults, and stays for life.
- Arthritis is a complex disease with over 100 different types. Major types are inflammatory arthritis (like rheumatoid arthritis, childhood arthritis, ankylosing spondylitis, psoriatic arthritis, and gout), and the most common form, osteoarthritis. Fibromyalgia has similar symptoms to arthritis.
- Arthritis results in painful inflammation and stiffness in joints, limiting the ability to move.
- Left untreated, arthritis can cause permanent joint damage and/or changes.
- A significant proportion of people with arthritis are overweight or obese and are physically inactive, adding undue stress to their joints.
- Some types of arthritis can affect the heart, eyes, lungs, kidneys and even the skin.
- A significant proportion of people with arthritis also have other serious diseases like heart disease or diabetes.

Warning Signs of Inflammatory Arthritis

There are many forms of inflammatory arthritis; signs that are typical for most include:

- Pain, swelling and stiffness in one or multiple joints
- Morning stiffness in and around the affected joints lasting at least one hour
- Pain and stiffness that worsens with inactivity and improves with physical activity
- Reduced range of motion
- Sometimes fever, weight loss, fatigue and/or anemia

Treatment

Arthritis affects everyone differently so treatment planning should be tailored to individual needs with guidance from members of your healthcare team (e.g. family doctor, rheumatologist, surgeon, physiotherapist, occupational therapist etc.).

For the over 6 million Canadians living with arthritis, pain is one of the many challenges they face on a daily basis. And though medication is only one option in terms of arthritis treatment, it can provide pain relief (and slow joint damage in many cases of inflammatory forms of arthritis). Keep in mind that many lifestyle changes, such as healthy eating, exercise and treatments such as physical therapy, should also be explored.

If you are living with arthritis or think you may have undiagnosed arthritis, please call our office at (705) 569-3244 to schedule an appointment with your primary care provider and/or our Occupational Therapist.

SUSPICIOUS FIRE UNDER INVESTIGATION

Police have deemed suspicious the fire that destroyed an old schoolhouse in Hilliard Township. Temiskaming OPP and Earlton-Armstrong firefighters responded to the blaze on Mini Farm Road shortly after 7:30 a.m. September 1. According to the book The History of Hilliard 1910 – 2004, Hilliard SS #1B – more commonly known as “Knott’s School” or “Roach’s School” – opened in the fall of 1924. It had been vacant since its closure in the mid to late 1960s. Only days before fire left the schoolhouse a pile of smouldering ashes, neighbour Jessica Knott took a photo of her children Jamie and Jordan, in the stroller, in front of the building. Temiskaming OPP are investigating the cause of the fire with help from the OPP’s North East Region Forensic Investigation Service. (Staff/Supplied photos)

timiskaminghu.com

You can download or print a COVID-19 vaccine receipt for each dose you have received here: <https://covid19.ontariohealth.ca>.

You will need your health card information. Please call the health unit at 866-747-4305, ext. 6 or email covidvaccine@timiskaminghu.com if:

- You need help or don't have access to technology

COVID-19 UPDATE

As of September 22, 2021, Ontarians will need to be fully vaccinated (two doses plus 14 days) and provide their proof of vaccination and photo ID to access certain public settings and facilities. This approach focuses on higher-risk indoor public settings where face masks cannot always be worn and includes:

- Restaurants and bars (excluding outdoor patios, delivery, and takeout)
- Nightclubs
- Meeting and event spaces, such as banquet halls and conference/convention centres
- Sports and fitness facilities, with the exception of youth recreational sport
- Sporting events
- Casinos, bingo halls, and gaming establishments
- Concerts, music festivals, theatres, and cinemas

- Strip clubs, bathhouses, and sex clubs
  - Racing venues (e.g., horse racing).
- These mandatory requirements will not apply to outdoor settings, except outdoor nightclubs. These requirements will not apply to settings where people receive medical care, food from grocery stores, medical supplies, and the like.

People who cannot receive the vaccine due to medical exemptions will be permitted entry with a doctor's note. Children who are 11 years of age and younger and unable to be vaccinated will also be exempted from these requirements.

MISE À JOUR DE LA COVID-19

- Discothèques

- Casinos, salles de bingo et établissements de jeux
- Concerts, festivals de musique, théâtres et cinémas
- Saunas, clubs échangistes et clubs de strip-tease

- Établissements de course à l'intérieur (par exemple, courses de chevaux).

Ces exigences obligatoires ne s'appliqueront pas aux établissements extérieurs, à l'exception des discothèques à l'extérieur. Ces exigences ne s'appliqueront pas aux environnements où les gens reçoivent des soins médicaux, de la nourriture dans les épiceries, des fournitures médicales, etc. Pour les personnes qui ne peuvent pas recevoir le vaccin pour des raisons médicales, des exemptions peuvent être accordées sur présentation d'un billet du médecin. Quant aux enfants de 11 ans et moins qui ne sont pas éligibles à recevoir le vaccin, ces derniers seront exemptés de ces mesures.
