New Liskeard Fall Fair returns in September

Sue Nielsen

Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES — After two years of cancellations and modifications due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the New Liskeard Agricultural Society is bringing back the long awaited in-person New Liskeard Fall Fair in September.

The three-day New Liskeard Fall Fair will be hosted at the fall fair grounds from September 15-17. It will feature plenty of family friendly events and activities.

This year's event will no doubt give fairgoers a chance to reconnect with friends and family, post pandemic.

It really is a celebration of everything that agriculture has to offer in our region, noted the organizers.

"The (Fair) board strongly agreed that a physical event was a vital step towards sustainability for our Fair," said New Liskeard Agricultural Society president Jamie Lindsay in an email interview.

"Although we provided access through our virtual platforms for the last two years, you cannot compare it to an experience at the grounds."

The board of directors includes first vice president Meghann Packard and second vice president Leslie Bowman and countless volunteers.

"We are excited to provide our exhibitors, sponsors, local businesses, vendors, concessions and attendees an opportunity to immerse themselves in a true weekend at the fair."

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

They still have vacancies on the board of directors for someone to take over the organizing of the 4H Beef and Junior Calf Show, Dairy/4H Dairy, Market Beef, light horse, heavy horse, hospitality and poultry/small animal divisions.

The Fair board is still finalizing this year's

ECCS hosting Pet Food Drive for local animal shelter

Sue Nielsen
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES — The students in Todd Bosak's Grade Six class have a social conscience.

They have organized a Pet Food Drive to help out the Northern Animals Rescue and Sanctuary, located in New Liskeard.

The pet rescue shelter is located at Hidden Treasures beside the Subway restaurant.

At Northern Animals there is always a need for donations as they help homeless pets and all animals in need.

The students in Bosak's class are asking people to drop off leashes, collars, pet beds, pet clothing, food, toys and anything that can be used to assist dogs, cats and other homeless animals.

People can drop off donations at English Catholic Central School until Thursday, April 14, during school hours Monday to Friday.

New Liskeard Fall Fair returns in September

Continued from Front schedule, which will be released in the coming weeks and months.

The organizers say the success of a mega event like the Fall Fair does not succeed without many hands helping out.

They are hoping to attract helpers interested in assisting at the Fair.

"We are always seeking volunteers to help out wherever they can. My first experience with the Fall Fair was volunteering to take photographs for the Beef and Sheep sale. I highly recommend it and would welcome anyone willing to give it a try, no experience necessary," said Lindsay.

Anyone interested in volunteering can contact nlfair@gmail.com or message the New Liskeard Fall Fair Facebook page or call 705-647-4242.

A WARM THANK YOU

EDITORIAL

Best use of government

The national news media reported last week that the New Democratic Party (NDP) had reached a tentative deal (called confidence and supply) with the Liberal minority government to keep the Liberals in power through to 2025.

This deal would result in the Liberals acting on national pharmacare and dental care programs, priorities for the NDP.

This alignment has angered the opposition parties, the Bloc Quebecois and the Progressive Conservatives.

The majority of seats in the House of Commons are now made up of Liberal and NDP members, with that number at 189.

The Bloc has 32 seats and the Conservatives have 119.

Interim Conservative leader Candice Bergen issued a statement saying her party was not in favour of the deal, calling it "backdoor socialism."

There's that dreaded word "socialism."

Isn't it time that political parties in Canada and their leaders think about the ordinary citizens of this country and not the ruling elite?

Isn't it time the political parties worked together?

In a democracy, majorities rule and this coalition may anger or may not anger some Canadians.

Let's keep in mind these two parties represent more than half the popular vote in the last election.

Not everyone will support this coalition but we are betting average Canadians will.

A dental care program for low-income families, a Pharmacare Act and affordable housing options are all part of this deal.

But if we take an objective, non-partisan viewpoint of this coalition, this is a great move for the average Canadian.

Sounds of love

“There is no feeling, except the extremes of fear and grief, that does not find relief in music.”

George Eliot

Sue
Nielsen

I listened to the song Ave Maria, performed magically by Celine Dion, this week.

Anne-Denise Mejaki sang Ave Maria at my mother's funeral and there was not a dry eye in the place.

No matter how many times I hear the song, I get goose bumps. This song brings back memories of my mother and I cry when I hear it but at the same time it comforts me.

This song is spiritual in itself. It helps us to come to terms with grief and for brief moments in our lives, it casts aside the strife we feel and see in the world.

I am not religious per se, but I am deeply spiritual.

As I listened to the song I thought of the Koza family and how they are dealing with the loss of their beloved mother, Anita.

Last week Anita passed away at 95 years of age.

We grew up knowing the Koza family, Anita and Jake and kids, Jane, Harry, Golda and Aaron.

Anita and Jake were two of Cobalt's finest citizens.

They did so much good for Cobalt over the years helping the town but also helping others, often behind the scenes, including myself.

Anita's kindness and goodness no doubt came by way of her DNA, as her own mother, a Cobalt pioneer, Mrs. St. Laurent, was a fine and wonderful woman.

I think it is safe to say all of Anita's actions for her family, individuals and organizations can be summed up in one ingredient - love.

Which is the most essential ingredient for our time here on earth.

Thinking of Anita brings a smile to my face.

The love children have for their mothers is not bound by time and space nor by this physical world.

As the great poet Maya Angelou said, "Love liberates. It doesn't hold - that's ego. Love liberates. It doesn't bind."

Anita was someone who made you feel like you swallowed the sun.

I got choked up thinking about my own mother in the writing of this column, because even though our mothers may be gone they will always hold a special place in our hearts and minds.

Grief really is a collective experience never to be managed within a certain time-frame. I will forever grieve the loss of my mother.

If you get a minute in your busy day, have a listen to Ave Maria because a joy like that song can lift your spirits and make you feel better during these extraordinary times.

May the Koza family find comfort and strength in the coming days and that all those families dealing with grief and loss find solace in their grieving process.

To the Koza and St. Laurent families - May love be what you remember the most!

Let's give thanks for joyful lives well lived.

Good for You and Your Money!

Eating well is vital to our health but the cost of food can add up quickly! With a little planning, you can incorporate a variety of nutrient dense food, reduce food waste, and save money! Below are a few steps to help you get started.

Step #1. Make a plan. Plans help to reduce decision fatigue and offer a guideline to help you prepare for the meals ahead. When you have a plan, you will be less likely to spend money on fast food, convenience meals or other random grocery store items. If you're new to planning, start simple; using themes to help guide dinner plans offers an excellent starting point. For example:

Themed Dinners

Monday – Meatless Monday
Tuesday – Breakfast for Dinner
Wednesday – Wraps
Thursday- Traditional/ Cultural
Friday – Family Favourites

Step #2. Shop your pantry, refrigerator and freezer. Look at the foods and ingredients you already have on hand and then look for recipes that use those foods and ingredients.

Step #3. Explore meatless options and "in season" produce. Legumes (beans, lentils, dried peas), eggs, tofu, peanut butter and canned fish offer great tasting protein at a good price! Vegetables and fruit are cheaper when they're in season.

Additional Tips!

1. Plan to use leftovers. Think about how you can use leftovers. If you're cooking roast chicken with rice and vegetables for Sunday night's supper, then make chicken sandwiches for Monday's lunch. On Tuesday, use the bones to make a chicken soup and add in any leftover vegetables and rice.

2. Make extras. If ground beef is on sale, make two batches of lasagna instead of one. Serve one batch for dinner and freeze the other batch in meal-sized portions for another time.

Please contact the Temagami Family Health Team at 705-569-3244 for support in achieving your healthy and/or to book an appointment with the team's Registered Dietitian.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

"Do you call that freedom?"

Dear editor,

This letter is in regards to an editorial in last week's Weekender ("True freedom" March 25).

First of all, I sympathize with the people of Ukraine. They didn't ask for what they are dealing with.

But on another note.

I always thought we lived in a free country, up until COVID started two years ago.

We have a daughter and a son-in-law and a two-and-a-half-year-old granddaughter that live in New York City. I got to see my granddaughter when she was one week old, before COVID. The next time I got to see them was 13 months later. Can you imagine how much a child that age changes in that length of time? Luckily, we Face-timed often, but that's a far cry from actually seeing them in person.

To be really honest with you, I didn't want the vaccines, because I honestly didn't think it had been tested enough. People tell me, "You had a choice. You could take it or you could choose not to take it."

Well, I think different. If I wanted to see our kids the only way was to take the jab.

Do you call that freedom?

We drove to their place in February of this year, for two weeks. When we crossed the border into the States, there were no questions asked, but when we drove back, it was a totally different story. We needed to provide proof of a negative COVID test, which cost us $150 U.S. each (not sure where that money goes though, probably shared between Joe Biden and our illustrious leader), plus we needed proof of vaccinations or a 14-day quarantine, plus the ArriveCan app on our phones.

Then the guy hands me two COVID tests and says we've been randomly selected to take two COVID tests, that we had to do within 24 hours of crossing the border. This is where you call an 800 number and they put you in a virtual waiting room, which you could wait up to five and six hours, to do the test in front of a nurse.

If you call that freedom, I'm anxious to see what real freedom is like, but it won't happen anytime soon as long as our country is being run by a couple of corrupt idiots!

I support the truckers 100 per cent!

P.S. I may have ruffled a few feathers here, but that's ok. Bring it on.

Walk 'N Roll project launched at two Englehart schools

Sue Nielsen

Speaker Reporter

ENGLEHART — Students and staff from two Englehart schools took part in a Winter Walk Day around the town recently as part of a larger project called Walk 'N Roll.

Walk 'N Roll is an Active School Travel Plan led by the Timiskaming Health Unit that has received an additional $60,000 from the Ontario Active School Travel (OAST)

Fund, said Active School Travel facilitator Elizabeth Morland.

The OAST fund is part of Green Communities Canada and made possible through financial support from the Government of Ontario.

The project has been in existence since 2019, but recently added Holy Family School and Englehart Public School to the project in 2021 that sees partnerships with police, school boards, municipalities and community groups in the South Temiskaming region.

The school program was officially launched when the two schools walked around Englehart in conjunction with Winter Walk Day on March 2.

Both schools were gifted with large Active School Travel banners that they happily displayed during their community walk.

"Okay, who is ready to Winter Walk today?" said Engle-

Walk 'N Roll project launched at two Englehart schools

hart Public School principal Sheila Siermachesky as her students headed off for their walk around town.

The Walk 'N Roll project works with school staff, students, families and regional stakeholders to encourage active lifestyles and also to remove any barriers that may exist in communities that would discourage active travel.

The goals of the project are to increase the number of students using active methods of transportation to and from school, which could include riding a bike or walking to school, and also to decrease traffic congestion around schools and enhance safety overall.

The program places emphasis on working with schools to host events like Winter Walk Day and to provide skill-building opportunities via bike safety skills training.

Morland says she has spoken to the Town of Englehart about designating a school zone with decreased speed limits around Holy Family and Englehart Public as well as nearby Englehart High.

"Active school travel leads to healthier students, safer school zones and more connected communities," said Englehart council member Jillian Plaunt in a press release.

"It takes a community working together to make active travel the easy and safe choice and through this project the people of Englehart are showing how much they care about the wellbeing of their children and youth."

April is DAFFODIL MONTH

*Where there's awareness
there's hope*

Cancer is the leading cause of death in this country, with some 30 per cent of Canadians dying from one type of cancer or another. In April, Daffodil Month, the Canadian Cancer Society asks the public to spare a thought for all those who are affected by this disease and to do something concrete in the fight against cancer.

Despite progress — the survival rate is now at 63 per cent — more Canadians die of cancer than any other disease. That's why funding activities are organized throughout the month of April to help prevent cancer and fund research; it's so that one day we can win the battle against this disease that kills 210 Canadians every day.

You can contribute to the fight against cancer by purchasing a bouquet of daffodils, which are a symbol of renewal, hope and courage. You can also wear a daffodil pin as a sign of solidarity with those who are fighting for their lives; you'll be doing so along with all their families, and with the families of those who have lost their battle. You can also donate time or money or help raise funds.

Lastly, you can fight against cancer by taking care of your health and minimizing your risk of developing this disease. Even though you have no control over your age and your genes, you can control other risk factors, such as smoking, alcohol use, physical inactivity, chronic stress and sun exposure.

Hilliardton Marsh hosts bird banding and snowshoe event

Sue Nielsen
Speaker Reporter

HILLIARD TOWNSHIP —
The Hilliardton Marsh Research and Education Centre held a soft opening bird banding and snowshoe event at the Marsh on March 12.

The birds being banded during the event were common red polls, but don't let the name fool you.

Common red polls are small finches of the far north that tend to stray south during the winter months when food sources such as conifer seeds are scarcer further north.

"We were walking the trails the other day and it was windy and we saw the seeds from the trees all over the ground, so this is what the finches are feeding on here in this region," said HMREC lead bird bander Bruce Murphy.

He says they are seeing healthy numbers of common red polls at the marsh because food sources are available here for them.

Common red polls have brown streaked flanks, a red cap and black face surrounding a tiny yellow bill.

They have pouches in their throats to store extra food for later use.

Visitors to the marsh had a chance to watch birds being banded and they could snowshoe around the trails at the marsh and even hold a bird in their hands before it was released.

The birds are captured in feeder traps, put into cloth bags to calm them down and then brought into the bird-house office for banding.

Their age, sex, health and other important data are collected and then a tiny metal band is placed on the leg of the bird. They are then released back into the wild.

Marsh hosts bird banding

“We have banded roughly 250 red polls this year,” said Marsh program developer and assistant bander Emma Gignac.

She has completed a Masters degree in Environmental Anthropology at the University of Ottawa studying wetland environments.

“Starting at the marsh has been fantastic. It is a beautiful and warm work environment,” said Gignac in an email interview.

“I am passionate about environmental education and believe that the path to a cleaner and healthier planet will be through collective action and empathic learning. The marsh is an excellent place for children and families to have fun learning about the importance of wetlands.”

She began working at the marsh in January and is contracted for 2022.

“When identifying this tiny bird the main characteristics to look for are its rosy cap and white and brown streaked plumage. Although plumage varies a lot with this species, you may find one with orange caps or other contested species of the frostier Hoary redpoll. They reside primarily in the Arctic.”

She mentioned she doesn’t believe there is an irruption of the birds in our region.

“If there are more redpolls around your feeders it may indicate there was less food available for them in the Arctic.”

These tiny birds can survive below freezing temperatures and their migration patterns remain somewhat of a mystery to researchers.

“Additionally, the data we collect can help researchers learn more about the various common redpoll subspecies. One of the redpolls we banded was once recaptured in Alaska.”

A study from Alaska found common redpolls could survive -65 Fahrenheit (about -54 C), which makes these tiny birds anything but common.

Barbecue Safety

Grilled to Perfection Every Time!

USE BBQS OUTDOORS ONLY! They produce carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas that can lead to unconsciousness and even death. Never use or store propane cylinders inside any structure, including garages.

Take these steps when starting a BBQ:

- Open the hood.
- Turn on the gas release valve on the tank.
- Turn on the grill controls or heat settings.
- Take a step back.
- Push the igniter button.
- If there is no igniter button, insert a long match or BBQ lighter through the side burner hole first, then turn on the heat control knob.
- If the burner does not ignite right away, turn the gas off and wait five minutes, keeping the hood open, before repeating the procedure.

At the start of the BBQ season, do this THREE-STEP SAFETY CHECK of your BBQ:

- 1 CLEAN Use a pipe cleaner or wire to ensure burner ports are free of rust, dirt, spider webs or other debris.
- 2 CHECK Examine the hose leading from the tank to the burners. Replace it if cracked or damaged.
- 3 TEST Find leaks by applying a 50/50 solution of water and dish soap to propane cylinder connections and hoses. If bubbles appear, tighten the connection and/or replace the damaged parts and retest.

Jocelyn Plante Fire Prevention Officer
Temiskaming Shores Fire Dept.
705-672-3363

Stay Fire Safe!

Never leave the BBQ unattended when in use.

Make sure grease does not build up on the burners or at the base of the BBQ. This could cause a grease fire.

Never throw water on a grease fire – this will only spread the flame.

DO NOT place the BBQ close to wooden fences or walls, vinyl siding, or anything that can burn. The area behind your BBQ must be free of anything that can ignite – this is where hot gases escape.

Keep loose clothing away from a hot BBQ.

Keep children and pets at least one metre (three feet) away from a hot BBQ.

When finished barbecuing, turn the gas valve off first, then turn off the burner controls so no gas is left in the connecting hose.

Allow the BBQ to cool completely before closing the cover.

If you live in an apartment or condo building, check with the building owner or property manager, or the Condominium Act of your building, regarding the use of BBQs on your building's balconies.

Why do you need your COVID-19 booster dose?

Pourquoi avez-vous besoin d'une dose de rappel ?

The highly transmissible Omicron variant is the dominant strain of COVID-19 in Ontario and in our communities.

Omicron est le variant le plus transmissible et la souche dominante de la COVID-19 en Ontario et dans nos communautés.

Vaccines are effective at protecting you against severe illness, hospitalization, and death related to COVID-19. However, effectiveness decreases over time and two doses is not enough.

Les vaccins sont efficaces pour vous protéger contre les maladies graves, les hospitalisations et les décès liés à la COVID-19. Cependant, l'efficacité diminue avec le temps et deux doses ne suffisent pas.

All Timiskaming residents are strongly encouraged to get their booster dose as soon as eligible.

Tous les résidents du Timiskaming sont fortement encouragés à recevoir leur dose de rappel dès qu'ils sont éligibles.

A booster dose will help protect you from more severe outcomes from COVID-19 and the Omicron variant.

Une dose de rappel vous aidera à vous protéger contre des conséquences plus graves de la COVID-19 et du variant Omicron.
