Local Jubilee celebrations win federal funding

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff/Special) – How will South Temiskaming celebrate Queen Elizabeth II's Platinum Jubilee?

With a garden tea, a museum exhibit, a couple of special gardens, and some twenty-first century technology looking at age-old rocks.

Four organizations in Temiskaming Shores are receiving $15,425 from Canadian Heritage's Platinum Jubilee Fund for projects commemorating the 70th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth II's reign.

"This funding will help showcase the work of community partners" in celebrating the Jubilee, said Nipissing-Timiskaming MP Anthony Rota in a news release announcing the funding.

"This is an excellent opportunity to reflect on the value of global education and to enhance the engagement of all people in our riding to research some of the history of our country," Rota continued.

Timiskaming District Secondary is creating "a cultural celebration garden" in the courtyard "and inviting staff and students to come celebrate Queen Elizabeth II," said teacher Bradley McLean.

"Students will have the opportunity to enjoy some snacks and conversation while learning about the history of the Queen's reign," he said.

At Northern College's Haileybury campus, Rock-Walk Park will use the funding to add QR coding to the traditional signage now in the geological park, explained Graham Gambles, the organization's president.

"QR will provide bilingual information with more detail than can be expressed on print signage.

"A special plaque will be created to honour our Queen, and there will be a public event to view the new signage after schools reopen in the fall," he said.

HAILEYBURY LEGION

In Haileybury, Royal Canadian Legion Zone K-1 and Area Veterans Home is making landscaping improvements and planting a number of trees.

"We are especially looking forward to our garden tea in her honour to be held in August," said property manager Jan Edwards.

"The past two years of lockdowns and social isolation have taken a toll on our seniors and we are so pleased to be able to offer this exciting event to our community," she said.

At the Little Claybelt Homesteaders Museum, a display of memorabilia "captures her life and ties to our pioneers and current residents" of the area, said museum secretary and treasurer Elizabeth Pahkala.

The local initiatives are among 360 community events and three national projects being supported through the Jubilee funding program.

City unleashes first dog park

Diane Johnston
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – Opie and Kona know they're headed to the dog park "as soon as we turn the corner," says Kris Boucher.

The New Liskeard resident and his two dogs have become regulars at the Murray Daniels Dog Park, Temiskaming Shores' first off-leash dog park.

It officially opened last month in a former ball field on Lakeview Drive in North Cobalt.

The site was identified in the city's 2020 recreation master plan as "an ideal location" for a park where dog owners could take their pets for a run.

On a recent Saturday morning, Kona and Opie were the only canines at the park. But Boucher said there have been occasions when up to ten dogs are on hand.

"Glad it's here finally," he said.

The area, which is completely fenced, is open daily from sunrise to sunset.

Just outside the gates are two picnic tables, garbage cans and a large parking area for the dogs' human companions.

Owners must accompany their dogs, stay within view and calling distance of their canines at all times, and keep a leash in hand.

They're required to clean up after their dogs, depositing waste in containers on site. Owners must also fill in any holes dug by their dogs.

Not permitted in the park are aggressive dogs, female dogs in heat, and puppies under six months of age.

No glass containers or anything that could break and injure a dog may be brought into the park.

Dogs must also be licensed in accordance with their municipalities' bylaws.

EDITORIAL

Hockey Canada is a mess

So, when parents pay for their children's hockey registration fees, they do not expect that those fees are going to be used to settle sexual assault claims against hockey players and Hockey Canada.

But that is exactly what Hockey Canada has done with payouts totaling $8.9 million for 21 alleged cases of sexual assault since 1989.

Hockey Canada administrators faced a parliamentary committee asking tough questions about how the organization settled lawsuits, including allegations of sexual assault.

Hockey Canada set up a National Equity Fund using registration fees to pay out nine settlements involving alleged sexual abuse.

There is something rotten at Hockey Canada and the top administrators, including CEO Scott Smith, need to be replaced.

But above and beyond the money is the fact that Hockey Canada admitted people were harmed.

Those people are the victims of the alleged sexual assaults.

If people are harmed then criminal proceedings need to take place where perpetrators are brought before the courts to answer for their alleged crimes.

Victims' rights advocate Sheldon Kennedy rightly spoke out against Hockey Canada, asking for a complete shake up of the organization and resignations of top administrators like Scott.

And Hockey Canada needs to clean up its act and institute stricter values about how it operates, because after all, children are watching.

If hockey is truly Canada's game, then Hockey Canada needs to be immediately overhauled.

The sleazy actions of Hockey Canada are a slap in the face to the many volunteers across the country that volunteer their time to coach, administer and guide children in the game of hockey.

Loon love

Sue Nielsen

Unmistakably, good things don't happen too often these days, moments so joyous to the strains and stresses of modern life that they manage to overcome the sense that everything sucks.

But such an event happened this summer on my favourite lake.

A baby loon chick was born.

As I mentioned in a previous column, there hadn't been a loon chick on the lake in six years.

It was a joy to witness the baby loon riding on its mother's back and the father loon feeding it from its beak in such a loving and tender fashion.

The baby loon was the star of the summer show in my world and the world of campers and others who love Bass Lake.

I felt like I was the midwife to this pair of loons, who mated in front of me on June 8 and then delivered their fuzzy, brown bundle of joy exactly one month later.

Cottagers were thrilled when the news broke that the nesting loon had successfully hatched a chick.

Many cottagers took photos when the parents swam by with their young charge, likely proudly showing off the baby.

I myself captured photos of the baby loon as both parents seemed quite relaxed when I paddled nearby.

But as we know in life, good things do come to an end.

I don't see the baby loon with its parents anymore. It has sadly disappeared from the lake.

I saw the parents frantically calling and looking for the chick on a windy day last week.

It broke my heart to think the chick is gone and I can only imagine how the pair of loons felt.

When it comes to their life history, the loon is monogamous, having a single partner for life unless one adult dies.

Sadly, it is a fact that if a loon chick does survive a summer on a northern lake, it is indeed a matter of extreme survival and resilience.

With predation, pollution, disappearing habitat, lead in fishing tackle, threats from humans and climate change, the loon populations overall are on a steady decline.

We know the world has lost nearly three billion birds of various species since 1970, notes the Cornell Lab of Ornithology.

Can birds feel emotions and sorrow?

I believe they can.

To me, the fact that the pair of loons wailed and wailed and searched for the baby was definitely akin to grief.

Although difficult to quantify scientifically, last year after a mother loon was dragged off her nest and killed by an unknown predator, 13 loons suddenly appeared on the lake in front of her nest making piteous cries for days.

It was obvious they were grieving for the mother loon.

Let us not underestimate the intelligence of the avian world as we take a look around the human world and occasionally shake our heads.

Have a terrific week everyone!

Practise Self-Care

Most people are fairly healthy, but as we age, we are faced with challenges, choices and risks specifically in relation to food, alcohol, tobacco and inactive lifestyles. During this recent pandemic, these risks may have increased. Unfortunately, the common result of these choices is obesity, physical inactivity, tobacco use, alcohol abuse and unhealthy diets. All of these things contribute to today's epidemic of heart attacks and strokes, cancers, diabetes, chronic respiratory disease and other diseases.

The good news is that it's possible to reduce your risk by adjusting your lifestyle and taking better care of yourself.

Self-Care includes:

- Knowledge & Health Literacy – the ability to get, process and understand basic health information and services needed to make the right decisions about your health.
- Mental wellbeing, self-awareness and prevention – being more aware of the present moment, including your thoughts and feelings, your body and the world around you (also known as mindfulness), can positively change the way you feel about life and how you approach challenges; In terms of prevention, know your body mass index (BMI), cholesterol level, blood pressure and participate in health screening.
- Physical Activity – Adults aged 18-64 should try to do at least 150 minutes of moderate-intensity physical activity throughout the week.
- Risk avoidance – quitting tobacco, limiting alcohol use, getting immunized, practicing safe sex and using sunscreen.
- Good Hygiene – hand washing, brushing your teeth and washing your food, e.g. fruits and vegetables
- Rational and responsible use of products and services (diagnostic testing and medication) – being aware of dangers and using as prescribed.

Is self-care hard to do? Absolutely – some things definitely are, such as quitting smoking. Small steps in a positive direction are the best way to achieve long-lasting results.

If you are a patient of the Temagami Family Health Team and would like to see our dietitian, our mental health worker, our respiratory therapist, our occupational therapist or one of our primary care providers, please feel free to call the office at (705) 569-3244 to schedule an appointment.

Staying healthy in the heat

OTTAWA (Special) – Summer's not over – thankfully.

But while hot weather can put a smile on one's face, it also poses its own health risks.

In a recent news release, Health Canada warns that the number of extremely hot days that some parts of Canada experience in a year is expected to double in the next three decades.

What are the signs and symptoms of heat exhaustion?

- High body temperature
- Confusion and lack of coordination
- Skin rash
- Muscle cramps
- Dizziness or fainting
- Nausea or vomiting
- Heavy sweating
- Headache

- Rapid breathing and heart-beat

- Extreme thirst

- Dark urine and decreased urination

If you experience any of these symptoms during extreme heat, immediately move to a cool place and drink liquids – water is best.

Heat stroke, on the other hand, is a medical emergency. Watch for:

- High body temperature
- Confusion and lack of coordination
- Dizziness/fainting
- No sweating, but very hot, red skin

Call 911 or your local emergency number immediately.

While waiting for help, cool the person right away by moving them to a cool place if possible; applying cold water to large areas of the skin; and fanning the person as much as possible.

Health Canada offers the following safety tips to stay cool:

- Wear loose-fitting, light-coloured clothing made of breathable fabric.
- Take cool showers or baths until you feel refreshed.
- Plan strenuous outdoor activities for cooler days, or choose a cooler location, like a place with air conditioning or shaded by trees.
- Spend a few hours in a cool place. It could be a tree-shaded area, swimming facility or an air-conditioned spot.

Clothes Dryer Fire Safety Tips

A leading cause of dryer fires in the home is the lack of dryer maintenance.

Install smoke and carbon monoxide alarms on every storey of your home.

Test them every month.

How do I keep myself and my loved ones safe?

When Installing...

- Have your dryer installed and serviced by a qualified technician.
- If you install your own dryer, follow the manufacturer's instructions before installing the dryer vent.

Always...

- Follow the manufacturer's instructions regarding the safe use of the dryer.
- Inspect and clean the lint screen after each load of laundry. The build-up of lint can lead to a fire. Regularly remove lint from ducts and exhaust vents.
- Regularly inspect the outdoor vent to ensure it is unobstructed.
- Turn the dryer off if you leave home or when you go to bed.
- Keep the area around the dryer clear of items that can burn.

For more information contact your local fire department.
