Keep smilin' during Oral Health Month

(NC) - April is oral health month in Canada and a perfect time to set new goals to help your smile shine.

The theme of the month once again is Oral Health for Total Health, which is an important reminder that taking good care of your mouth, teeth and gums benefits your overall physical and mental well-being.

If you're not sure where to start, ask your dental hygienist for guidance during your next appointment.

As essential primary health care providers, dental hygienists will work with you to develop a daily oral care plan to promote good oral health and prevent disease.

They can also offer individualized treatment recommendations for oral conditions, strategies to stop smoking, nutrition counseling, and oral cancer screenings.

In the meantime, it's easy to commit to these six simple steps:

- Brush your teeth at least twice a day with fluoride toothpaste.
- Clean between your teeth daily with floss or other interdental devices.
- Use an antibacterial mouth rinse once a day.
- Make healthy food and beverage choices.
- Eliminate tobacco use.
- See an oral health professional every six months.

Find more information on oral health at dentalhygiene-canada.ca.

Prevention tips to bear in mind

PETERBOROUGH (Special) – Spring brings melting snow, the potential for flooding, and the return of some wild residents as black bears come out of hibernation.

The provincial government and OPP are advising the public to exercise caution.

Bears waking from hibernation face a lack of natural food sources, leading them to look for food in garbage cans and bird feeders.

They can also remember their last source of food and return there when hungry, sometimes travelling over 100 kilometres.

In a news release, the public is reminded of tips to prevent bears visiting their homes and neighbourhoods:

- Storing garbage in waste containers with tight-fitting lids, and indoors if possible.
- Wait until collection day to put out garbage.
- Take away bird feeders for the spring and summer. (You can offer birds natural alternatives, such as flowers, nesting boxes and fresh water.)

- Clean food residue and grease from outdoor barbecue grills, including grease traps, after each use.

- Keep pet food indoors.

Provincial officials say that bears entering a community are not necessarily a threat, but it is important to know who to call if you encounter one.

Ontario's non-emergency, toll-free Bear Wise reporting line – at 1-866-514-2327 – is open 24/7 from April 1 to November 30.

If a bear is posing an immediate threat by showing threatening or aggressive behaviour, remain calm and call 911 or your local police department.

Visit Bear Wise online to learn more about how to avoid attracting bears and what to do if you encounter one.

EDITORIAL

The lessons of Easter

T.S. Elliot said, "April is the cruelest month," and that may be true if you take into account the weather we've had so far in late March and early April.

But let's turn that dire prediction around because we control our own narratives, and let's say April is a heartfelt month.

The Temiskaming Speaker Community Food Bank Drive held last Saturday was affected by the snowstorm that hit North-eastern Ontario. Its mission is to help the food banks in our area that are trying to keep up with the demand for food in our region.

Inflation has increased food insecurity and we know that children, teens, adults and seniors are accessing food banks in greater numbers.

Childhood hunger is indeed a Canadian public health crisis and should be high on the "let's solve this problem" list.

May the needy among us find the help they need at the doors of the food banks in our area.

Anne Frank said, "No one has ever become poor by giving," and when we think about the fundraising that is done in our region, we would indeed be considered rich.

We are a generous, giving community that is known for helping others.

Giving enriches us as individuals but it also makes a statement about our region.

Helping others has been found to reduce stress, combat depression and keep you mentally stimulated with a sense of purpose.

As we come together this Easter weekend, let us remember who we are and the goodness that permeates our daily lives.

The Easter weekend is one of the holiest of dates in the Christian calendar.

The service on Palm Sunday includes the universal story of suffering and the crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth.

The suffering of Christ reminds us to have concern for the suffering of others in today's world.

But it doesn't matter whether you are Christian, Buddhist, Islamic or of other faiths, the premise is to honour your faith and be good to yourself and others.

Kindness requires no religion, no scripture and no altar. It can be done anywhere at anytime.

Happy Easter!

Fire on ice

I had a truly remarkable hockey experience last weekend when the New Liskeard Lions U18 team hit the ice.

They were competing in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association (NOHA) Tournament of Champions. All of New Liskeard's games were held at the Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena.

Maybe, just maybe, some people thought they weren't the favourites to win this tournament and maybe in one sense or another, they proved them wrong.

What they did on the ice was truly remarkable.

I'd been to Lions games before this season, but something was different about the team last weekend.

From the first puck drop last Friday morning, they claimed that ice surface.

They came out like a house on fire with an energy that certainly was felt throughout the building.

And that fire on ice energy continued all weekend long as they played their hearts out.

To their credit, they took some heavy hits from teams hoping to slow them down. Instead of retaliating and taking costly penalties, the Lions kept their heads and played sensational hockey.

The championship game was a nail biter. The Lions went into double-overtime before the Porcupine Gold Kings scored a goal to win 2-1.

But they aren't the true winners of the Tournament of Champions, the Lions are.

The Lions have been on a roll since just before Christmas when they began to catch their stride in the Nickel District Hockey League.

Their season didn't start off that great but boy did this team do what championship teams are known for, they progressed, they played as a team and they began to rack up their wins.

I was so proud of this team and its coaching staff.

And I was super proud of the team's longtime manager, Al Roy, our Speaker buddy.

For years and years he has given so much of his time and talents to helping this team be successful as the manager.

The coaching staff of Dom Fleury, Jeff St. Cyr and Marco Lalonde must be congratulated for what they have accomplished this year.

Let's not forget the parents who wholeheartedly support this team through thick and thin.

And how about those players?

I didn't realize how much size the Lions have on their team until this past weekend when they seemed to get bigger, stronger and faster with each game.

Sue Nielsen

They are winners through and through.

Let's congratulate the local businesses that recognize the importance of sponsoring a team of fine young men like the Lions.

The Lions have qualified to play in the Ontario Hockey Federation U18 All-Ontario Championships April 21-23 in South Porcupine.

Go Lions Go!

Happy Easter readers — stay safe and enjoy the long weekend!

Situated in this picturesque, vibrant lakeside community of The City of Temiskaming Shores, the district's paper of record, The Temiskaming Speaker, is looking for a unique, motivated individual to become a part of our team.

Temagami Family Health Team

Submitted by Ellen Ibey

Parkinson's Awareness

Parkinson's is a neurodegenerative disease. Movement is normally controlled by dopamine, a chemical that carries signals between the nerves in the brain. When cells that normally produce dopamine die, the symptoms of Parkinson's appear.

MOST COMMON SYMPTOMS

- Tremor
- Slowness and stiffness
- Impaired balance
- Rigidity of the muscles

OTHER SYMPTOMS

- Fatigue
- Soft speech
- Problems with handwriting
- Stooped posture
- Constipation
- Sleep disturbances

A diagnosis of Parkinson's can take time. You may be referred to a neurologist – a specialist who deals with Parkinson's. There are no x-rays or tests to confirm Parkinson's so the neurologist will check your medical history, do a careful physical examination and certain tests to rule out other conditions that may resemble Parkinson's.

Currently there is no cure. You can live with Parkinson's for years. The symptoms are typically treated with medication, but some people with Parkinson's may benefit from surgery. The following therapies can also help manage the symptoms:

- Physical therapy helps mobility, flexibility, and balance
- Occupational therapy helps with daily activities
- Speech therapy helps with voice control
- Exercise helps muscles and joints and improves overall health and well-being

Every Parkinson's experience is unique. The symptoms and progression will vary from person to person. Living with Parkinson's requires an individualized approach.

If you are experiencing the symptoms noted above and are concerned you might have Parkinson's, schedule an appointment with your primary care provider to discuss your concerns. It is important for you to be an active participant in your health care.

1931 Census of Canada to be released on June 1

GATINEAU (Special) – A new resource will soon be released for genealogists and historians.

Library and Archives Canada (LAC) has announced that, after the legislated 92 years in the vault, the 1931 Census of Canada will be made available to the public on June 1.

In a news release, LAC noted that the data was collected during the Great Depression and at a time of significant immigration.

The census provides a snapshot of the more than 10.3 million people living in Canada in 1931.

It recorded more than 40 fields of personal information.

These include typical questions found on previous census returns, such as family names and relationships, age, gender, and racial origin. There were also five new questions, touching on matters like unemployment and radio ownership.

On June 1, Canadians can expect to browse the digitized census images by geographic district and sub-district on the LAC website.

Following the initial release, LAC will work collaboratively with Ancestry and FamilySearch International to create an advanced searchable database for Canadians and those with Canadian heritage who wish to look for their ancestors.

In this collaborative effort to increase access to the 1931 Census of Canada, LAC has digitized all 234,687 pages of the census.

Ancestry will apply its state-of-the-art handwriting recognition technology to the digital images to create a full index of the entire census.

FamilySearch will then review the computer-generated index to ensure a complete and accurate index of all fields at a level never achieved before.

The images and indexes will be available and searchable online for free through Census Search, LAC's new one-stop shop for national census records. The images and indexes will also be available on Ancestry.ca and FamilySearch.org.

LAC has been working in collaboration with external organizations including Ancestry and FamilySearch for over 20 years to help preserve, and provide access to, its genealogically significant historical records.

LAC said collaborations between private organizations and public institutions are the meeting ground of cutting-edge technology and subject-matter expertise.

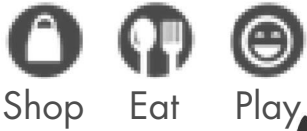

It described the collaborative partnership as key to meeting public demand and ensuring that the 1931 Census of Canada can be viewed and searched online more quickly than previous censuses.

Users can bookmark LAC's Preparing the 1931 Census web page to stay up to date on the project's status.

Before you call CRA...

OTTAWA (Special/Staff) – Every year, the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) tracks the questions people ask and uses that information to design new services and improve its processes.

Before calling the CRA, it suggests the following to save time this tax season.

Deadlines

The deadline for most Canadians to file their 2022 return is April 30, 2023.

Since this falls on a Sunday, your return will be considered filed on time if it's received by the CRA or postmarked on or before May 1, 2023.

If you or your spouse or common-law partner are self-employed, you have until June 15, 2023, to file.

Filing before the deadline will allow you to avoid interruptions to any benefit or credit payments.

If you owe money, your payment is due on April 30, 2023.

Your payment will be considered on time if the CRA receives it, or a Canadian financial institution processes it, on or before May 1, 2023.

The CRA has taken steps to deliver the services that Canadians expect over the phone, including:

- Automated callback service.

This service lets you ask for a callback instead of waiting on hold. It is available only at certain times of the day and when wait times reach a certain length. It applies to phone lines for individual tax enquiries, benefits enquiries, and business enquiries.

- Community Volunteer Income Tax Program (CVITP).

Community organizations host free tax clinics for people with relatively straightforward returns and modest incomes.

Volunteers may be able to complete your taxes in person or virtually by videoconference, phone, or a document drop-off.

In Temiskaming Shores, CVITP clinics are being held in two locations:

- Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena in New Liskeard, Mondays and Wednesdays, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., until April 26 (closed on Easter Monday);

- Shelley Herbert-Shea Memorial Arena in Haileybury, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., until April 27.

Before you call

- Check Canada.ca.

The personal income tax section of Canada.ca is now easier to use. It offers detailed information on how to file your return, including information on COVID-19 benefits and your taxes and how to report them on your return.

- Check benefit payment dates online.

You can view benefit payment dates on Canada.ca. If you're registered for direct deposit, you should receive your benefit payment on the dates listed online.

If you aren't registered, you should receive your benefit payments within five to 10 business days of the scheduled payment date.

Please allow this time before contacting about a payment.

- Try Charlie the chatbot. If you need a quick answer to a question, Charlie is at your service.

Look for Charlie on the CRA homepage and many other web pages on Canada.ca.

- Take advantage of digital services, including My Account and direct deposit, to manage your tax-filing information and payments from the CRA.

You can also track your refund, view or change your return, view your notice of assessment, receive email notifications, and more.

- Check CRA processing times.

To find out how long it takes to handle a request, use the "check CRA processing times" tool on Canada.ca.

This tool gives you a target completion date and can calculate completion times for the various services. It often provides the same information that a CRA contact centre agent will give you if you call to ask about the status of your file.

- Check telephone wait times.

Estimated wait times are available on the contact information page and can also provide them when you're on hold.

- Create a personal identification number (PIN) to authenticate yourself on the phone.

You can create a PIN in My Account before you call, or a contact centre agent can create one for you.

- Find answers using the FAQs - frequently asked questions.

You can check out the "questions and answers about filing your taxes" page. It's updated regularly during tax season to include changes that may affect you.

- Make the most of "tax tips," which provide specific information about a variety of topics.

- Paper filers can download a copy online at "Get a T1 income tax package."

Even with these measures, the CRA receives a large volume of calls. Unfortunately, this means callers may experience long wait times to speak with an agent.

April is DAFFODIL MONTH

*Where there's awareness
there's hope*

Join the fight against cancer

Cancer is the leading cause of death in this country, with some 30 per cent of Canadians dying from one type of cancer or another. In April, Daffodil Month, the Canadian Cancer Society asks the public to spare a thought for all those who are affected by this disease and to do something concrete in the fight against cancer.

Despite progress — the survival rate is now at 63 per cent — more Canadians die of cancer than any other disease. That's why funding activities are organized throughout the month of April to help prevent cancer and fund research; it's so that one day we can win the battle against this disease that kills 210 Canadians every day.

Young Women
get breast cancer too!

Take care of yourself ♥

TEAM SHAN

You can contribute to the fight against cancer by purchasing a bouquet of daffodils, which are a symbol of renewal, hope and courage. You can also wear a daffodil pin as a sign of solidarity with those who are fighting for their lives; you'll be doing so along with all their families, and with the families of those who have lost their battle. You can also donate time or money or help raise funds.

Lastly, you can fight against cancer by taking care of your health and minimizing your risk of developing this disease. Even though you have no control over your age and your genes, you can control other risk factors, such as smoking, alcohol use, physical inactivity, chronic stress and sun exposure.

KISS THE BRIDE

3 extraordinary marriage proposals to inspire you

Have you decided to ask your partner to marry you? If you're wondering how to make sure the moment is perfect, here are three incredible stories of how people popped the question. (Spoiler alert: they all said yes!)

1. Filmmaker Lee Loechler took his high school sweetheart, Sthuthi David, to a special screening of Sleeping Beauty in the Boston area. Toward the end of the film, as the prince approached the sleeping princess, the animation changed to feature characters who resembled Lee and Sthuthi. After waking her with a kiss and holding out a ring, the cartoon prince Lee tossed the ring box off screen for his real-life self to catch. Lee got down on one knee and, in front of friends and family members who'd been sitting at the back of the theatre, he asked Sthuthi to marry him.
2. Politician Tim Wilson delivered a speech on the floor of the Australian parliament in favour of a bill to legalize same-sex marriage. The bill had passed the senate the previous week and was being debated in the lower house. As the member of parliament concluded his speech, he turned his attention to the public gallery where his long-time fiancé, Ryan Patrick Bolger, was sitting. The couple had been engaged for nearly a decade but were unable to make it official. Tim looked up at Ryan and proposed once again. The bill passed and, three months later, the couple married.

3. Inspired by videos of flash mobs she'd seen online, Isabelle Marin put together an elaborate performance for her partner, Jean-François Dumais, at a shopping mall in the Quebec City region. A violinist serenaded him in the food court and a dance troupe performed in the atrium. Friends and family members emerged from the gathering crowd to hand Jean-François roses. Then, as local singer (and friend) Mélissa Bédard belted out a ballad, Isabelle made her entrance on an escalator and got down on one knee.

If there's one thing to take away from these stories, it's that you can be as creative and theatrical as you want during a proposal — the important thing is to give it your personal touch.
