TEMISKAMING SHORES — The Law Enforcement Torch Run has become the single biggest grassroots financial contributor and raises the public profile of the Special Olympics in Canada.

In Temiskaming Shores the run enjoys tremendous support and it should continue that tradition as the Temiskaming Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) prepares to host the 2023 Torch Run on Thursday, June 8.

Since the Torch Run began its partnership with Special Olympics Ontario, the number of registered athletes has grown from under 4,000 to greater than 26,000 athletes today.

And in excess of $46 million has been raised from the Torch Runs for Special Olympic athletes and the competitions they take part in.

The June 8 run will leave the McDonald's Restaurant parking lot at 10 a.m. travelling to the Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena in New Liskeard.

Police officers, Special Olympic athletes and members of the public will be taking part in the run, said organizer Detective Constable Mike Audette.

"This is my 13th year with the run and we hope to see lots of people supporting us, not only with the run but the t-shirt sales, the car wash and barbecue after the run at the OPP detachment."

The red 2023 t-shirts are available from Audette for $20 each.

All the money raised locally stays here to support athletes in the Temiskaming region, noted Audette. Local Special Olympic athletes take part in bowling, swimming and track and field events.

For more information on the 2023 Temiskaming Torch Run call the OPP detachment at 705-647-8400.

Bike Festival wheeling and dealing free rides

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Special) - Bike Month 2023 is kicking off with the Community Bike Festival, an event created to help everyone have a bike to ride this summer.

Community members have donated dozens of bicycles of various sizes. Volunteers have checked each bike and repaired them to be safe and road-ready. Donated bikes are now ready for new homes and will be given out on a first-come-first-served basis. All bikes are free - there is no need to give a bike to receive a bike.

The festival will take place at 340 Armstrong Street North, New Liskeard, on Saturday, June 10, from 11 a.m. - 1 p.m. with registration starting at 10:30 a.m.

"Riding a bike is a fun and affordable way to get around. It's good for our physical and mental health, and it's an environmentally friendly travel choice," says festival coordinator Erika Aelterman.

"Many of the bikes we receive are in great condition and we have some available for the whole family."

In addition to the bike giveaways, the festival will have a bike decorating station, a mini bike rodeo, helmet fit station, and a smoothie bike for folks to try.

Centre de santé communautaire du Temiskaming will give adults an opportunity to try out one of their tricycles that are available for loan throughout the district. Attendees can purchase a sizzling hot dog barbecued by the New Liskeard Lions club.

This community event is made possible through the help of numerous volunteers as well as several community partners including the City of Temiskaming Shores, Timiskaming Health Unit, New Liskeard Property Corp., Centre de sante communautaire du Timiskaming, and RE/MAX Pursuit Realty. The Bike Festival has also benefitted from generous donations from 100 Women Who Care and the Temiskaming Foundation.

The Bike Exchange is one of many Bike Month initiatives being promoted by Temiskaming Shores' Active Travel Committee.

"The City of Temiskaming Shores is a proud partner of the upcoming Community Bike Exchange," says Mathew Bahm, Director of Recreation.

"This will be the fourth year that the bike exchange committee has run this event, and so far, the initiative has given away close to 225 bicycles!"

More information about the Bike Festival can be found on the Timiskaming Health Unit Facebook page or by contacting the health unit.

What You Should Know About Lyme Disease

Lyme disease is a potentially serious infection that you can get if you're bitten by an infected blacklegged tick (also called a deer tick).

If you work outdoors or participate in outdoor activities such as golfing, hunting, camping, fishing, hiking, and walking in fields, you may be at greater risk for tick bites.

Cover up and wear:

- light-coloured clothing, so it's easier to see ticks
- closed-toed shoes
- long-sleeved shirts
- long pants, tucked into your socks
- special clothing designed to repel ticks

Use insect repellent

Use an insect repellent, or bug spray, that says "DEET" or "icaridin" on it. Put it on your clothes and exposed skin. Always read the label for directions on how to use it.

Put clothes in the dryer

Kill any ticks that might be on your clothing by putting your clothes in a dryer on high heat for at least 10 minutes before washing them.

Check yourself and your children

After being outdoors, check for ticks on yourself and your children. Look:

- behind your knees
- on your head
- in your belly button
- in your groin area
- in your underarm area
- on the back of your body - use a mirror, or ask someone to check for you

It's a good idea to have a shower as soon as you can to wash off any ticks.

Check your pets for ticks

After being outdoors, check your pets' skin and remove any ticks you find. Ask your veterinarian about options to help keep ticks off your pets.

If you have been bitten by a tick and develop fever, headache, muscle and joint pains, fatigue, and a skin rash, especially one that looks like a red bull's eye in the weeks after being bitten, promptly contact your primary care provider. Bring the tick with you to your medical appointment, if possible, as it may help your provider assess your illness.

The Temagami Medical Centre and Family Health Team... committed to keeping you as healthy as possible!

EDITORIAL

Hidden in plain view

While we don't see it in quite the same numbers, it is a sight for people in our region to travel to other Northern communities and see people huddled in blankets on city streetscapes.

The tragedy that these homeless people are experiencing is not new to our region, despite the obvious visibility of the situation in other areas.

What is out of sight should not necessarily be put out of mind.

Those with knowledge of poverty and the housing crisis know full well homelessness and destitution are not limited to big cities.

Individuals and families in our region are feeling the realities of homelessness and poverty.

With high inflation, food banks across the region are reporting an increase in clients.

The issue of homelessness and poverty is felt by people in one of the richest provinces in the country.

It is all too easy to pretend this isn't our problem, and it doesn't exist in our region.

We can't see it, so isn't this problem non-existent?

The Ford government is at least partly responsible for dealing with addiction, mental illness, and a housing crisis and gouging by large corporations upon its citizens.

The provincial government instead downloads the social issues onto municipalities who do not have the means to fully address them.

The small municipalities in our region are already strapped for cash dealing with shrinking tax bases, aging populations, wage increases, fuel costs and liability issues.

The District of Temiskaming Social Services Administration Board (DTSSAB) is left to use its reserve funds to provide housing the best way it can.

While more and more people are excluded from the rental market and home ownership, the need for social housing is going to get worse.

Homelessness affects us all, whether it is visible or not.

The provincial government has to take its responsibilities seriously for the social burden placed on municipalities across the north through the DTSSAB payments that are not negotiable.

And it needs to fully support the social service agencies facing the tsunami of homelessness and poverty that exists in the north.

Don't bet on it!

Sue Nielsen

"I can't afford any artificial joy." The Pursuit of Happiness

As a writer I am always trying to see the world as clearly as I can and not in an idealized way.

I offer the following commentary as I see it.

The Stanley Cup playoffs have been incredibly exciting this year haven't they?

I was watching online casino betting ads when a hockey game broke out.

No, really, I was blown away by the gambling advertisements that seem to be taking over professional sports.

Between periods of a hockey game I watched superstar athletes Wayne Gretzky and Connor McDavid promoting online gambling. This was making me want to change the channel.

This gambling narrative is a lot like getting a stick across the face from a player like Donald Brashear - you feel violated.

How about the 10 million dollar duos of Toronto Maple Leafs Mitch Marner and Auston Matthews also promoting online gambling?

That's all fine and dandy for those multi-millionaires who have tons of disposable income, but for the average Ontarian, things could get offside real quick.

I have never been in a casino nor have I any interest in gambling online.

Why can't we just watch a hockey game without all that gambling crap?

Through Bill C-18, Canada opened up sport betting and I think it is unethical.

Gambling addictions have ruined more than one household and family.

Nearly two-thirds of Canadians aged 15 and over reported gambling online, says a Statistics Canada survey.

I applaud the efforts of Karl Subban, father of former NHLer P. K. Subban, who wants to ban the online gambling ads on National Hockey League television broadcasts.

He said, "I'd be watching the hockey game and there are these ads and they didn't leave a good taste in my mouth, a good feeling in my stomach."

He brought up the point that using superstar players to sell gambling ads is a bad idea as youth look up to those players.

Far be it for me to tell anyone what he or she should do as far as gambling goes. Rock on if that's your thing. All I am saying is don't push it on me while I am enjoying a hockey game.

There's been way too much warping of the game of hockey over the years with the 10,000 decibel AC/DC music blaring, the cheerleaders and the high priced arena seats with franchises located in desert states rather than Canadian cities.

As if the game of hockey isn't interesting enough? Remember the blue puck idea?

Thanks Gary Bettman.

Maybe I am an old-fashioned hockey purist but I believe you watch hockey because it is distinctly Canadian, it's our game and it's the best game you can name.

Are your electronics and appliances ready for upgrades?

DISTRICT (NC) - How often should you be upgrading your home appliances and electronics?

If you've lived in the same home for more than a decade, you could be right on schedule. Many household essentials have a 10-year lifespan, so here are five to keep an eye on to ensure optimal performance.

REFRIGERATOR

The average refrigerator can last 10 to 12 years, so its technology may be out of date when it comes time to replace it. If yours is older, upgrading to a newer model can make for more efficient energy consumption and help lower your bills.

WASHER AND DRYER

You can expect your washer and dryer set to last for 10 to 13 years, but if your laundry machines are leaking, making strange noises or taking a long time to dry small loads, it's time to upgrade. While these appliances are an investment, you could be saving money in the end, as efficient use of water and electricity are a concern for older models.

MICROWAVE

High-usage kitchen appliances tend to wear out faster, and your microwave is no exception.

The average microwave lasts about seven years with normal use. If your food is burning or the plate isn't rotating correctly, head to your local appliance store.

LAPTOP

The average laptop in Canada is four years old, but a well-maintained laptop has a lifespan of about three to five years. If your laptop is slowing down and struggles with basic tasks, it's time for a replacement. If you're in the market for a new laptop and not sure where to start, look for a model that has the Intel Evo sticker. It's a quality assurance badge that can help take the guesswork out of buying.

TELEVISION

The industry standard for an LED television set is 100,000 hours, or about 10 years, however, the higher you set your contrast and brightness, the more power your TV uses. Over time, this decreases your TV's longevity, meaning you'll need to replace it sooner.

Still not sure whether you should repair or replace? Here's a good rule of thumb to follow when something goes wrong with your home technology: if it's more than halfway through its lifespan and will cost half as much to repair as to replace, it usually makes sense to go for the replacement. You may save headaches, more costly repairs and money in the long run. Just be sure to recycle your old devices to help reduce your carbon footprint.

Enjoy the outdoors without a tick

DISTRICT (Special) - You can enjoy the return of warm weather and outdoor activities by preventing tick bites that can cause Lyme disease and other infections like anaplasmosis.

Before your outdoor activity, Health Canada (Ontario Region) has tips so you can take the following precautions to prevent tick bites:

- Wear light coloured long-sleeved shirts and pants to spot ticks more easily
 - Tuck your shirt into your pants, and pull your socks over your pant legs
 - Use bug spray containing DEET or Icaridin on your skin and clothing (always follow the directions on the label)
 - Walk on cleared paths or walkways
- When you return, take time to specifically inspect these 10 areas of your body (favorite tick hiding spots):
- head and hair
 - in and around the ears
 - under the arms
 - around the chest
 - back (use a mirror or ask for help)
 - waist
 - belly button
 - around the groin
 - legs and behind the knees
 - between the toes

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

You may not notice a tick bite because ticks are tiny and their bites are usually painless. Feel your skin for bumps and see if there are any tiny black dots. Most people get Lyme disease after being bitten by:

- a nymph, which is about the size of a poppy seed (1.15-millimetres)
- an adult female tick, which is about the size of a sesame seed (3 mm)

Found a tick? Remove it immediately to reduce the risk of infection. To do this properly, watch the Lyme disease video: How to properly remove a tick.

Don't forget to also check your pets.

To learn more, visit Canada.ca/LymeDisease. You will also find awareness resources available in multiple languages and for Indigenous communities.

Miller Paving introduces itself to area youth

Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES - Miller Paving Northern held a Discovery Day for youth at its New Liskeard base May 17.

About 100 students attended from area secondary schools in New Liskeard, Englehart and Kirkland Lake.

Miller Paving Northern vice-president J.P. Breton said in an interview at the site that the Discovery Day this year was the first of that size that the company had held.

A similar event was held in 2022 but on a smaller scale, he said.

He noted that staff have been working on preparing the event for the past few months.

"This is a pilot project and we want to refine it. Next year we want to do it in all our Northern operations," he explained, such as North Bay, Timmins, New Liskeard and Dryden.

The main goal of the Discovery Day is to get young people interested in careers with Miller, he explained.

There are many different kinds of careers, and if young people are interested in remaining in the area after finishing school, Miller Paving Limited Northern can provide an opportunity to "stick around Temiskaming Shores and work in a great place," he said. The company wants to promote a range of job opportunities for youth, he added.

"What you see on the road is only a portion of what we do."

There are always job opportunities at the company, he said.

Choosing a wedding dress can be both exciting and nerve-racking. To help you create the look of your dreams, here are a few tips.

MAKE A PLAN

Before you try on a single gown, make a list of the criteria you're looking for in a wedding dress. Do you want a certain cut, style or length? Do you want to show off your shoulders or hourglass figure? Establishing some criteria will allow you to narrow down the choices.

USE PROPS

In addition to your list of criteria, bring along pictures of dresses to show to the bridal store consultant. They can use the information you provide to quickly find several different gowns for you to try.

TRY DIFFERENT STYLES

After the first fitting, you may realize that the dresses that look good in pictures aren't the right fit for your figure. Don't worry, your consultant can suggest other styles until you find the dress of your dreams.

Additionally, keep in mind that all wedding dresses need to be altered. Therefore, don't be dissuaded if a dress is too long, short or loose.

Whether you decide to buy or rent a wedding dress, choose the one that makes you feel most beautiful. For inspiration, visit your local bridal stores.

Want a second opinion?
 Bring along someone you trust who knows your style and can give you honest feedback.

Safety Authority offers tips for dealing with power outages

TORONTO (Special) – The organization that administers provincial safety regulations cautions Ontarians to be aware of some specific hazards when the power goes off.

The Technical Standards and Safety Authority (TSSA) says when key energy infrastructures can be temporarily out of commission, it's tempting for residents to turn to alternatives that may be unsafe.

The TSSA outlined some of the dangers in a recent news release.

- Portable, fuel-fired appliances designed for outdoor use are never safe to use indoors. They can cause carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning, fires and other harmful risks.

- Generators used outside must be situated away from open windows, doors and vents. CO produced by a generator can seep into these openings.

- CO gas can also accumulate in car ports, garages and covered patios. Never use portable, fuel-fired generators, propane BBQs or other fuel-burning outdoor appliances in these areas.

- Drying a basement with commercial ventilating fans can create a negative pressure environment. This can cause CO from appliances in the home to spill back into the home, so ensure there is proper ventilation during the procedure.

“CO is a leading cause of accidental poisonings in Ontario,” said Sam Sadeghi, director of the TSSA’s fuels safety program.

“That’s why it is so important that Ontario residents do not compound a hazardous situation, such as a flood, by exposing themselves and their families to CO by using fuel-fired devices in poorly ventilated areas.”

- Using an elevator in a flooding building is a safety hazard. Water can accumulate in elevator shafts or adversely affect an elevator’s operation leading to entrapment or injury.

The TSSA regulates the safety of a wide range of equipment and personnel, from amusement devices, boilers and pressure vessels, to elevating devices, fuels, operating engineers, and ski lifts.

Its range of safety services include public education authorization, engineering design review, inspections, investigations, compliance support, enforcement, and prosecution activities.
