THU launches new opioid surveillance tool

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff/Special) – In the first three months of 2023, paramedics responded to seven incidents in Timiskaming in which opioid use was suspected.

In the first six months of this year, the district saw six suspected drug-related deaths.

The data can be found on a new online surveillance tool launched by the Timiskaming Health Unit.

The opioid surveillance dashboard was launched to both inform the public about the current local situation and to alert it when new or toxic drugs are circulating.

“It’s important to let people know when there are dangerous substances in the community that have been associated with increases in overdoses and poisoning,” said Erin Cowan, the health unit’s director of strategic services and health promotion and chief nursing officer, in a news release.

Health units have been directed by the province to set up early warning systems to track, identify and respond when new toxic substances are spotted locally, for example, or if drug-related poisonings are on the rise.

The THU’s dashboard posts information from provincial databases, local emergency services and community agencies.

Members of the public can submit information anonymously through the online Bad Drug reporting system on the THU’s website.

Opioids are a large group of pain-relieving drugs that include morphine, OxyContin and fentanyl, a

In 2022, the Public Health Agency of Canada reports there were 7,328 apparent opioid toxicity deaths – an average of 20 per day – across the country.

Just over 81 per cent involved fentanyl, and 79 per cent involved non-pharmaceutical opioids.

In Temiskaming, the health unit is prepared to issue an alert and step up education when a new toxic drug is identified in the area or opioid-related incidents are on the rise.

In June, it issued a drug alert when tranq/xylazine, a veterinary tranquilizer, was found.

Act. The legislation protects anyone at the scene of an overdose from being charged with drug possession or breaches of legal orders related to simple possession.

The health unit also has information about where to find harm reduction supplies and naloxone, which can temporarily reverse the effects of an opioid overdose.

The health unit offers the following advice to anyone who uses drugs or knows someone who does:

- If possible, avoid using alone. If you are alone, call the National Overdose Response Service at 1-888-668-NORS (6677) or call a friend.
- Test a small amount before you use.
- Avoid mixing drugs.

- Ensure that emergency services can be contacted in case an overdose occurs.
- Keep a naloxone kit on hand. They're available for free from pharmacies and health unit offices.
- Call 911 immediately if someone starts to show signs of an overdose and/or cannot be resuscitated after naloxone is administered.

Melanoma Skin Cancer Awareness

Melanoma skin cancer often starts as an abnormal mole on the skin. A mole is a common non-cancerous growth. It's normally a small, round, or oval spot that is usually brown, tan or pink. It may be raised or flat. Melanoma is most frequently found on the back of men and on the back and legs of women. It is the least common, but most serious, type of skin cancer.

Risk Factors:

- Personal or family history of melanoma.
- Presence of moles--especially if there are many, or if they are unusual or large.
- Sun sensitivity--sun burning easily, or difficulty tanning.
- Light colored skin, eyes, and hair.
- History of excessive sun exposure.
- Diseases that suppress the immune system.
- Occupational exposure to coal tar, pitch, creosote, arsenic compounds, or radium.

The ABCDE rule below can help you look for the common signs and symptoms of melanoma skin cancer:

A is for asymmetry – one half of a mole does not have the same shape as the other half.

B is for border – the edge of a mole is uneven (irregular). It can look jagged, notched, or blurry. The colour may spread into the area around the mole.

C is for colour – the colour of a mole is not the same throughout. It could have shades of tan, brown and black. Sometimes areas of blue, grey, red, pink, or white are also seen.

D is for diameter – the size of a mole is larger than 6mm (1/4 inch) across, which is about the size of a pencil eraser.

E is for evolving – there is a change in the colour, size, shape or feel of the mole. The mole may become itchy or you may have a burning or tingling feeling.

Other signs and symptoms of melanoma skin cancer include:

- an area that does not heal
- a mole or sore that oozes or bleeds
- broken skin with an open wound (ulceration)

Melanoma is an aggressive form of cancer that can be life-threatening. Schedule an appointment with your primary care provider if you have any of these skin changes.

Committed to keeping you as healthy as possible!

EDITORIAL

The impoverished

The Bank of Canada has once again raised the prime interest rate, this time to five per cent, to ward off the negative affects of inflation.

Canada's inflation rate was four per cent in June and higher in the month of May.

Commodities such as gas and food, along with mortgage rates, are oblivious to inflation-fighting ideas like raising interest rates as those prices are not going down fast enough.

Food prices are up 8.8 per cent over last year and mortgage interest costs up 30.1 per cent.

While the Bank of Canada stands by its interest rate hikes to control inflation, the average Canadian might wonder why the Bank of Canada doled out $73 million in bonuses to its employees last year.

The Bank of Canada is a crown corporation, paid by taxpayer dollars. Canadians are struggling with a 40-year high inflation rate and high interest rates the bank has intentionally set and yet handing out bonuses to its employees seems appropriate?

A report by the Canadian Taxpayers Federation says those bonuses handed out to bank staff are mostly rubber stamped and not related to performance.

Recent data from Statistics Canada says income inequality in the country is growing at a rapid pace, showing the gap in net worth between the wealthy and least wealthy has increased by 1.1 percentage points in the first quarter of this year.

The Bank of Canada interest rates have hurt low-income households with variable mortgage payments and with putting food on the table and gas in the car.

The average Canadian might want the Bank of Canada and the federal government to look at corporate greed and gouging by big banks, grocery chains and oil and gas companies that are hurting low and middle income Canadians.

Certainly the government could look at a number of rebates or tax credits to pass on to low-income families for home heating, food prices, etc.

People are spending more on groceries but they are buying less.

At a time when half of older Canadians admit they have no retirement savings, the cost of living is forcing them onto the street or even into hospitals.

And most of all, the government should look at measures to stop employee bonuses not tied to performance and place limits on corporate profiteering.

No one deserves to live in poverty while big banks and corporations make record profits.

Of the spirit

"I value the spirits that guide me to what I need most in my life, not what I want."

Lindsay Cote

The canoe and the lake is a conduit to the spiritual world for me.

I have discovered this over the years.

When I sit in a canoe I am on a journey of self-discovery towards a deeper understanding of who I am outside of others' expectations, away from technology and the world of endless noise.

I am, for a brief period of time, able to live in complete freedom.

I am a woman seeking her own truth in her own way and that way comes via my 16-foot slice of heaven canoe I call "on assignment."

Because when someone asks where I am, I say I am "on assignment."

Once upon a time we all lived closer to nature and it is that communion with the wild world that calls to me and excites me.

It is a world of partial risk that I look forward to. A world without risk is a world of no growth and I wish to grow as a person each and every day.

There is a great deal in life we can't control nor should we. This is the stuff of wonder and amazement.

When I step outside of my tent and look up at a million stars in the night sky, I am humbled by the enormity of the universe.

Our society loves comfort, safety and convenience - the outdoors takes that away from you.

Mind you, glamping brings it all back, ha, ha.

I recall when I tripped for eight days in the backcountry of Temagami with 10 other women. We got lost twice, we had wind, rain, hot weather and even hail that challenged us to no end.

But we managed to get through it all. Not giving up, it's a valuable life lesson.

Overcoming challenges lets us know we can face other life challenges and overcome them.

Our troubled youth - get them in a canoe out in the wilderness for a week or two and witness the transformation that happens to them.

Nature is a classroom in itself.

I believe balancing our busy lives with simple adventure and fun is not only a luxury, it is a necessity.

Paddling changes you, makes you crave the lake and its peace more than ever.

I have gone through a bit of a transformation in recent years. I am hopefully kinder, more humble, and more respectful of the land and all living things.

Sue Nielsen

Not that I was not all those things before, but they are more meaningful to me now.

I may be wrong but I think the solution to the opioid crisis, the hatred on social media and the violence all around us can be purged through the outdoors.

A First Nation elder once told me a canoe has a "spirit" and to honour that spirit.

I really don't know what I would do without a canoe in my life.

Have a wonderful week everyone!

Record number of fire deaths sparks call to action

INSPECTION

Inspection of Herbicide Project for Temagami Forest

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNR) invites you to inspect the planned herbicide project for the 2023 season. As part of our ongoing efforts to regenerate and protect Ontario's forests, selected stands on the Temagami Forest (see map) will be sprayed with herbicide to control competing vegetation, starting on or about: August 5, 2023.

The project description and project plan for the herbicide project is available electronically for public inspection by contacting the Temagami Forest Management Corporation during normal business hours and on the Natural Resources Information Portal at <https://nrp.mnr.gov.on.ca/s/fmp-online> beginning July 6, 2023 until March 31, 2024 when the Annual Work Schedule expires.

First Nation and Métis communities and interested and affected persons and organizations can arrange a remote meeting with MNR staff to discuss the herbicide project. For more information, please contact:

VAUGHAN (Special) – A record number of fire deaths in Ontario has spurred the Ontario Fire Marshal to call for a day of action.

In 2023, Ontario recorded 133 fire fatalities, the highest number of fire-related deaths in 20 years.

The troubling statistics have spurred Fire Marshal Jon Pegg to call on all Ontarians to test their smoke alarms September 28.

“Within Ontario, we’ve seen a significant rise in fatal fires and the number of people we have lost in these fires is very concerning,” said Pegg in a news release announcing the initiative.

“Entire families have been lost to fire and the most troubling part is that the majority of these fires did not have a working smoke alarm in the home.

“Had there been working smoke alarms and a well thought-out and practised home fire escape plan, these deaths could have been prevented.”

The law has required smoke alarms to be installed on every storey of a residence in Ontario since 2006.

“Test Your Smoke Alarm Day” marks the first day of action to promote installing and testing working smoke alarms in every home in Ontario.

It’s part of a broader strategy by the Office of the Fire Marshal (OFM) to bring attention to the importance of having working smoke alarms.

The OFM is asking all Ontarians to test the smoke alarms in their residence on September 28 by pressing the test button and making sure they are in working order.

Only working smoke alarms will alert you to a fire and give you and your loved ones enough time to safely escape.

“Smoke alarms save lives. Every home in Ontario should have one,” said Ontario Solicitor General Michael Kerzner.

“Smoke alarms are widely available, easy to install and effective. I urge all people to get one and make sure you check the batteries on a regular basis. It’s one of the best ways to keep your family safe from fire.”

Though fire safety experts advise that smoke alarms be tested at least once a month, a recent survey suggests that only 15 per cent of people do so.

“We need to change the channel on how Ontario residents think about smoke alarms and if we can start with getting into the habit of installing and regularly testing alarms, we can save lives,” said Rob Grimwood, president of the Ontario Association of Fire Chiefs.

You can be confident your smoke alarm is working, he said, only if it’s tested once a month, batteries are replaced once a year, and the alarm is no more than 10 years old.

Tips to enjoy nature in your golden years

(NC) - Many of us love to spend time in the great outdoors. Sometimes unsteady balance, arthritic joints, a lung condition or other health or mobility differences are what's making outdoor adventures uncomfortable. But there are still plenty of ways to enjoy an escape into nature.

GET THE DIRT

Try to research the lay of the land at any campsite, trail or protected park to see what you're working with. Look online or contact the destination.

Ask about the size and location of bathroom facilities. Find out if the terrain is paved or grassy; soft or hard; steep or flat. Are there places to pause for a rest?

This information can help you choose a trail or campsite and prepare accordingly.

GET GLAMPING

Short for glamorous camping, glamping is the ongoing trend of making camping more comfortable and luxurious. It doesn't have to be fancy or expensive, it just takes out some of the more complicated or uncomfortable parts of the experience.

A raised sleeping platform or cot is a glamping go-to because it offers a more comfortable night's rest than the hard ground. A bed off the ground also makes it easier to get up in the morning, independently or with assistance.

USE SUPPORT

There are plenty of tools that can make outdoor activities more accessible. Depending on your needs, devices could range from walking poles or supportive shoes, to beach and off-road wheelchairs, or tents with wheelchair storage. You might be able to reserve, rent or borrow some of these items.

Working with an occupational therapist (OT) can also help you discover and use tools and approaches to make camping easier for people, no matter their mobility.

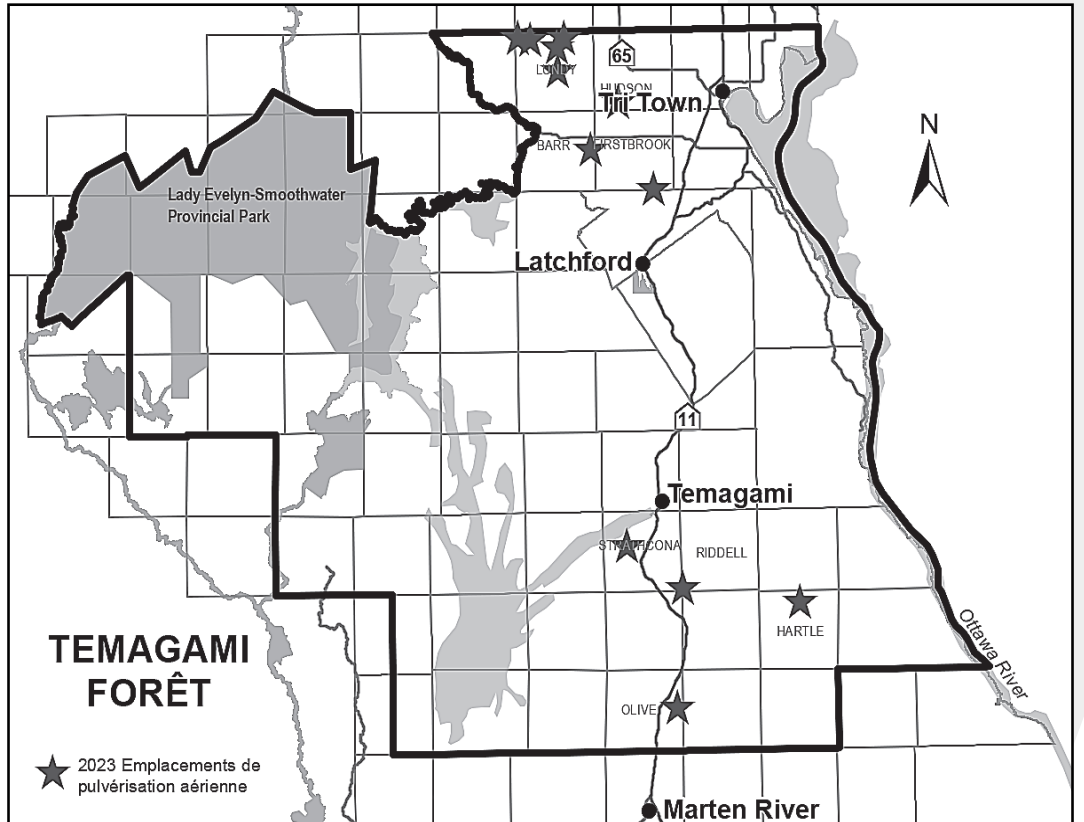

Take advantage of what will make your excursion safer and more enjoyable.

You can find more information and confirm a professional is licensed through the College of Occupational Therapists of Ontario at coto.org/ot.

EVERY SECOND COUNTS!
PLAN
2 WAYS OUT!

If a fire occurred in your home tonight would your family get out safely?

A fast, pre-planned escape is critical to survival. There are no second chances in a fire.

Follow these simple steps:

Test your smoke alarms—every month!

Discuss with everyone in your home how each person will get out in a fire. Practice your plan!

Know two ways out of each room, if possible.

Determine who's going to help young children, older adults, people with disabilities or anyone else who needs help escaping.

Have a meeting place outside your home.

Call 9-1-1 or your emergency number from outside the home.

GET OUT, STAY OUT!
Never re-enter a burning building!

EVERY SECOND COUNTS!
Fire and smoke can travel so quickly that despite their best efforts, firefighters may not be able to rescue you or your family if a fire occurs in your home. You need to be out of your home when the firefighters arrive!

For more information, contact your local fire department.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC CONSULTATION CITY OF TEMISKAMING SHORES MARINA DEVELOPMENT

THE BASICS

The City of Temiskaming Shores is initiating a process to investigate the potential sale and development of the New Liskeard Marina property. The property is located at 199 Riverside Drive in New Liskeard. It is approximately 3.57 acres in size, is zoned C1 in the City's zoning by-law and designated Recreation Area in the City's official plan.

The property has been underutilized by the City while the building is also in need of $270,000 in renovations in the near future to maintain current service levels. To best understand the community's desires, City Council has directed staff to open a public consultation asking for input on the property's potential development by the private sector to better inform an Expression-of-Interest (EOI) process.

Regardless of any development, the City intends to maintain ownership of the boardwalk along the water's edge and any submissions from developers must have provisions for maintaining public access to the marina docks and boat launch.

THE PROCESS

The City is first gathering the public's input on the property to better inform potential developers about the needs and desires of residents. Following the public consultation process, City staff will create a report summarizing all the public comments received and release the EOI.

The EOI process is expected to conclude in late October with Council ultimately deciding if the City will then enter into negotiations with any potential developer. The EOI process does not tie the City to the sale of this property and any potential development will still be required to complete the necessary public consultation processes for zoning and official plan changes (if required).

YOUR INVOLVEMENT IS IMPORTANT! WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU:

A key component of the whole process will be consultation with stakeholders, and the general public. Anyone with an interest in providing their input to Council has the opportunity.

At this time, the City is requesting your comments regarding this property and its potential development through an online survey at www.temiskamingshores.ca/marinaproperty/ alternatively you may scan the QR code to access the online survey. Comments can also be mailed or dropped off to the address below.

All comments must be received by August 25, 2023.
