City craving food waste recycling

Diane Johnston

Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – The appetite to reduce food waste in the city appears strong.

Interest in a pilot project using countertop recyclers for food scraps has been so high that Temiskaming Shores is increasing its purchase of the units by more than half.

Late last month, the city invited applications from residents wanting to buy a small appliance that converts household food waste into a soil additive.

The subsidized cost of a unit is $150 or $300, depending on its size.

Applications opened January 22, and within two days the city had received 50. By February 2, that number had risen to 165.

After reviewing the submissions, it was determined that 154 met eligibility criteria.

The city had originally committed to purchasing 100 units.

That number was “somewhat of an unknown” because public interest in the project was uncertain, said Steve Burnett, the city’s manager of environmental services, told council earlier this week.

But it was always staff’s intention to return to council with a recommendation to revise that number, depending on registrations, he said.

At its committee-of-the-whole meeting February 6, city council agreed to purchase another 54 units.

A participating household will dump its leftovers and food scraps into the unit’s bucket.

City craving food waste recycling

Over four to eight hours, the electricity-powered unit converts the organic waste into what's described as a dry, sterile, odourless, nutrient-rich byproduct that can be added to the garden.

Participants will track their usage over 12 weeks and pass the data over to the city.

It'll then calculate the amount of food waste diverted from landfill. It may also have an idea of the amount of methane – a potent greenhouse gas produced by decomposing organic waste – that was not generated as a result of the project.

At the end of the pilot program, participants can continue using the units.

"It's nice to see that the interest is there in the community," commented Mayor Jeff Laferriere.

He's eager to see the volume of waste that the units will keep out of the landfill.

When the units will arrive and be distributed is not yet known.

Registrations will remain open, with applicants put on a waiting list in case a unit becomes available.

City supports call for firefighters' tax credit increase

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff) – The city has endorsed a call to increase the tax credit that can be claimed by volunteer firefighters and search and rescue volunteers.

It was initiated by the Municipality of Wawa, which urged the federal government to support a change to the Income Tax Act that would increase the credit from $3,000 to $10,000.

The requested change is "a no-brainer," commented Mayor Jeff Laferriere after Temiskaming Shores council met December 19.

He said volunteer firefighters put their lives at risk every single day to protect their communities.

Increasing the tax credit is "a small, small, small ask" in order to support what the volunteers do across Canada, he said.

Canada has some 90,000 volunteer firefighters and 8,000 search and rescue volunteers, noted the Municipality of Wawa in its November 7 resolution.

While they may receive some form of on-call pay, honorarium or funding for expenses, "they do not draw a living wage," it said.

But without them, "thousands of communities in Canada would have no fire and emergency response coverage," it continued.

Its resolution supported a private member's bill introduced by New Democrat MP Gord Johns, who represents the BC riding of Courtenay-Alberni.

The bill received first reading in the House of Commons December 8, 2022.

Kidney Disease – Early Detection and Prevention

Kidney disease usually progresses silently, often destroying most of the kidney function before causing any symptoms. There are two key tests used to detect kidney damage and to assess how well your kidneys are working.

Blood Test:

A blood test is used to measure your serum creatinine level. This helps to identify how well the kidneys are filtering the blood. Creatinine is a waste product made from muscle use and the breakdown of the protein you eat.

Urinalysis

Simple lab tests such as urinalysis (a urine dipstick), which looks for blood and a protein called albumin in the urine, are also useful in detecting kidney damage at an early stage. The filters of the kidney do not normally allow protein (albumin) in the urine so if protein is detected, it is a sign that the filters of the kidney are being damaged.

Symptoms

Uremia is a Greek word that means "urine in the blood". Uremia develops as the kidneys fail. Signs and symptoms that may occur with uremia:

- Weight loss
- Weakness
- vomiting
- loss of appetite
- shortness of breath
- leg cramps
- itching
- chest pain
- easy bruising
- swelling in ankles and legs
- Fatigue
- nausea
- bad taste in the mouth
- restless legs
- forgetfulness
- difficulty sleeping
- cold intolerance
- skin color changes
- decreased sexual desire

Steps to Help Prevent Kidney Disease

- Have your blood pressure checked regularly. Uncontrolled high blood pressure can speed up the natural course of any underlying kidney disease.
- If you suffer from diabetes, make sure that it is under control. A growing number of kidney patients are people with diabetes.
- Be very careful about taking non-prescription medications, particularly pain killers. Discuss all over-the-counter medications with your health care provider or pharmacist before taking them.

If you are a patient of the Temagami Family Health Team, and have not had your blood pressure checked in some time, feel free to drop by to use our free BP kiosk or you can schedule an appointment with one of our primary care providers.

EDITORIAL

A victory for consumers

Never underestimate what a group of disgruntled consumers can do when faced with a misjudgement of their intelligence.

Loblaw Ltd. faced a barrage of criticism about eliminating its 50 per cent discount on foods nearing its best before date.

The grocery chain disgusted consumers when it decided to reduce its markdown on discounted food items from 50 to 30 per cent.

Some felt it was mean-spirited and it was a move to make more money when many are struggling to put food on the table.

After the food chain received a backlash of negative comments about the move, they decided to reinstate the 50 per cent discount on those food items close to expiry dates.

We can all give a collective fist pump for the consumers who challenged this decision. The consumer has won a tiny battle for fairness against a major food chain in Canada.

We love those David and Goliath scenarios don't we?

This is just another example of a large corporation not reading the room or seeming to be oblivious to the financial hard times so many people are facing right now.

How does a large chain store make those kinds of mistakes in judging how hard average Canadians have it these days?

Still, we have to give thanks to the grocery outlets in our region, including Loblaw, that support local food banks by donating excess food and allowing food drives to take place at their locations.

We saw several food bank drives held outside local grocery stores during the Christmas holidays turn over food and cash to local food banks from these drives.

Providing consumers with discounted food makes sense and gives consumers an option that is budget friendly.

Allotments of joy

Perhaps we take for granted our vast forests, pastures, wetlands and meadows.

My daughter applied for an allotment four years ago from the City of Glasgow, Scotland.

Allotments are community green spaces where people can garden to their heart's delight.

But they go way beyond the simple act of growing flowers and vegetables.

They are a green oasis in the middle of a bustling city, where people can escape the busyness of life and meet new people.

And green spaces in a busy metropolis are hard to come by.

My daughter applied for a half plot, and was told she now has a whole plot that comes with a wooden shed-like structure that has a wood stove in it.

She can escape sudden downpours in the shed if they occur, and trust me, they occur in Scotland more often than not.

She is absolutely thrilled with her allotment.

To her delight, there are red and black currants and gooseberries already growing on her plot.

She plans on going to her little piece of land, her green space, to plant vegetables once the warm weather arrives.

For her it goes way beyond growing veggies, it is a place to escape the bustle of the city in a natural environment.

Allotments are a big deal in the U.K. and it makes me realize how we take for granted our vast green spaces in this region.

I've been a protector of green spaces most of my life, having grown up in Cobalt, where we explored the wild world around us.

Sue
Nielsen

In regards to green spaces, even if those green spaces exist inside city limits, a philosophy about who and what a community is all about can be gleaned from how greenspaces are managed.

And valued.

A culture can indeed be defined by its attitude towards nature.

I think the Scotland Allotment program is a lot like our local community garden initiative.

We need an awareness of our landscapes and the flora and fauna that inhabit it.

There is growing evidence that links gardening and green spaces with overall wellbeing, in a society where anxiety is on the increase.

Let's protect our green spaces from exploitation when it comes to the almighty dollar.

Keeping the theme of Scotland, I wanted to say I was shocked to learn my friend, Margaret McKill, originally of Dumfries, has just passed away.

Margaret was wonderful woman, a very distinguished woman and I will miss her greatly.

When she found out I was going to visit my daughter in Scotland, she gifted me a slice of haggis.

I will never forget how kind and generous and wonderful she was.

May she rest in wee peace and splendour. I send love to her family and friends.

Bonailie Margaret!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Rumble strips can be a cheap and easy fix

Dear editor,

We spend millions of dollars to improve road conditions but it is mostly the loose nut behind the steering wheel who causes the problems.

As to the Temiskaming Municipal Association's decision against passing on the double solid yellow line (Weekender February 2, "TMA says 'no' to passing on double solid yellow lines"): years ago after driving west I noticed rumble strips and mentioned it in one of my letters to the paper.

Whether it was in the works or the government woke up, rumble strips started to appear on our roads. Double yellow lines that are under the snow or faded do not wake people up to the danger ahead. All passing lanes should have a rumble strip to deter driving on the wrong lane. Corners need rumble strips to stop passing. They could also be used to warn drivers there is a stop ahead so they slow down in time. Too often we spend millions to cure a single problem when a simple use of rumble strips would do.

Malls have strips and speed bumps to slow traffic, school zones also could be protected. Why do we have a means to curb bad drivers and not use it? I know personally if you hit a rumble strip it alerts one. The highways are four feet wider than when I first drove, yet some people insist on crowding the centre line or even go over.

To get behind the wheel one must realize that rules are for protection. There is an old story - you can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink. I lost my driver's licence for lack of one eye, yet people drink and do drugs and drive. The last three accidents reported in the local paper were all drug and alcohol related.

Douglas Edwards,
Englehart

February is Heart Month

HEART AND STROKE

Cardiovascular disease or heart disease is the number one killer in Canada. It is also the most costly disease in Canada, putting the greatest burden on our national health care system.

A number of factors, individually or in combination, can lead to heart disease:

- Smoking; • Diets rich in saturated fat; • Physical inactivity; • Stress;
- A family history of heart disease; and • Being overweight.

Medical conditions such as high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, obesity and diabetes are also potent risk factors.

Men are generally more likely to develop heart disease. An increasing number of women are experiencing heart disease but they are under-diagnosed. For both sexes, the risk of heart disease increases with age.

For more information on symptoms and health effects of stroke and how to minimize your risk, consult It's Your Health factsheet on stroke.

HEART HEALTHY TIPS

DON'T SMOKE.

Not smoking or quitting smoking reduces your risk of developing heart disease and not smoking may help to increase the "good" cholesterol in your blood. It also reduces your risk of having a heart attack, stroke, and common cancers.

EAT A WIDER VARIETY OF FOODS.

According to Canada's Food Guide, as part of a balanced diet, we should enjoy a variety of foods and choose lower-fat foods more often.

GET MOVING.

As little as 60 minutes a day of accumulated physical activity will help keep your heart in shape. Not sure how to start? Try the Physical Activity Guide for some ideas.

Eating well and staying physically active will help you to control your weight. Avoid fad or miracle diets.

Have regular medical check-ups that include measurement of your blood cholesterol level.

You can also be tested for diabetes, one of the major risk factors for heart disease. If you have any concerns about your heart health, be sure and ask your doctor.

PD DAY SKATE

Armstrong Township came up with a cool way to entertain kids who were off school for a PD Day on January 26 during a Hot Dogs and Skating Day from noon until 6 p.m. They opened up their ice surface for the first time this year at the Rosaire and Wilfrid Paiement Centre. Those who attended were given free hot dogs. Friends Livia O'Bryne (left), 13, and Alexis Doyon, 14, laced up their skates to enjoy the free ice time. (Staff photo by Sue Nielsen)

Neonet's virtual sessions are technical support style sessions in which a Digital Coach or Navigator can help a someone identify devices that meet the needs of the user, setting up digital applications such as emails or social media accounts, general learning or troubleshooting. This session will take place on Thursday February 15 at 11:00am. Everyone and anyone are welcome to attend this drop-in session. No registry required.

Winter Reading Bingo

We are offering an activity for all ages in January and February who come to the library with their library card. They can pick up one of our Winter Reading BINGO sheets and do their best to get 5 in a row to win a little prize. Not only will they possibly win a little prize but they'll also have the opportunity to read some great books, practice and improve their reading skills and perhaps add some new authors to their list of favourites.

Blind Date with a book

The Temiskaming Shores Public Library will be running a Blind Date With a Book program. We are again offering you a unique opportunity of mystery and intrigue. Take a wrapped book without knowing what's inside. Once you get it home, give the book a chance, but If things don't work out, simply return it. No hard feelings! After all, not all blind dates work out. You may find yourself, however, in love! Either way, fill out the Rate Your Date form you will have received, and you could win a prize.

Facilities

Notice to the Users of the Waterfront Pool Facility

Our pool cannot operate without our staff members. There have been several incidents of disrespectful behaviour from members of the public towards our staff members simply for enforcing basic safety policies. We take these verbal confrontations very seriously and, in a time when quality part-time and full-time staff are in high demand, we expect our pool users to be respectful and abide by the rules set out. If a user is unable to follow the rules, they will be denied entry and may lose their pool access for a period of time. Our City employees deserve respect when doing their jobs.

Pool Admission Policy

All children under 10 years old MUST be accompanied by an adult or guardian (14+) in the pool, regardless of swimming ability. This means adults or guardians must be in a swimsuit, in the pool, within arms reach of their children. This is the standard for pools across Ontario and is in place to ensure the safety of all our young swimmers.

Pool Capacity

The capacity of the pool depends on the number of lifeguards on duty. These numbers are stipulated by the Government of Ontario's Public Pools Regulation 565/90.

- 0-24 Swimmers | 1 Lifeguard (if the slide is open: 2 Lifeguards)
- 25-56 Swimmers | 2 Lifeguards (if the slide is open: 3 Lifeguards)
- 66-100 Swimmers | 3 Lifeguards (if the slide is open: 4 Lifeguards)
- 101-129 Swimmers | 4 Lifeguards (if the slide is open: 5 Lifeguards)

Cell Phone Use

We understand the desire to take pictures of your own children during public swims. However, due to issues with consent of others and the chance for nefarious behaviour, we do NOT allow cell phone use in the changerooms or on the pool deck. Please put your phone away and be present instead!

Planet Youth Temiskaming Update—January 2024

Planet Youth Temiskaming is a 5-year pilot project based on the Icelandic Prevention Model, a proven approach to reduce alcohol and drug use among young people. Planet Youth empowers communities to work together to address the root causes of early substance use. The approach focuses on strengthening key protective factors like relationships with family and friends, involvement in extracurricular activities, and school engagement. Using the Planet Youth approach, our communities will gain valuable insights into the health and wellbeing of young people, implement effective local solutions, and track changes over time.
