PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE

On a trip into the bush to cut wood, a man is injured and then experiences chest pains. That was just one of the scenarios that recently played out near Pike Lake in Hudson Township in an exercise involving Temiskaming District Secondary School students, firefighters from Temiskaming Shores and Hudson Township, the OPP, and the district's paramedics. Health care student Hailey Hughes, at left, and paramedic Dean Franks are seen above discussing the injuries of "victim" Laurie McLean as they prepare to transport him. ECCS sending care packages, well wishes to chemo patients

TEMISKAMING SHORES – Fuzzy socks, a throw, gloves, a puzzle game, a journal, lip balm and hand cream, an eye mask.

Thirty bags filled with comfort items are headed to patients at Temiskaming Hospital who are undergoing chemotherapy.

They're gifts from the English Catholic Central School community.

"We want to show our love, spread our love to the community," explained teacher Melanie Dixon-Fleury.

Each and every person in the area, she said, has been affected by cancer, whether it's struck a family member, a co-worker, or a friend.

But no one knows what cancer treatment is really like unless one goes through it, she said.

A friend told her of things she wished she'd had at the time.

It sparked the idea to do something tangible, she said.

It fit with the theme of Catholic Education Week in early May – "We are called to love."

The school called on its community, including students' families and friends, for donations to pull together bags of items to make patients' time at the hospital feel a little more like home.

"We only had a week to collect 30 bags," she said.

The donations poured in.

OBITUARY

Maurice Ernest Mercier

Maurice Ernest Mercier, better known as Mousy, of Cobalt, Ontario, left us on Saturday the 26th of August, 2023.

He left a large space in our lives, and nine months later, we find ourselves still adjusting to his absence.

The family will have a celebration to honour his life during a mass at St. Patrick's Church in Cobalt on the 1st of June 2024 at 11 a.m.

Prior to the ceremony, the church doors will open at 10 a.m. for visitation with the family.

We will welcome recounting and sharing his story in the coming weeks, on June 1st and for years to come because his legacy carries on.

He was a man of honour, a father, a husband, a poppa, a son, a brother, a friend, a fisher, a hunter, a miner, a provider, a patient, ... but most of all, a shining example of truth, strength and resolve and what is possible with Faith, Love and Family.

All are welcome to come and pay respect to a man who we are truly better for having known.

STATO stretching

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Staff) – The STATO trail is getting a little longer.

Temiskaming Shores council has approved construction of a 250-metre extension of the multi-use trail in Breault's Subdivision in Dymond.

It will link the existing trail on Laurette Street to the rear entrance of École catholique St-Michel.

In a report to council, recreation director Matt Bahm said the leg will fill a gap that's been identified in the city's active transportation plan and reports by Walk 'n' Roll Timiskaming.

The latter initiative promotes safe routes for students to walk and bike to school.

On May 21, council awarded the $76,000 contract to Demora Construction

Services of Temiskaming Shores. The work is to be completed by the end of August.

Dangerous Plant Species in the Area

Giant Hogweed

The stems and leaves of this plant are covered with small hairs coated with poisonous sap. Even the slightest touch can cause painful blisters and severe skin irritation. The symptoms can take a couple of days to develop with the skin becoming highly photosensitive producing large watery blisters; however the effects can be long lasting, with contact resulting in recurrent dermatitis. This is a particular concern for small children who may use the stems as pea-shooters or pretend telescopes resulting in horrific injuries.

What does Hogweed Look Like?

- very tall, 8-14 feet
- Stems have rigid hairs, purple blotches and are hollow
- Flower clusters up to 2 ft across occurring from mid-June to late July
- Has a reddish-purple stem with fine spines that make it appear furry

Wild Parsnip

Is another weed that should also be avoided. The effects are similar to those associated with Giant Hog Weed. Irritation can occur if your skin contacts the plant's fluids and is then exposed to sunlight. Contact with the eyes can cause temporary blindness and in rare cases permanent blindness.

Wild parsnip can be found within uncultivated land, roadside ditches, parklands, nature trails and sports fields as well as on and around residential properties.

What Does Wild Parsnip Look Like?

- smells like parsnip
- stands 20-60 inches high, branched, hollow stem
- small yellow clustered flowers
- flowers from late June into late fall (resembles dill)

Being able to readily identify wild parsnip and giant hogweed will minimize accidental exposure to these plants and the painful results that follow.

Anyone having information on specific locations where these weeds are posing a public risk should contact the Invading Species Hotline at 1-800-563-7711. You will be asked to send in photos for identification. DO NOT touch, cut or collect parts of the plant.

Moose on the loose

In the past couple of weeks at least four moose have been hit on Highway 11 between North Bay and Temiskaming Shores. It is heartbreaking and a reminder of the dangers of wildlife and the risks to their safety and that of drivers at this time of year.

As the warmer weather approaches, moose and other wildlife will cross area roads, perhaps with young calves by their side.

The bugs are driving the moose, deer and bears out of the bush onto area roadways.

While some collisions are going to happen, especially at night, there are some common sense steps we can take to prevent these tragic incidents.

Moose are hard to see at night because their dark fur blends in with the surroundings. Because they are so tall their eyes may not reflect in headlights when they are most active at dawn or dusk.

Keep your speed low, especially where you see those big yellow Ministry of Transportation moose warning signs along the highway.

Continuously look on the sides of the road for signs of wildlife and be prepared to stop to avoid encounters.

When driving at night use your high beams to spot animals at a distance, but remember to dim them for oncoming traffic.

Stay especially vigilant at dawn or dusk when moose, bear and deer are most active.

Our actions can indeed help to protect these magnificent creatures and protect our own safety.

Stay safe and enjoy the beauty of Northern Ontario and the Temiskaming region.

Birds of a feather

Sue Nielsen

What a gorgeous long weekend it was.

I took my shoes and socks off and strolled through the cool dew-soaked grass to my canoe.

Getting in and out of the canoe is challenging because the water is so high this year and there is no beach.

The water is cool but normal for this time of year. It felt terrific to dig my bare feet into the lake sand.

I headed out around Taylor's Point on my favourite lake and heard a bird chirping high above me in the tall red pines.

All of a sudden an eagle flew out of the top branches, swooped down and flew away across the lake toward the Montreal River.

It must have had its keen eye on the white suckers spawning just below it on the east side of the lake.

As it flew away, a white tail feather drifted slowly down and landed softly on the water. The eagle is known among some Indigenous people as Migizi, the one that flies the highest and speaks with the creator.

I love the stories of Indigenous culture and if there are people who respect and steward the land it is our First Nations brothers and sisters.

Miigwetch.

I paddled over and scooped up the feather with my paddle. I considered it a good omen to begin my day.

I felt like that feather, free and liberated as I made my way around the lake.

I considered it an unexpected gift from such a majestic bird.

A gift to cherish over the buzzing sounds around my ears coming from the hoards of black flies following me. Ugh.

In First Nation culture, an eagle feather represents the highest honour one can bestow on another person.

Eagle feathers are gifted in honour, never taken or asked for or bought.

So it was with this thought in mind that I returned the eagle feather to the waters of the lake.

I gifted it to the lake because I felt what better way to honour the element of water and its importance in my life. It's often difficult to express the spirituality I feel when in my canoe.

I have read that the eagle feather is also a symbol of connection, and there I was connected with the doorway to the temple - the lake.

The morning's glory was cloaked in nature's gifts.

So many people these days are weighed down with anguish about their lives.

Sometimes I wish my words could be like the flight of the eagle, bold and uplifting.

But hey, I can't make everyone happy, I'm not pizza.

Let us remember, we stand neither above nor below anyone, but directly equal to all people on this beautiful planet.

As Indigenous culture teaches us, all things possess inherent power and beauty.

Have a wonderful week everyone!

Keeping kids safe on the farm

WINNIPEG (Special) – More needs to be done to keep kids safe on the farm, says a national initiative tracking farm safety.

In a recent news release, the Canadian Agricultural Safety Association said the latest statistics about child and youth deaths related to agriculture are concerning.

It oversees the Canadian

Agricultural Injury Reporting (CAIR) system, a national surveillance program coordinated by the Injury Prevention Centre at the University of Alberta.

According to CAIR data, from 1990 to 2020, 435 children and youth lost their lives due to agriculture-related incidents. The most fatalities were recorded among children between the ages of one and four.

The association notes that farms and ranches are not just workplaces, but also areas where people live and play.

What's contributing to so many agriculture-related fatalities among children and youth?

CAIR found the majority – 65 per cent – of deaths were caused by machinery, and most of those incidents involved a tractor.

Tractor runovers accounted for 32 per cent of child and youth deaths, followed by rollovers, at 15 per cent, and drownings, which represented 11 per cent.

But the second-largest category for mechanisms of injury were described as "other."

Be vigilant at work to avoid redoing tasks due to poor communication. Double-check instructions to avoid misunderstandings with customers or senior management.

SAGITTARIUS

After assessing your finances, you'll realize you have the resources to pursue a project close to your heart. You must have serious, open conversations with your significant other to re-establish harmony.

CAPRICORN

Your spirit of initiative will be amplified. Before making decisions involving other people, take the time to check with them about how to approach negotiations. A significant pay raise awaits you.

AQUARIUS

A new approach, whether a diet or treatment, could improve your quality of life and allow you to realize one of your biggest dreams. You'll experience decreased energy, reminding you of the importance of caring for yourself.

PISCES

You'll have trouble striking the right balance between married life and your social life. You may need to compromise and readjust how much you work and play. People will constantly surround you, both at work and elsewhere.

ECCS sending care packages, well wishes to chemo patients

The items are contained in a bag that could be brought to the hospital during appointments. Each bag also contains a message of well wishes crafted by students in grades 7 and 8.

The initiative may be repeated next year.

With more lead time, Dixon-Fleury said the number of care packages could be increased.

And she's already thinking of additional items that could be included.

The English Catholic Central School community has sent 30 care packages to chemotherapy patients at Temiskaming Hospital. Pictured above are, front from left, students Bria Bowen, Maggie Cull, Hayleigh Hearn, John Leveille, Amelia Quehe, Henry Cunningham and Lewis Smith; back, from left, the hospital's Chrissy Trudel; students Hunter Venne, Jessica Gabriel, Abigail Bos and Leah Robillard; and teacher Melanie Dixon-Fleury. Spring COVID-19 Vaccine Program: May to June 2024

La campagne de vaccination contre la COVID-19 du printemps : mai à juin 2024

The Ministry of Health recommends the following groups receive an additional vaccine dose this spring:

- Adults aged 65 and older,
- Adult residents of long-term care homes and other senior living communities,
- Individuals aged 6 months and up, who are moderately to severely immunocompromised due to an underlying condition or treatment, or
- Individuals aged 55 and older who are First Nations, Inuit or Metis, and their non-Indigenous household members who are 55 years and older.

The spring booster is particularly important for those at higher risk of severe illness, especially if they missed the fall 2023 vaccine.

If you do not fall into the above categories, stay tuned for further guidance from the Ministry of Health.

Selon la recommandation du ministère de la Santé, les personnes suivantes peuvent recevoir une dose supplémentaire ce printemps :

- Les adultes de 65 ans et plus
- Les pensionnaires adultes dans les foyers de soins de longue durée et les autres lieux d'hébergement collectif destinés aux personnes âgées
- Les personnes de six mois et plus qui sont modérément à gravement immunodéprimées (en raison d'un problème de santé sous-jacent ou d'un traitement)
- Les personnes de 55 ans et plus qui s'identifient comme faisant partie des Premières Nations, des Inuits ou des Métis et les membres de leur ménage non autochtones qui sont âgés de 55+

Il est particulièrement important de recevoir un vaccin contre la COVID-19 au printemps 2024 pour les personnes qui courent un risque plus élevé de maladie grave en raison de la COVID-19 et qui n'ont pas reçu une dose pendant le programme d'automne 2023.

À l'heure actuelle, il n'est pas recommandé à toutes les autres personnes de recevoir une dose de vaccin contre la COVID-19 au printemps 2024 et il est conseillé d'attendre les autres recommandations du ministère.

Only YOU Can Prevent Cooking Fires

Cooking left unattended is a leading cause of home fires in Ontario.

How do I keep myself and my loved ones safe?

- To prevent cooking fires, you must be alert. You will not be alert if you are sleepy, have consumed alcohol, drugs or medicine that makes you drowsy.
- Always stay in the kitchen while cooking. If you must leave, turn off the stove.
- Keep anything that burns—oven mitts, cooking utensils, dish cloths, paper towels and pot holders—a safe distance from the stove.

- Keep a proper-fitting pot lid near the stove when cooking. If a pot catches fire slide the lid over the pot and turn off the stove. Do not move the pot until it has cooled completely.

- Loose-fitting clothes can come into contact with stove burners and catch fire. Wear short sleeves, tight sleeves or roll them up when cooking.

Install smoke and carbon monoxide alarms on every storey of your home. Test them every month.

For more information contact your local fire department.

That underscores, said the association, the various hazards on the farm that can cause injury.

Most of these victims – 67 per cent – were not working at the time of the fatal incidents but were in the area of farm work.

Children of farm owners/operators made up the largest number of victims.

What can you do to keep kids safe on the farm?

While farm kids are known for growing up quickly because of the environment they are brought up in, the association stresses that it must be remembered that they're still children.

It advises that any tasks assigned to children be age-appropriate.

While kids might be living and playing on the farm, it's also a workplace with plenty of hazards.

Take time to create a designated play area, put barriers where possible around areas kids shouldn't access (such as bodies of water or heights), and always provide adequate supervision.

Discuss safety regularly with your kids, making it a routine part of conversations, and lead by example by demonstrating safe practices in your own actions.

CASA hosted a new public awareness campaign, Kids FarmSafe Week, in May to promote the safety and wellness of children and youth on Canadian farms.
