City planning for the future

Diane Johnston
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES – The city is embarking on two plans looking both inside city hall and outside.

On May 21, Temiskaming Shores council approved the hiring of an Ottawa consulting firm to create a community-based strategic plan.

The goal is the creation of a long-term vision, goals and priorities for the city.

Temiskaming Shores has adopted a number of plans since the amalgamation of New Liskeard, Haileybury and Dymond in 2004, but there's been no overall plan.

"A strategic plan is our opportunity to look at the next five years," said Mayor Jeff Laferriere in a recent interview.

"We know where we are today, we know some of the challenges. We've got a lot of reports from a lot of different areas, and this allows us to bring everything together."

He said the plan will involve city staff, mayor and

Marsh bird banders find rare white-eyed vireo

Sue Nielsen
Speaker Reporter

HILLIARDTON — Bird banders at the Hilliardton Marsh Research and Education Centre have been busy banding arrivals during the spring migration.

They have banded over 1,000 birds and identified 50 or more species of birds that have arrived at the Marsh.

But one bird was definitely a surprise sighting.

On Mother's Day May 12, one bander, Paul Xamin, was surprised to spot a white-eyed vireo.

White-eyed vireos are not found in Canada and their range is more the southern United States and further south.

How the bird got to the marsh is anyone's guess, but banders are calling the bird a "lost soul."

And not only is the bird unique to the region, it is unique because it has a defective beak.

The beak is crossed.

Bander Rae Xamin said she has seen this beak deformity in birds before.

"I'd say about one in 2,000 birds have this defect," she said.

Banding efforts began at the Marsh on May 3 and they will last for a few weeks while warblers, vireos, sparrows and other species of birds arrive at the marsh to nest and raise their young in the Boreal forest.

WHY BAND BIRDS?

Bird banding gives researchers and conservationists an idea of the numbers of migrating and resident bird populations in and around the Hilliardton Marsh.

The Marsh is one of 13 bird banding stations across Ontario and the most northern bird banding station.

A bird is caught in a soft mist net, brought back to the banding station and a small, aluminum band is placed on its leg.

Each bird has a digital number that is unique to that bird. If the bird is recaptured its band number will have valuable information about the bird's migration patterns, wing size, sex, fat content, weight and overall condition.

The banding information is shared with the Canadian Wildlife Service and then can be also shared with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The best part of the banding process is when members of the public learn about the various species of birds and get to hold one after it has been banded.

The bird is then released back into the nearby forest.

Lead bird bander and Marsh coordinator Bruce Murphy noted that 2023 was a milestone year at the marsh when they banded 16,900 birds.

That was the highest number ever at the Marsh in a single year.

The success of the 2023 season can be partly attributed to visiting banders Rae and Paul Xamin, who volunteer at the Tommy Thompson Park in Toronto.

For information on public bird banding events go to the HMREC Facebook page.

What You Should Know About Lyme Disease

Lyme disease is a potentially serious infection that you can get if you're bitten by an infected blacklegged tick (also called a deer tick).

If you work outdoors or participate in outdoor activities such as golfing, hunting, camping, fishing, hiking, and walking in fields, you may be at greater risk for tick bites.

Cover up and wear:

- light-coloured clothing, so it's easier to see ticks
- closed-toed shoes
- long-sleeved shirts
- long pants, tucked into your socks
- special clothing designed to repel ticks

Use insect repellent

Use an insect repellent, or bug spray, that says "DEET" or "icaridin" on it. Put it on your clothes and exposed skin. Always read the label for directions on how to use it.

Put clothes in the dryer

Kill any ticks that might be on your clothing by putting your clothes in a dryer on high heat for at least 10 minutes before washing them.

Check yourself and your children

After being outdoors, check for ticks on yourself and your children. Look:

- behind your knees
- on your head
- in your belly button
- in your groin area
- in your underarm area
- on the back of your body – use a mirror, or ask someone to check for you

It's a good idea to have a shower as soon as you can to wash off any ticks.

Check your pets for ticks

After being outdoors, check your pets' skin and remove any ticks you find. Ask your veterinarian about options to help keep ticks off your pets.

If you have been bitten by a tick and develop fever, headache, muscle and joint pains, fatigue, and a skin rash, especially one that looks like a red bull's eye in the weeks after being bitten, promptly contact your primary care provider. Bring the tick with you to your medical appointment, if possible, as it may help your provider assess your illness.

Much needed rest areas

The government of Ontario has just announced it will be creating five new rest areas across Northern Ontario. The rest areas are designed to offer more spaces where long haul truck drivers can pull over for much needed shuteye.

They are also being created so people driving long distances can pull off the main highway and rest and relax.

There is one thing about spring arriving and that is it shows us the ugly messes left behind during winter months at the pullover stops on Highway 11.

We see how desperately those rest sites are needed with hopefully plenty of garbage receptacles because those locations are often a shameful mess.

People have thrown garbage all around those rest areas and seeing the bottles of urine tossed out windows from truckers is totally disgusting.

That is roadside grossness at its best – or worst.

If there aren't enough rest stop facilities for drivers to relieve themselves, they should store these bottles in their vehicles until they are able to dispose of them properly.

We like to blame the government for this, that and every other thing, but the mess of those current rest stops is not their fault.

It is the fault of drivers who are too lazy to place garbage in bins or take it with them.

The rest stop heading north out of Temagami has been cleaned by local residents and they deserve thanks for taking on that task to make our region look beautiful to visitors now that warm weather is here.

Let's hope that these rest stops have accessible washrooms, running water to wash hands and picnic tables.

It is basic public health measures that should be offered at those rest stops.

And how about keeping those rest stops open all winter long as drivers tire just as easily during winter months as in summer.

Not having it!

Sue Nielsen

I have lived most of my life in beautiful Northern Ontario, specifically in Cobalt, the town that silver built.

We sure lived a life and then some and for many of us, we are extremely proud of our heritage, past and present.

I am literally sick and tired of hearing people putting down Cobalt.

The latest snippet came questioning the intelligence of Cobalters.

For one thing, Cobalt is a hotbed for journalists, namely John R. Hunt, our current editor here at The Speaker, Steven Larocque, and then there is myself, reporter/photographer.

My salt of the earth, hard working honourable grandparents, Charles and Orpha Smith, arrived in Cobalt circa 1909.

My other set of grandparents, John and Iva Brydges, also lived in Cobalt in the early years, contributing greatly to life in the town and region.

Mining is in our veins, so to speak.

My grandparents were among the early pioneers of the north helping to open up the region to development.

At the turn of the century, Haileybury and New Liskeard were bedroom communities for the bustling city of Cobalt.

Please do not forget in 2002 the Cobalt camp was designated as a National Historic Site.

We were also named Ontario's Most Historic Town in 2001, beating out Kingston for that honour.

Cobalt played a huge role in the development of the Canadian mining industry attracting international attention.

People arrived in Cobalt from the four corners of the world, the Poles, French, Finns, Italians, Swiss, Dutch, Scottish and more to seek out their fame and fortune.

Cobalt is a melting pot of multiculturalism and diversity.

Many of those families still live in town and we are proud of our heritage and the history we have.

Sure, you want to "diss" us for the low-life drug dealers and thieves who do not have any connection to our town, but the same ones are in your neighbourhoods also.

Look in your own backyard before you go pronouncing judgement on others.

We have the story of how the north was built and no one can take that away from us.

Our story has been featured in countless books, documentaries and movies and used as an economic driver for more than one municipality in our region.

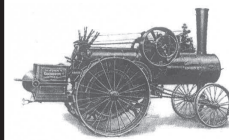

Yes, the town has gone through booms and busts, but we are still standing, strong and proud.

If you want to come to Cobalt for a day, you just might discover a century of what life was like in our town.

And as the Cobalt song goes, "For we'll sing a little song of Cobalt, if you don't live there it's your fault. Oh you Cobalt, you're the best ole town I know."

Cobalt residents don't showcase the negative, we don't sell ourselves short - we know we are amazing.

The Earlton Steam Show 2024 postponed to 2025

The Earlton Steam Show, due to unforeseen circumstances, has decided to postpone it's 2024 Steam Show as the property owner passed away earlier this year.

We thank Andre Boileau's family for their support over the years and we wish them the best in their coming decisions.

We also want to thank you for making our show a success in 2023 and we are hoping to see you in 2025.

council, but consultants will also be "reaching out to the community, getting their input."

And from the perspective of accountability, he said, it will be "something we've agreed on as a team as we go forward, that we can measure how successful we're being, what we need to change to make sure that we are meeting the needs of our community, today, tomorrow and a number of years out."

The city has hired McSweeney and Associates of Ottawa as consultant, at a cost of $47,500. Its bid was within the $50,000 budgeted for the project.

At the same meeting, council also agreed to hire HR Strategies Consulting, based in Richmond Hill, to complete a comprehensive organization review.

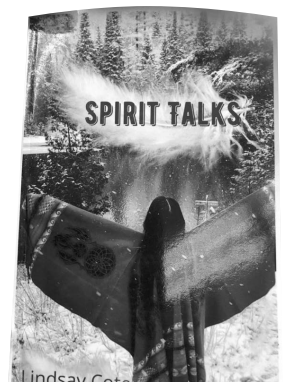

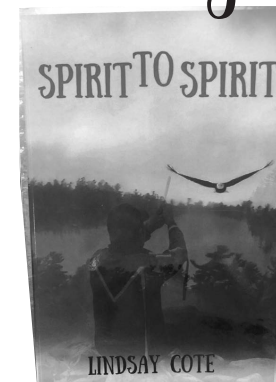

The review will analyze the city's organizational structure, job position descriptions, salary grid and benefits.

It will also compare the city's organizational details to similar-sized municipalities and communities in the area and draft recommendations to attract and retain staff.

Council approved the agreement with HR Strategies May 21, at a cost of $39,865. That was lower than the $50,000 that had been budgeted for the project.

Cobalt relieved as nearby forest fire eases

Darlene Wroe
Local Journalism
Initiative Reporter

COBALT - A Thursday, May 23, forest fire in nearby Coleman Township has left Cobalt shaken.

It was May 23, 1977, when a fire raced through the town and destroyed 140 buildings.

This most recent approach of the 164-hectare fire had people poised for a possible disaster in the town.

By Tuesday people were breathing easier.

At the town's regular council meeting

May 28, Mayor Angela Adshad commented with relief that the fire was dropping in size and being held.

"I've seen them flying over with their infra-reds, checking on the hot spots," she told council. "That's good news. It was a pretty nasty scare on the anniversary of our big fire."

She said the town council, staff and residents were prepared on the evening of May 23 in case the wind shifted.

She explained that even though there has now been rain, "It's still not enough rain. As things are greening they are pulling moisture out of the ground." For that reason, the ground is drying and caution is still needed.

"I ask the public to respect that there is a fire ban," she said.

At the same time, the municipality is still awaiting word on whether it will be approved for a loan for a new fire truck.

Town manager Steven Dalley told council that he has been submitting all required numbers for the decision to be made, and he expects a recommendation on the application to be made at the end of this week.

Required information included an approved 2024 budget, and all financial information returns from 2022 to show the town's revenues.

LIBRA
You'll be determined to rise to any challenge despite feeling some intense emotions. Moving house or changing jobs could bring you closer to a dream. Sometimes, you must step out of your comfort zone to change and grow.

SCORPIO
You'll be thinking a lot about your love life. Thoughts of love may make you feel anxious. Relationships involve commitment, and you'll take time to reflect before taking this all-important step.

PISCES
If you're worried about something, you'll find someone to confide in. You won't go out of your way to talk about what's bothering you, knowing you can use words that won't hurt anyone.

Terry Fiset receives 2023 CJTT Lifetime Achievement Award

Sue Nielsen
Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES — There's not much he hasn't done in and around James Township and the town of Elk Lake over the years.

He served as the long-time reeve of James, as an entrepreneur, forestry promoter and advocate for the town and Northern Ontario. Because of his long list of achievements, Terry Fiset was awarded the 2023 CJTT Lifetime Achievement Award.

Fiset was surrounded by friends and supporters when he picked up his award at the CJTT offices in New Liskeard on May 3.

Former Lifetime Achievement Award recipient and good friend of Fiset, George Lefebvre, nominated Fiset for the award.

"I nominated him in the hopes he would be recognized and he has been recognized and he is very, very deserving of this award. We go back into the '80s when we were fighting issues relative to the forestry industry in Northern Ontario. He is a special character."

Fiset was very humble in his comments about his achievements over the years, paying tribute instead not to himself, but to the team of people he has worked with over the years.

"I am very humbled by this honour. For all of this recognition I was always fighting for the North, and keeping the North alive. That was always my goal and I was fortunate to have a team like Myrna Hayes, Janet McDowell, George and Jeff (Barton) and my brothers business-wise. I took time off work and they were good with it. I have to thank my family, 40 years on council, it never would have happened without the crew we had as a working council and our staff, who I looked at as friends."

Fiset spoke about the award saying he dedicated it to "my crew that I have had around me over the years that have made this a success."

Another friend of Fiset's, Jeff Barton, said he got to know Fiset through the forestry industry.

"Terry had been a consistent advocate for multi-use of the land. We have been involved in the use of crown land over the years and what doesn't get recognized is his interest in the greater good of the Temiskaming region. He has the ability to keep his eyes on the bigger picture."

He credited the sustainable forest industry that exists today to Fiset and his efforts.

Elk Lake councillor Janet McDowell said Fiset helped to organize two successful Relays for Life and he is heavily involved with the Jack Munroe Society.

"A few years ago our library burnt down and he helped to find the resources to help us rebuild the library. He has his fingers in every pot and it has just been an honour for him to win this award."

Spring COVID-19 Vaccine Program: May to June 2024

La campagne de vaccination contre la COVID-19 du printemps : mai à juin 2024

The Ministry of Health recommends the following groups receive an additional vaccine dose this spring:

- Adults aged 65 and older,
- Adult residents of long-term care homes and other senior living communities,
- Individuals aged 6 months and up, who are moderately to severely immunocompromised due to an underlying condition or treatment, or
- Individuals aged 55 and older who are First Nations, Inuit or Metis, and their non-Indigenous household members who are 55 years and older.

The spring booster is particularly important for those at higher risk of severe illness, especially if they missed the fall 2023 vaccine.

If you do not fall into the above categories, stay tuned for further guidance from the Ministry of Health.

Selon la recommandation du ministère de la Santé, les personnes suivantes peuvent recevoir une dose supplémentaire ce printemps :

- Les adultes de 65 ans et plus
- Les pensionnaires adultes dans les foyers de soins de longue durée et les autres lieux d'hébergement collectif destinés aux personnes âgées
- Les personnes de six mois et plus qui sont modérément à gravement immunodéprimées (en raison d'un problème de santé sous-jacent ou d'un traitement)
- Les personnes de 55 ans et plus qui s'identifient comme faisant partie des Premières Nations, des Inuits ou des Métis et les membres de leur ménage non autochtones qui sont âgés de 55+

Il est particulièrement important de recevoir un vaccin contre la COVID-19 au printemps 2024 pour les personnes qui courent un risque plus élevé de maladie grave en raison de la COVID-19 et qui n'ont pas reçu une dose pendant le programme d'automne 2023.

À l'heure actuelle, il n'est pas recommandé à toutes les autres personnes de recevoir une dose de vaccin contre la COVID-19 au printemps 2024 et il est conseillé d'attendre les autres recommandations du ministère.
