Bike exchange program encourages healthy lifestyles

Sue Nielsen

Speaker Reporter

TEMISKAMING SHORES — If

smiles were payment for bikes, then the event would be rich.

Since June is Bike Month in Ontario, it was a fitting way to spin into the month with last weekend's Bike Exchange event, held June 15 at Haileybury HarbourPlace. There were plenty of spokes for folks to check out including 75 bikes available for children, youth and adults to obtain on the day.

There was also a riding course set up where volunteers provided input to children on stopping, turning and the importance of wearing helmets.

A craft table was set up for children to enjoy themselves while siblings tried out bikes.

It was the first year the City of Temiskaming Shores, in partnership with Temiskaming Shores Bike Club and the Temiskaming Health Unit, held the event in Haileybury at the waterfront.

"We are still looking for a permanent home to house the bikes and repair them over the winter months," said Bike Exchange lead organizer Linda St. Cyr.

Bikes for all ages are donated by the community and made available on a first-come, first-served basis. People wishing to have a bike must attend the event in person and be fitted properly for a bike.

You don't pay for bikes and you don't have to donate one to receive one.

People were encouraged to bring helmets and they were also instructed on how to properly wear a helmet on the day.

St. Cyr said the group needs a rent-free place that is mildly heated with decent space and lighting so that their dedicated volunteers can work on bikes to prepare them for the annual exchange.

"We are very thankful to the City for allowing the volunteers to operate out of the Haileybury garage the last few months."

City of Temiskaming Shores director of recreation Mathew Bahm was pleased with the turnout.

"It didn't take us long to bring the bikes here from the garage. I think we made two trips and it has all worked out well. We are pleased to

REMEMBRANCE ANNIVERSARY

It's been 25 years since we lost Bucky (Harold) Smith from TEMAGAMI. Buck passed away June 23, 1999 and he is still greatly missed by his family, friends and children Shawn and Crystal Smith. He never got to meet his two grandchildren, Waverly and Bellamy Smith but he would've enjoyed their great sense of humour which was shared by him.

Hyperthyroid and Hypothyroid Disorder Awareness

According to the Thyroid Foundation of Canada, 1 in 10 Canadians suffer from a thyroid condition of one type or another. And as many as 50% of those are undiagnosed.

Thyroid Disease is a Family Affair

The two most common types of thyroid disease are:

- Hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid)
- Hyperthyroidism (overactive thyroid)

Clinical features of hypothyroidism may include: poor appetite; intolerance to cold; dry, coarse skin; brittle hair; fatigue; constipation; muscle weakness; and poor memory retention. Sometimes the voice becomes croaky and hoarse. Examination may reveal dry, scaly, cold, pale skin; a thickening of the skin and underlying tissues; very slow reflexes; and a slow heart rate.

Clinical features of hyperthyroidism may include: weight loss, nervousness, irritability, intolerance to hot weather, excessive sweating, shakiness, and muscle weakness. Other signs include a rapid pulse, loss of body fat and muscle bulk, thyroid enlargement (goitre), fine tremors of the fingers and hot, moist, velvety skin.

Thyroid disorders for the most part are treatable; however, untreated thyroid disease can produce serious results in other parts of the body.

Each person's experience of thyroid illness will be different depending on a number of factors; a patient will not necessarily have all (or even any) of the above symptoms; some patients have the symptoms and no thyroid disease, maybe due to other causes.

A primary care provider should be consulted if a thyroid disorder is suspected. Early diagnosis and treatment are crucial.

EDITORIAL

Since time immemorial

June is National Indigenous History Month and perhaps it is a good time to talk about this region and the influence of Indigenous people. Long before European settlers arrived by canoe up Lake Temiskaming during the fur trade, this region was inhabited by First Nation people.

Indigenous people have inhabited this region for 6,000 years. Those people include the Temagami First Nation, the Timiskaming First Nation and the Beaverhouse First Nation in Matachewan.

The region was populated mainly by the Algonquin Anishnabai and Ojibwa Cree.

It might be safe to say that our Indigenous brothers and sisters have been here since "time immemorial."

It was Indigenous people who knew the story of the Temiskaming landscape, not the European settlers.

In Cobalt at the turn of the 20th century, silver was being mined which led to much of the north being opened up.

So let's set the record straight. In his latest book called Cobalt, Timmins-James Bay MP Charlie Angus said, "In fact, a complex Indigenous silver mining trade in the region reached back thousands of years. Ceremonial panpipes made from Cobalt silver have been found in burial mounds in Ohio, Georgia, and Mississippi. Silver jewellery from Cobalt has been uncovered in archaeological digs in New York State. Nuggets of pure Cobalt silver were carefully placed in Michigan burial sites. Some of these burial mounds, known as "Hopewell sites," are massive earthworks representing ingenious human endeavours that rival the construction of the great Egyptian pyramids."

Silver was discovered prior to the Cobalt silver rush by Indigenous people who traded the precious metal for items of interest at the time. We must acknowledge that the stories surrounding the history of this region are heavily dominated by the colonization of Europeans.

Meanwhile, the stories of First Nation peoples have been pushed to the background.

In the spirit of truth and reconciliation, we acknowledge the original First Nation presence in Temiskaming.

Resiliency

Sue
Nielsen

I was listening to an Anishnabai elder speak about her language recently. A language that is land based and quite beautiful.

Every time I hear the soft-spoken elder, Grandma Marilyn Chevrier-Wills, speak about her culture I learn something new and profound.

She is a cultural educator from the Timiskaming First Nation and she is such a beautiful kwe, kwe.

I have often listened to her talk about a water ceremony, explain the importance of berries to First Nation people and explain the symbolism of the medicine wheel.

Many of us have a dream catcher attached to car mirrors or hanging in our homes, but do we know the meaning behind it?

National Indigenous Peoples Day is happening this week on Friday, June 21, with a Pow Wow at Mill Creek in North Cobalt.

We know that Indigenous people have been damaged by generations of oppression, by the residential school experience, the Sixties Scoop and overt racism.

Indigenous people may be damaged but certainly not broken.

Systemic racism does exist in this region and country. One only has to look at the Indian Act for proof of that.

Under the Indian Act First Nations people were confined to the reserve through the pass system. Education was segregated with day schools and Indian Residential Schools, as was health care. These rules were enforced by the RCMP.

The Indian Act is now over 145 years old and I hope to see its abolishment in my lifetime.

What I have seen with my own two eyes is Indigenous people are amazingly resilient and they have survived and thrived when life has often been cruel and oppressive towards them.

It is vitally important that our First Nation brothers and sisters speak their language and practice their cultural ceremonies. Indigenous youth are one of the fastest growing demographics in this country responsible for business start-ups at nine times that of other cultures.

“Indigenomics” is about economic growth and development for Indigenous communities, which is a positive antidote to historical injustices.

You rarely hear about a mining or forestry project in the north that does not consult and partner with First Nations these days.

As we dance, take part in a smudge ceremony and move as one people this June 21, let us remember the words of the brilliant Indigenous writer Richard Wagamese: “The most profound truth in the universe is this: that we are all one drum, one spirit and we need each other.”

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Support for a provincial alcohol strategy

Dear editor and friends in our community,

I am writing in support of a recent letter to the editor from Walter Humeniuk of the Temiskaming Health Unit (“Modernization” has its problems, Weekender June 7).

The letter outlined the high ratio of impaired driving in the Temiskaming district, and the effects of alcohol on our behaviour. Increased availability of alcohol through more retail outlets “inevitably increases alcohol-related harms.”

The Salvation Army encourages an alcohol-free lifestyle as a way of enhancing the wellbeing and health of all people.

WISE ABOUT BEAR - Who to contact

Not every bear sighting is an emergency situation. Here is who to call if you encounter a bear.

Emergency situations Call 911 or your local police if a bear poses an immediate threat to personal safety and exhibits threatening or aggressive behaviour, such as:

- enters a school yard when school is in session
- stalks people and lingers at the site
- enters or tries to enter a residence
- wanders into a public gathering
- kills livestock/pets and lingers at the site

Non-emergency encounters Call the toll-free Bear Wise reporting line at 1-866-514-2327 or TTY 705-945-7641 if a bear:

- roams around or checks garbage cans
- breaks into a shed where garbage is stored
- is in a tree
- pulls down a bird feeder or knocks over a barbecue
- moves through a backyard or field but does not linger

This line operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, from April 1 to November 30, for more information visit: Be Bear Wise and prevent bear encounters | ontario.ca

MUNICIPAL WASTE SITE HOURS

Hours of Operation: Tuesdays and Saturdays 9 – 4pm
We collect regular household waste through weekly curbside collection every Tuesday. Please ensure your waste is out by 7 a.m. and is easily and safely accessible for collectors, at a maximum distance of one meter from the curb.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Support for a provincial alcohol strategy

The Salvation Army recognizes the harm alcohol causes in individuals, families and communities. Although alcohol is enjoyed by many people, we believe a reduction of its use is consistent with caring for our neighbour as we care for ourselves (Matthew 22:39).

As Christians, we need to take care that the exercise of our freedom does not become a stumbling block to the weak (1 Corinthians 8:9).

Ontario does not have a coordinated action plan for policy interventions to reduce the harms from alcohol use. The Government of Ontario's own "Roadmap to Wellness" has identified the need for investments in substance use services, from prevention to intensive treatment.

I would encourage as a practical response that constituents of Temiskaming district write to their MPs, MPPs, and local municipalities to respectfully ask them to support the development of a provincial alcohol strategy to make Ontario communities healthy and safe.

Thank you for hearing my concerns.

Sincerely,
Robbie Donaldson, Lieutenant, CCSC.

HOROSCOPE

WEEK OF
JUNE 23 TO 29, 2024

THE LUCKIEST SIGNS THIS WEEK:
PISCES, ARIES AND TAURUS

ARIES

In your relationship, you must express your needs and expectations clearly and confidently, even if it causes tension. This will be an opportunity to start fresh. You'll rediscover peace and harmony.

TAURUS

A business project will keep you busy and promise good financial prospects. Despite your discretion, you'll attract the attention of the ideal person. Be indulgent with your other half, who can sometimes be tactless.

GEMINI

You must increase your self-esteem to succeed professionally, emotionally and personally. Respect yourself and recognize your value to grow.

CANCER

Time is scarce with days off and colleagues on holiday. Plan each step carefully and get organized to avoid scheduling conflicts and unforeseen events.

LEO

As the holidays approach, you'll drive your children around to meet with friends or relatives. You'll secure a loan or negotiate a reasonable price for an important purchase.

VIRGO

You'll start an open and honest conversation with your partner and express your needs and expectations while being attentive to theirs. Don't let yourself fall into a routine and get lazy.

LIBRA

You'll express your ideas and aspirations for progress to your supervisor or partner. You'll take action and be valued in all areas of your life.

SCORPIO

Get ready for an upturn in your love life! You'll hit it off with a new flame. You'll want to commit and may even consider living together or starting a family. Your creativity will be at its best.

SAGITTARIUS

It's time to treat yourself. Don't hesitate to go out with friends! Don't forget to allow yourself moments of relaxation and well-being; you need them. Enjoy these moments of joy and happiness.

CAPRICORN

Whether you're in a relationship or not, someone in your workplace will make advances at you. This situation could be unsettling. Be discerning and prudent, and don't let yourself be influenced by others.

AQUARIUS

You're looking forward to the holidays and going on vacation with your family. If you're going by car, take a map or a GPS, in case you don't have a signal. This will prevent you from getting lost or taking a detour.

PISCES

You'll be proud of your children's remarkable grades at school. You'll give them anything they want. Someone close to you could exploit your generosity by making unrealistic or excessive requests.

Asphalt Markings
 Please be advised that the Public Works Department is set to begin the painting of Asphalt Markings. Starting with symbols painting then followed shortly after by line painting.

Please drive cautiously in construction areas and around construction workers. Barricades will be in place to indicate construction areas.

Roads may be reduced to one lane or temporarily closed in the area.

Roads Work 2024
 Please be advised that Road Work is set to begin within the boundaries of the City of Temiskaming Shores for the 2024 construction season. Please drive cautiously in construction areas and around construction workers. Barricades will be put into place to indicate construction areas.

During this time service disruptions may be in effect, including temporary road closures. The city will provide public notice of service disruptions and construction areas on the city website, social media platforms and local radio.

City staff will attempt to post public notices and updates, as soon as possible, as often as possible. However, please note that staff will not be able to post all service disruptions notices.

Thank you for your patience and understanding during the construction season. Visit the city website for the roads work schedule.

Help available to butt out: THU

TEMISKAMING SHORES (Special) – Resources are available locally and online to help smokers quit, says the Temiskaming Health Unit.

In a recent news release, the health unit said family health teams offer the STOP smoking cessation program, which offers free nicotine replacement therapy (NRT) to eligible participants.

And for people who are not enrolled with a family health team, it said they can participate in STOP on the Net. The online service, developed by the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health, also offers free NRT to smokers aged 18 and up.

In a news release, it noted that Temiskaming's rate of adult smoking is the highest in the province.

A survey of self-reported data found 22 per cent of the district's adult population reported smoking daily. That's more than twice the 10.1 per cent reported in Ontario as a whole.

The health unit sees a community response as needed to help drive down local smoking rates.

Municipalities, it said, can adopt enhanced smoke-free bylaws to make more areas tobacco-free, including beaches, trails and municipal properties and events.

Employers can support employees to attempt to quit smoking.

Local independent events such as fall fairs, street fairs and community festivals can also choose to be smoke-free.

It said health care providers can also ask clients about their tobacco use on a regular basis and help direct them to resources.

Family and friends, it continued, can also support loved ones making a quit attempt.

It noted that the theme of this year's World No Tobacco Day was protection of children from tobacco industry interference.

It said youth and young adults are targeted by such products as vapes and nicotine pouches with flavours, attractive packaging, and social media influencers.

Youth who become addicted to nicotine, it said, are more likely to smoke.

Further information can be found on the health unit's website.

EARLYON IS ALWAYS FUN

EarlyON recently held a carnival outside Timiskaming Child Care on Rorke Avenue in Haileybury. With bouncy castles, crafts and fun for all, the June 1 event was designed to raise awareness of the program for children six and under. Tommy Rumleskie, 4, of New Liskeard, was among the many children enjoying the warm sunshine and time for playing. (Staff photo by Darlene Wroe)
