TEMISKAMING SHORES — The Rockin' On Canada Day organizing committee is seeking the public's help in determining what events they are willing to organize around the July long weekend in Temiskaming Shores.

Rockin' On Canada Day chairperson Barry Phippen is inviting the public, young and old, to a special meeting and social at the College Boreal auditorium on Tuesday, September 10, beginning at 7 p.m.

The first Rockin' event, held June 29 and 30, drew in thousands of people at the former agricultural college, located beside the Ontario Provincial Police detachment in New Liskeard.

Multitudes of motorcycles, vintage cars, inflatables, vendor markets, food and more were featured during the event.

He wants to speak positively about the Rockin' celebration, thank Temiskaming Shores council, his volunteers and supporters and gauge how the public feels about future events.

TIP-TOP VIEWS

The reward for climbing the Temagami Fire Tower is a stunning panoramic view of Temagami, Lake Temagami's Northeast Arm, and the surrounding area. London visitors Gabriela Dabrowski and Michal Mastej were among the many who made the climb to the cupola on Labour Day weekend to capture the view from atop Caribou Mountain. ALL'S FAIR

Preparations for the New Liskeard Fall Fair begin a year in advance, but the pace picks up in the weeks prior to the event. Tara Woodburn, the fair's director of education, was busy August 31 putting the finishing touches on a plywood Holstein that will let kids try their hand at a simulated milking experience. This year's fair runs September 12 through 14. (Staff photo by Diane Johnston)

Overdose Awareness

An overdose means having more of a drug (or combination of drugs) than your body can handle. All drugs can cause an overdose, including prescription medication. It's important to know the right amount and the right time to take your medication. It's also extremely important to know what drugs should not be mixed, and to get help if you feel you are not in control of your drug use.

Depressants and Opioids

A depressant is a drug that slows the vital activities of the body including breathing and heart rate. Depressants may also be known as sedatives. Opioids (such as heroin and pharmaceutical opioids like hydrocodone), medications like Xanax or Valium and alcohol all slow the central nervous system to produce a calming effect. When taken in large amounts or in combination with other medications and/or alcohol, these medications can weaken normal functions like breathing and lower heart rate until breathing and heart rate eventually stop, resulting in death.

Alcohol

Usually people don't think of alcohol when they think of an overdose, but alcohol is a depressant and it is possible to overdose on it. Acute alcohol poisoning, usually a result of binge drinking, is an example.

If you drink a large amount of alcohol quickly, the level of alcohol in your bloodstream can become dangerously high. Alcohol poisoning could stop you from breathing, stop your heart or cause you to choke on your own vomit.

Stimulants

It is possible to overdose on amphetamines. Adderall and Dexedrine are both examples of prescription stimulants. Amphetamine overdose increases the risk of heart attack, stroke, seizure or drug-induced psychotic episodes.

When to Call an Ambulance

Seeking emergency help isn't just for when someone is unconscious. You should also seek help when someone is:

- Having a seizure
- Experiencing severe headache
- Experiencing chest pain
- Having a hard time breathing
- Extremely paranoid, agitated and/or confused

It is not necessary for someone to have all of these signs or symptoms for them to be overdosing. Showing signs of one or more could still mean they are in trouble and need emergency help.

Always call an ambulance if you suspect someone has overdosed!!

EDITORIAL

The importance of history

History was in the news recently with the announcement from Kirkland Lake that they are shutting down the Harry Oakes mansion, the seat of local history in that community. It seems like the town cannot afford to keep the museum open at a cost of over $200,000 per year and the building is aging and in need of repairs.

But a committee of local residents has stepped forward, willing to keep lobbying the Ontario Heritage Trust entity to keep the museum viable.

In Cobalt, the Cobalt and Northern Ontario Fire Museum building was torn down a few weeks ago as it was in need of repairs and the town was not in the position to afford those repairs.

It was the former home of the Cobalt Coleman Latchford and Area Food Bank.

In Enlehart, the town's museum, located at 67 Sixth Avenue, could close soon in favour of a new plan to bring history out into the community.

Having a building of that size with provincial accessibility requirements looming for 2025 is challenging the municipality to rethink the viability of the structure.

Citizens in both those communities were outraged that the history of their towns was going to be lost in the shuffle.

The preservation of the North's history is nothing to sneeze at. As communities find themselves in financial trouble and resources are in short supply, museums are likely the first things a council will look at when trimming municipal budgets.

But in reality, they should be the last because what happens when our history has been lost to the wrecking ball?

Let us remember, local museums hold the memory of our towns, preserving the personal history of its residents.

When we don't know where we came from, often we don't know where we are headed.

All you need is love

Sue Nielsen

“Wear your scars like stardust.” Anonymous

All you need is love in a world seemingly full of hate is a bit of irony isn't it?

We use those phrases over and over again, love wins, but this thing called love isn't easy.

I was listening to a friend recently talk about family members who had done horrible things to him during his lifetime.

It's not easy this thing called love.

Love is hard and messy and the odds of love being the perfect antidote to what ails us is sometimes B.S.

How many of us have families that are fractured, broken and estranged?

Many of us know the pain of a broken heart or have experienced love that was not reciprocated.

How many of us have broken someone's heart or carelessly treated another person who we supposedly loved terribly?

How many of us have witnessed a friend or family member being treated harshly and said nothing?

If someone tells me about their relationship angst, I am not going to throw them under the wheels of the bus.

I am going to put my arms around them and offer a hug and a shoulder to cry on if that is what they wish.

Because years ago when I was going through a personal hell because of a betrayal, someone did that for me, they hugged and comforted me when I needed it the most.

How many of us turn our backs on our friends when times get tough for them?

How many of us step up on the righteousness podium when someone calls us out for bad behaviour?

I often talk about love and spirituality, but in reality, I only know what works for me.

I cannot possibly understand what is in someone else's heart.

How many of us cannot forgive the folks we danced with, slept with, prayed with, ate with and loved?

I remember going on a ten-day canoe trip deep in the Temagami backcountry and coming to the realization that I needed to forgive and move on from a painful marriage breakup.

Marriage is messy, two people come to a relationship with baggage.

And that has been the most beautiful healing thing I could have ever done in my life, mainly for my own health and well-being but for the other person also.

Love doesn't win because we chant it, write it or rub our crystals with essential oils. It wins because we do better.

A few years ago I was literally living hand to mouth working five jobs to support my daughter and myself.

Here's to all the friends who helped me along the way, who had my back when I didn't even have it and who fed me big servings of kindness.

I carry you always in my heart.

Have a wonderful week everyone as summer sprints by.

OBITUARY

Roger Plante

It is with heavy hearts that the family announces the passing of Roger Plante on Sunday, September 1, 2024, in Calgary, Alberta, at the young age of 55. Roger passed peacefully surrounded by his family.

Roger will forever be remembered for his positive attitude during his long battle with ALS. Throughout his everyday challenges, his sense of humour was never lost, and he was a source of inspiration for all those who knew him.

Left to mourn the loss of this great man are his wife, Tracy Plante (Gates); his children, who meant the world to him, Hazel Plante, Emily Plante and Louis Plante; and his cherished granddaughter Maia Jeanne Plante, born two days before his passing (he was able to see her).

Also left to mourn are his sister Monique Plante-Peddie (Paul Peddie), his brother-in-law Freedom Gates (Trish Lundeen), and nephews and nieces Tye, Chloé, Jake, Noah and Zoey.

Roger was predeceased by his father Louis Plante (1979) and his mother Marie-Jeanne Plante (2017).

Interment of his ashes will take place at the Catholic cemetery in New Liskeard, Ontario, at a future date.

"It's OK to be sad, but you have to be strong," Roger always said.

Donations to the ALS Society of Canada would be greatly appreciated.

Tips to power up for winter

DISTRICT (Special) – It may be tough to accept, but winter is coming.

Now's the time to prep spring and summer outdoor power equipment like lawn mowers, leaf blowers and trimmers away for storage, and to ready snowblowers and generators for the coming season.

How and when you prepare your equipment for seasonal changes can save you time and money later, says the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI).

"Readying your equipment for winter needs is important as the weather changes," said OPEI president and CEO Kris Kiser in a news release.

"It's also important to put your fall equipment away correctly. What you do now when you put away your equipment sets you up for an easier start in the spring."

The OPEI offers the following tips:

- Review owner's manuals.

Re-familiarize yourself with how to handle equipment safely. Lost manuals can be found online. Save a copy on your computer if possible, so it can be consulted when needed.

Be familiar with your equipment, and all its features, including how to turn it off quickly and safely.

- Service all equipment.

Before storing spring and summer equipment, clean and service it or take it to a small engine repair shop. Change engine oil and safely dispose of the old oil. Service the air filter, and do other maintenance as directed by the owner's manual.

Check winter equipment and see if any maintenance and repairs are required.

- Handle fuel properly.

Unused fuel left in gas tanks over the winter can go stale and even damage equipment.

New Liskeard Cub returnees and hopefuls were on the ice August 28 honing their skills for the coaching staff at the Don Shepherdson Memorial Arena. The Great North U18 team is set to host their first exhibition game of the new season September 20 at The Shep against the Timmins Majors starting at 8 p.m. (Staff photo by Sue Nielsen)

Before storing equipment, add fuel stabilizer to the gas tank, then run the equipment to distribute it. Turn the engine off, allow the machine to cool, then restart and run until the gas tank is empty.

For winter equipment, buy the recommended type of fuel no more than 30 days before use. Use fuel with no more than 10 per cent ethanol in outdoor power equipment.

Use a fuel stabilizer if recommended by the manufacturer. Get more information on safe fuelling for outdoor power equipment at LookBeforeYouPump.com.

- Charge batteries.

Remove and fully charge batteries before storing. Don't store batteries on metal shelves or allow them to touch metal objects. Store them on a plastic or wood shelf in a climate-controlled structure.

- Shelter equipment from winter weather.

Store spring and summer equipment in a clean, dry place such as a garage, barn or shed. Winter equipment should be kept away from the elements, but be easily available for use.

- Prepare, prepare, prepare.

Make space in the garage or basement before the weather changes so there is room to store larger yard items.

Rockin' On Canada Day seeking input on community events

He mentioned City councillor Mark Wilson offered to come to the meeting to explain the city's position on the cancellation of the tent city and the fireworks display. He said he would thank Wilson for assisting the organizing committee during the event.

"And we hope to see the mayor and other councillors attending the meeting as well," said Phippen.

"Outside the meeting people can fill out questionnaires on whether they want these events. We want to know if people really want these events. Everyone is welcome to come and enjoy a social at the September 10 meeting. I want to get the pulse of the community to see what they really want."

He was not pleased with the decision by the municipality to not allow a tent city to be set up. And he was also not happy with a decision to cancel the July long weekend fireworks display.

He said the potential loss of revenue from the cancellation of the tent city took away funds he and his committee members would have turned over to the Temiskaming Hospital to help those fighting cancer diagnoses.

If people cannot make the September 10 meeting, they can go to the Rockin' On Canada Day questionnaire. Facebook page to fill out a "We have to find out what

HOROSCOPE

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 8 TO 14, 2024

THE LUCKIEST SIGNS THIS WEEK:
AQUARIUS, PISCES AND ARIES

ARIES

You may benefit from changing your lifestyle to improve your physical and mental health. You'll realize this after overdoing it. These changes may also have a positive impact on your work life.

TAURUS

You'll be focused on your love life and may experience moments of intense happiness with your partner. If you're single, you could meet your soulmate and quickly consider making a serious commitment.

GEMINI

A well-deserved raise will improve your financial situation. Your entrepreneurial spirit, creativity and imagination could lead you to start a successful home-based business.

CANCER

Minor changes to your appearance, like new clothes or a new hairstyle, could boost your self-esteem. You'll be able to stand out from the crowd and have a positive self-image.

LEO

Your attention to detail and eye for esthetics will be heightened tenfold, inspiring you to reimagine your home decor. You may come upon an unexpected sum of money that will allow you to treat yourself.

VIRGO

Expressing yourself openly and honestly could increase your self-confidence. This may cause some jealousy but will also bring admiration. Others will notice your elegance.

LIBRA

Your artistic talents may help you secure a second source of income. Creating an exceptional work of art will be a gratifying achievement despite time constraints, and you'll enjoy staying active.

SCORPIO

Be prepared for a demanding week as you adjust at work and home. Compromises will be necessary to restore harmony, and you'll need to take action to restore balance among those closest to you.

SAGITTARIUS

It's a great week to recharge your batteries, whether through massage therapy or taking some alone time to relax and rejuvenate. Take the time you need to restore your energy.

CAPRICORN

Being active in various groups will expand your social circle. Looking put-together will be vital to increasing your network and helping you connect with people who can benefit your career.

AQUARIUS

Delegating more tasks can reduce stress at work and home. Avoid worrying excessively about your loved ones - trust your children to make their own choices.

PISCES

An extraordinary opportunity to travel will present itself. However, the main challenge will be finding the time and money. Be patient and methodical in planning this incredible escape.

MINOR INJURIES REPORTED

Only minor injuries were reported following a collision around the intersection of Hwy. 11 and Bolger Avenue earlier this week that involved three vehicles. Few other details were available about the incident, which occurred early in the afternoon September 3. (Staff photo by Diane Johnston)

Tips to power up for winter

Remove sticks, debris, dog and kid's toys and other items from your yard that can damage or destroy equipment.

Clear the paths used regularly, especially during the winter when snow can hide things.

- Have the right weather-appropriate extension cord for your generator.

Keep heavy duty outdoor-rated extension cords on hand. Ensure the cord is the right length to operate the generator a safe distance from the building.

Never operate a generator indoors, in a garage, breezeway or under an open window or near any air intake for a building.
