Social housing demand increasing in district

Joe O'Grady
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

ENGLEHART - From housing to social assistance, emergency services to child care, Timiskaming's most vulnerable people continued to receive critical support from DTSSAB this past spring.

The District of Timiskaming Social Services Administration Board (DTSSAB) recently released its second quarter report covering the months of April to June, noting a growing demand for social housing in particular.

There were 111 new applications for social housing across the district during the quarter, with the majority coming from the central part of the region, between Kirkland Lake and Temiskaming Shores.

DTSSAB maintains 494 multi-residential units and 108 family units across the region, which required 384 work orders for maintenance and investment during the quarter. There was very little movement of residents during the quarter, with just 20 vacancies recorded, mostly the result of deaths and movements into long-term care.

The Homelessness Prevention Program continued to provide funding for various initiatives including support to local food banks, transitional housing and outreach programs. As of June 30, there were 10 people on the DTSSAB's "by-names list," a consent-based list of people or families experiencing homelessness.

"The by-names list enables collaboration with key community partners, to increase accessibility for clients and develop collaborative solutions," said board CEO Mark Stewart.

"These agencies then meet on a bi-weekly basis to discuss the status of individuals on the list and how they can be supported to reach their goals. This approach has been an effective tool in matching individuals experiencing homelessness to the right supports. These individuals may also be precariously housed, staying with friends, residing within an institution, or at a shelter."

PARAMEDIC SERVICES

Paramedic services saw a small increase in emergency top priority calls during the quarter - 901 compared to just over 800 during the same period last year. The second level of priority, urgent calls, were also up, from just less than 400 last year to 500 this year.

"The Community Paramedicine (CP) program continues to grow and evolve, with a continued focus on supporting seniors and vulnerable individuals by bringing healthcare services directly into their homes," DTSSAB said in its report.

"This helps reduce barriers to care and supports individuals in remaining safely in their communities. Over the last quarter, community paramedicine staff completed 64 in-home blood draws, providing valuable access to laboratory services for those who may otherwise have difficulty accessing them. In addition, all CP staff have completed specialized wound care training, strengthening our ability to support clients and community partners with wound care needs."

CHILD CARE

For child care, the report noted DTSSAB helped distribute more than $230,000 in provincial funding for the Child Care Fee Subsidy, up from about $180,600 last year during the same period. The subsidy helps eligible families by reducing the amount they pay for licensed child care.

ONTARIO WORKS

In Ontario Works, DTSSAB saw 108 new applications submitted, a decrease of 36 over last year. A total of 30 cases were referred to the Ontario Disability Support Program, an increase of nine over the same period last year. A total of 37 cases exited the program due to employment earnings, up 11 over the same period last year.

A total of 104 cases were closed during the quarter, 26 fewer than last year during the same quarter.

"The Ontario Works team achieved nearly 100 per cent of established performance outcomes for the second quarter, demonstrating continued strong program performance and effective service delivery," Stewart said.

"These results reflect the continued dedication of staff, strong collaboration with community partners, and our ongoing commitment to delivering effective, client-focused services. Achieving all outcomes in the first quarter demonstrates the organization's strong performance and continued focus on supporting positive client and employment-related outcomes."

Overall, Stewart said the second quarter was a busy one. Considerable work was done to improve and maintain housing services and continue homelessness prevention initiatives, and paramedic services participated in emergency preparedness activities, and expanded access to community-based care through the Community Paramedicine program.

"Early Years and Child Care continued to provide learning and developmental opportunities for children and families, while finalizing the Five-Year Early Years and Child Care Service System Plan. Ontario Works continued to support clients through financial assistance, life stabilization, employment supports, and coordinated services with community partners.

"The results presented in this report reflect the dedication of our employees and the contributions of the many organizations with whom we work. We remain committed to using available resources effectively, maintaining strong partnerships, and delivering services with integrity and respect."

NOTICE OF A HEARING

Hydro One Networks Inc. has applied for approval to construct transmission line facilities in the Kirkland Lake area of the Northeastern Region of Ontario

Hydro One Networks Inc. (Hydro One Networks) has applied to the Ontario Energy Board (OEB) for leave to construct transmission line facilities in the Kirkland Lake area of northeastern Ontario. The work involves the refurbishment of approximately 13.7 kilometres of an existing 115 kV transmission line that connects Kirkland Lake Transformer Station (TS) and American Barrick Junction (JCT), and the removal of certain components from an adjacent non-operating 115 kV transmission line (Project). The Project is entirely located on privately owned lands.

Hydro One Networks is seeking approval of the forms of land use agreements offered or to be offered to affected landowners.

The OEB hearing is not the only approval process required before a line is built.

Environmental issues, or issues related to the Crown's duty to consult Indigenous peoples, are not part of the OEB's review unless there is a direct impact on price and the reliability and quality of electricity service.

EDITORIAL

The campaign pitch

As we begin the lead up to voting day on Monday, October 26, candidates running for municipal office are making their last attempts to earn your vote.

The Temiskaming Shores and Area Chamber of Commerce has held successful candidate nights across the region enabling voters to see and hear what their candidates are offering.

A big thank you goes out to the Chamber for all their hard work they have done in organizing these important events.

Some of the issues on the minds of voters around the region could involve property taxes, housing and affordability, infrastructure and growth, seniors well being and accountability to ratepayers.

Without a doubt, a vote cast on October 26 will help to shape the future of your community.

Voters are thinking carefully about who they elect to represent them.

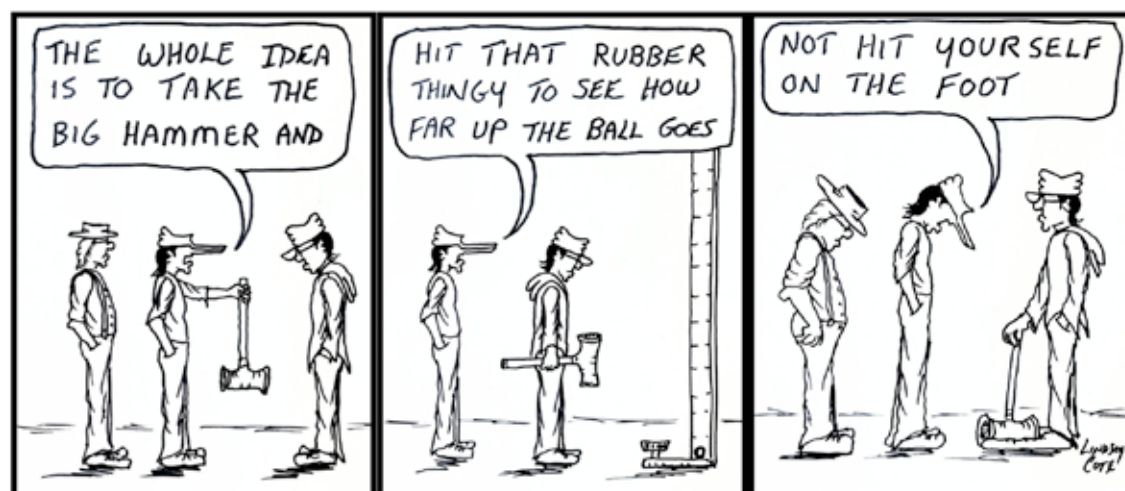

Good leaders will make strong communities, make smart choices for the betterment of all residents and bring about a better future for their community.

Oh, and if you are between the ages of 18 and 25, why not do the unexpected, take a few minutes out of your day and do what young people all around the world are dying to do, vote.

Every vote counts.

Freedom to read

Sue Nielsen

I had a teacher in high school that was an absolute gem.

Mr. Peter Marmorek was a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and god knows how he ended up in Cobalt, but he did.

He did tell us his first teaching job was at Cobalt High School and we were ever so grateful for the teacher gods that brought him to us.

He was a short, bearded man with an IQ out of this world, but more importantly, he challenged us in the most wonderful ways to think about our lives, to think creatively and to adopt critical thinking skills.

His class was called Man and Media.

He just so happened to love science fiction books and it was at that time that I also developed a love of the genre, especially the sci fi authors John Brunner, Ray Bradbury. Ursula K. Le Guin and Isaac Asimov.

Mr. Marmorek also presented Canadian philosopher Marshall McLuhan's work to us.

He encouraged us to think about difficult ideas rather than shield ourselves from uncomfortable truths.

He said that he believed that the test of a good lesson wasn't what the teacher was doing at the front of the class, but what the class was doing.

He also encouraged us to challenge age old stereotypes and injustice believing great learning happens at the point of discomfort.

I don't believe in banning books and we are seeing more and more school boards taking this approach.

While book banning is being done under the guise of protecting children it is nothing short of authoritarianism and jailing one's ability to read and learn freely.

Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale is one of more than 4,500 books banned in American schools and some schools in Alberta.

This book challenges the idea of women's rights, authoritarianism and religious extremism.

Maya Angelou's I Know

Why the Caged Bird Sings was also banned in Alberta.

Perhaps there are many Albertans feeling like caged birds under the leadership of premier Danielle Smith?

When a book is banned readers, young and old, are kept from something that could possibly make them feel seen, heard and inspired.

We are a stories species and stories teach us so much about life.

Peter Marmorek taught his students to challenge assumptions, have those difficult conversations and consider alternative points of view.

Thank you Mr. Marmorek and I hope there are many more just like you in our schools.

Let children go out into the world and grapple with tough ideas and perhaps they won't be sitting in their parents basements shrinking from the world at 40 years of age.

Maybe telling the truth about life feels like an earthquake to some.

Osteoporosis and Bone Mineral Density Testing

Osteoporosis is a condition that causes bones to become thin and porous, decreasing bone strength and leading to broken bones, especially the hip, spine, wrist and shoulder. Osteoporosis is sometimes confused with osteoarthritis. Just to be clear, osteoporosis is a bone disease and osteoarthritis is a disease of the joints and surrounding tissue.

Fast Facts:

- Osteoporosis can strike at any age and affects both men and women
- Building strong bones during childhood and adolescence can be the best defence against developing osteoporosis later in life
- Both men and women begin to lose bone in their mid 30s. As they approach menopause, women lose bone at a greater rate, from 2-3% per year
- At least 1 in 3 women and 1 in 5 men will suffer from an osteoporotic fracture during their lifetime
- Over 80% of all fractures in people 50+ are caused by osteoporosis

Testing

Bone Mineral Density (BMD) testing is very important. This test is safe, painless and accurately measures the density of your bones. A BMD test can tell you whether or not you have osteoporosis and how likely you are to develop it in the future. It can help you to make decisions that may prevent fractures or further bone loss.

Who Should Get a BMD test?

- all women and men 65 years or older
- postmenopausal women and men 50-64 with risk factors for fracture including:
 - low bone mass identified on x-ray
 - parental hip fracture
 - high alcohol intake
 - current smoker
 - low body weight, i.e. less than 132 lbs or 60 kg
 - rheumatoid arthritis
- younger men or women (under 50) with a disease or condition associated with low bone mass or bone loss:
 - high risk medication (steroid use, aromatase inhibitors, androgen deprivation therapy)
 - uncontrolled hyperthyroidism
 - early menopause (younger than 45)

For more information about osteoporosis, go to the Osteoporosis Canada website at www.osteoporosis.ca. If you fall into any of the groups listed above, please schedule an appointment with your primary care provider to discuss BMD testing.

October is

BREAST CANCER

Awareness Month

Awareness, support and hope

The fight against breast cancer: a community effort

In October, government agencies, medical professionals and organizations like the Canadian Cancer Society join forces for Breast Cancer Awareness Month. During these four weeks, many initiatives take place to spread information about the latest scientific advances, risk factors and the importance of screening. It's the perfect time to learn and to get involved.

STATISTICS THAT REMAIN CONCERNING

According to estimates from the Canadian Cancer Society, more than a quarter of all new cancer diagnoses this year in women will be breast cancer. This statistic represents an average of 89 confirmed cases per day in Canada. Even though the mortality rate has been declining since its historical peak in 1986, research indicates that approximately one in eight Canadian women will develop the disease in their lifetime.

COMMITMENT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

It's hard to imagine what the situation would be like if the public didn't contribute to funding research and related activities. Everybody can get involved in the cause according to their abilities and means. You can:

- Organize your own fundraiser
- Make a one-time donation in memory of a loved one or sign up for a monthly giving program
- Attend or volunteer at local events, such as the Canadian Cancer Society CIBC Run for the Cure

Can't donate or volunteer? Your voice is just as valuable. Don't underestimate the positive impact of raising awareness among your friends and family. For more information, visit cancer.ca.

Breast Cancer Screening Saves Lives

- If you are aged 40 to 74, talk with your doctor or nurse practitioner about breast cancer screening.
- If you are over 40, you can self-refer for a mammogram. You do not need a doctor or nurse practitioner referral.
- If you think you are at high risk, screening can start sooner. Talk to your doctor or nurse practitioner. Those without a provider can call 8-1-1 for guidance.

The Ontario Breast Screening Program is offered FREE at the following welcoming locations in our area:

- Temiskaming Hospital (New Liskeard)
– 705-647-1088 ext. 2129
- Blanche River Health - (Kirkland Lake)

HOROSCOPE

Week of October 11 to 17, 2026

ARIES

Overtime boosts your income, but you'll quickly realize something is missing in your emotional life. This awareness will prompt you to restore balance between your professional and personal spheres.

TAURUS

You'll be in exactly the right place at the right time to shine. At work, praise and recognition highlight your efficiency. This strengthens your credibility and confirms that your endeavors haven't been in vain.

GEMINI

Your personal world can feel comforting, but it can also weigh you down. This is the ideal moment to declutter, give away or discard the things that no longer serve you. By lightening your environment, you'll also clear your mind.

CANCER

To resolve a delicate situation, dare to say out loud what you've been thinking. By asserting your authority, you unlock dead ends and restore harmony around you, both at work and at home.

LEO

Major expenses, such as buying a vehicle or a major piece of equipment, may be necessary to maintain your professional image and mobility. A precise, well planned budget will help you avoid unpleasant surprises.

VIRGO

Your desire to prove yourself is paying off. At work, your results will attract new clients and bring you closer to your ambitious goals. By applying an effective method, you'll see significant improvement.

LIBRA

If you're searching for the ideal job or a personal path, start by clarifying what really inspires you. Your fertile imagination may lead you to craft a promising project or piece of work in your field of interest.

SCORPIO

A sedentary lifestyle is beginning to affect both your mood and your body. Suggest active outings with your friends—such as walks, sports or other dynamic activities. When you're with others, motivation returns and your overall health improves significantly.

SAGITTARIUS

As you approach a career shift or retirement, organize your thoughts. By setting a plan, milestones and priorities, you'll have the clarity you need to design a future aligned with your real desires.

CAPRICORN

A new course of study or area of expertise will accelerate your professional progress. When you encounter challenges, your strongest allies will be patience and curiosity. You'll turn every learning opportunity into a career springboard.

AQUARIUS

Deep reflection will lead you to modify your living environment. You'll be better able to meet the needs of you and your family by making a change, such as reorganizing your space or possibly relocating. New surroundings will better support your projects.

PISCES

Your agreeability is causing the pressure to mount. Before making a new commitment, take time to consider the details, constraints and your own limits. Good decisions will spare you from overwhelm and regret.
