A bird's eye view

Fall migration banding in full swing

Sue Nielsen Speaker Reporter

HILLIARDTON — The miracle of the fall bird migration is being played out at the Hilliardton Marsh Research and Education Centre (HMREC) where visitors are being given a bird's eye view of saw-whet owl banding.

The fall migration has been underway for a while now, starting as early as August for some birds.

Bird banding projects at the marsh feature the spring and fall migrations.

Saw-whet owl banding began at the HMREC in 2000, with the launch of Project Owlnet.

Project Owlnet was founded in 1994 to facilitate communication, cooperation and innovation among a growing network of owl migration researchers in North America.

The saw-whet owl is the smallest nocturnal owl banded at the marsh, about the size of a pop can.

"We were contacted by Project Owlnet and that's how we began our sawwhet owl banding here at the marsh," said HMREC birder researcher Bruce Murphy. "We have banded 7,300 since we began, so far this year we have banded 91 and on our best night we banded 39 owls."

Murphy believes the banders at the marsh could go over the 8,000 mark this year with saw-whet owls banded.

He said about 90 per cent of the owls banded at the marsh are hatched this

A group of former Timiskaming District Secondary School TERRA program (Teaching Ecological Responsibility Recreation and Adventure) students and their children opted for a private owl banding session on Saturday, September 22.

Murphy taught the TERRA program for several years.

Public drop-in sessions take place on Wednesday evenings at the marsh from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. until the Wednesday after Thanksgiving, depending on the weather.

BANDING

"We had three factors going for us tonight, the phase of the moon, the temperature and little wind," said Murphy as the banders checked the nets for owls around 9 p.m.

A few nets made of fine mesh, which harmlessly capture birds, are set up in a suitable habitat. An audio recording of the owl's call is then played to attract the migrating birds to the nets.

The trained birders carefully removed the birds from the netting and placed them in cloth bags returning them to the viewing area inside the marsh's main building called the birdhouse.

This is the exciting part because adults and children can view the owls up close.

"This is so great as we get to hold the owls, "said Christine Brown. "There are so many of us here tonight who went through the TDSS TERRA program and now as outdoor enthusiasts, we are excited for our kids to learn about owls."

The birds were weighed, the sex was determined and the wing length was measured.

An ultraviolet light was used to determine the age of the bird as newer feathers show up pink.

"The females weigh a bit more than the males," said Murphy.

A lightweight metal band was placed loosely on the owl's leg. The metal band has a serial number, which is associated with all the banding data on this particular bird.

So if the bird is captured in another region, there is a history of information on it.

HMREC bird researcher Joanne Goddard gently placed the owls inside a box in a quiet area outside so it can readjust its eyes to the darkness.

Then the owls were released back into the wild to continue their southern migration.

Murphy is proud of the scientific research being done at the marsh. "We banded our 100,000th bird, It was a beautiful western palm warbler. We also had two previously banded sawwhet owls at the marsh."

FUNDRAISING

The HMREC board of directors and volunteers are promoting a fundraiser called Catch the Ace Progressive Lottery in order to support infrastructure upgrades at the marsh.

Each week tickets are sold. Fifty per cent goes to the Marsh as a fundraiser, 20 per cent goes to the lucky winner and 30 per cent goes into the progressive jackpot.

Draws are made every Wednesday night at Zante's Bar & Grill. You do not have to be present; everything is done through the Facebook page called Hilliardton Marsh Catch the Ace.

The $5 tickets are being sold at various locations around New Liskeard and in Englehart or from marsh board members.

50 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Temiskaming Speaker dated September 26, 1968. TWO COBALT BOYS INJURED SATURDAY

Two Cobalt boys were treated for injuries in Misericordia Hospital last Saturday, and both are reported to be in good condition.

Barry Tresidder, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Tresidder, was savagely bitten by a dog, which was later seized by the animal control officer and will be kept under observation for 14 days.

William Geck, 15, was struck by a car when riding his bike on the road to the pumphouse. He suffered leg and back injuries.

Constable Max Gay of the Cobalt Detachment, OPP, investigated both incidents.

STAGES SUCCESSFUL DRIVE FOR FUNDS

A meeting of the Tri-Town and District Association for the Mentally Retarded was held at the Elm Street School in New Liskeard on September 16.

In business that followed the president, Mrs. David Story, reported that just over $3,000 was collected during the financial drive held this summer. Receipts for donation are to be sent out by mail within the next two weeks.

It was also announced by the president that the winner of the Rotor-Cooker Fryer donated by Grayds Hardware at the Association's Fall Fair booth raffle was Ann Collier of New Liskeard.

POLICE VILLAGE

Residents of Earlton met with an official of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs to discuss the future of the police vil-

Fred Hill, supervisor in municipal administration, represented the government, and answered questions regarding the proposed dissolution of the village organization. Under the present system the affairs of the village are administered by village trustees and Armstrong Township council.

WAWBEWAWA SCHOOL

Shirley (Grant) Boisvert of Kitchener sent The Speaker this photo via Bud Colquhoun of Englehart. This group of students attended Wawbewawa School, Union School #2, in Chamberlain Township in 1949-50 in Mrs. Graham's class. The school was opened in September 1910. The students are, in front from the left, Orville Hack, Murray Peters, Louis Cusson, Lois Graham, Larry Simon and Germaine Cusson. The next row is Bob Peters, Isabelle Grant, Ruth Blackburn, Alice Digulla and Harold Brandenburg. In the third row are Jim Croisier, Betty Walker, Shirley Digulla, Vera Hack, Arden (Jake) Blackburn, Irene Claman, Betty Blackburn and Calvin Peters. In back from the left are Irene Brandenburg, Della Grant, Loretta Morrison, Ruby Morrison, Irene Simon, Clara Swinston, Shirley Grant, Wanda Milks and Harry Coutts. (Supplied photo)

75 YEARS AGO

Taken from The Temiskaming Speaker September 30, 1943. OPERATORS TO WAIT AND SEE

Enquiries in Cobalt last weekend brought the information that is a little early, in the opinion of interested parties, to forecast what may happen to cobalt mining in the camp if United States contracts for the product are not renewed with the Canadian authorities, as has been intimated from responsible sources. Some operators spoken to said they were without any official word on the subject, and it was intimated they would wait and see developments before going further into the matter.

Cobalt shipped out of the Temiskaming district mining areas- South Lorrain and Gowganda are included in the figures ascribed to Cobalt itself- at present goes entirely to the Deloro plant, and is being bought through an arrangement with the government at Ottawa. Prices are pegged at $1.10 per pound for 10 percent ore, 99 cents for 9 percent, and 88 cents for eight percent, with correspondingly higher rates for ore with a greater cobalt content. The ore from Northern Ontario, it is understood, is being stock piled meantime.

LIQUOR TRADE IS DENOUNCED

Resolutions dealing with the liquor traffic, evangelism and with votes of thanks to those who had assisted in the arrangements for the proceedings were adopted at the two closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Northern Association of Baptist Churches, held in the New Liskeard church last Thursday. All went through unanimously, but the firstnamed was referred back to the committee when it was first presented, after some delegates had suggested it did not, in its original form, state the Baptist position on the subject.

As finally adopted, it read; "Resolved, that (a) the Northern Association of Baptist Churches record its abhorrence of the liquor trade in all its forms, and call upon its constituents to support the churches in their struggle against this evil; and that (b), a night letter be despatched to Prime Minister MacKenzie King commending him for the stand he has taken to restrict the sale and consumption of alcohol and expressing the hope that the restriction be continued, and even increased."

THINKS WINTER HARD TO TAKE ON RETURN HOME

It is going to be a difficult matter for Sapper George Hooper, of Hudson Township, to get accustomed to the Canadian climate again, according to a view expressed by him in a brief letter from overseas received by the Speaker this week. He adds that "the people over here do not know what Canadian winters are like, and when you speak to them of forty below zero they look at you so surprised, and when you tell them about the snow they can hardly believe us."

I got a "Speaker" to-night. They are coming more frequently lately. I see a letter from Mrs. W. B. Smart has received W. Horton. He mentioned seeknow where they are. I have a good idea though. You remember that name I fooled you on. That is where I think they are. It is about as far as from Liskeard to Latchford from here. Some hike eh? I don't think I'll try to walk it.

Well, things are pretty quiet just now; one would think there was no war on, but I don't like these spells. They usually mean trouble. "The calm before the storm", you know. The storms come pretty often though.

The farmers are busy between showers cutting their grain. It rains almost every day and usually three or four times at that. The Imperial Army have a few binders working for civilians. They have plenty of horses eating their heads off, so to speak, so they may as well be pulling a binder.

Talk about the North; It is O.K. if people only knew it. They should see some of the socalled "Good Country". Now, I have no grudge against this country, but the little old town in his North will do for me when this scrape is over with. The mosquitoes here are like young aeroplanes. They are just about as big as three of ours and when they take a hold of you, you know it. There are other pets, like lizards and insects too numerous to mention.

I have a "chance" for French leave, but one hears so many false reports that until one holds his pass in his hands he can't believe it. I sure would like to go to Paris, since I am so close. It only costs about eight dollars for car fare, so you can guess how far away it is.

Well, I didn't get this finished after all. Fritz is a little bit angry to-day. He must have heard about that advance the Allies made, eh? We should worry, so long as he does not hit our happy home.

Had a few letters from the boys lately. Lloyd Evoy, Frank Cragg, Art Shaw and L. McFee and I have them all to answer. Also one from cousin Nell, asking when I'm going to Ireland till they get me a chance to dump me off an Irish jaunting car like they did before.

If you could hear the shells bursting while I'm writing, you would think Hades was let loose, yet this is nothing like getting caught in a barrage like we did a while ago, and hiding in a trench from 9:30 a.m till 5 p.m. without any dinner. That was the worst part of it, think you? Only had one man wounded. I thought about half of them would be killed. That however, is passed, and almost forgotten. Everybody is talking about the big drive now.

I think I have told you more news than I intended when I started, but it can't be helped now, eh?

Let me know how things are going in the West and remember me to all.

> As ever your brother, Henry.

FARMING Roots that run deep

Pulses: the food of the future

A staple in traditional cuisines across the globe, pulses — which include beans, peas, lentils and chickpeas, among others — are packed with benefits for both people and the planet. Enjoyed in soups, stews, falafel, hummus, curries, tacos and more, these tiny powerhouses are high in protein, low in fat and loaded with vitamins and minerals. What's more, pulse crops are drought-resistant and have a low carbon footprint, providing a sustainable dietary staple to feed the planet's ever-growing population.

Wholesome nutrition

Cultural groups around the world have been consuming pulses for centuries, and with good reason. A vital source of plant-based protein and dietary fibre, pulses are beneficial to our overall health. They contain a number of essential vitamins and minerals like iron, zinc, folate and magnesium. Furthermore, pulses can help achieve healthy cholesterol levels, reduce the risk of heart disease, stabilize blood sugar and improve gut health. A single cup of cooked pulses contains more than half of the recommended daily fibre intake.

Eco-friendly farming

Beyond the human diet, pulses also have a positive impact on the environment. In addition to requiring less water and energy to grow than other crops, they produce fewer greenhouse gas emissions, which are a common agricultural by-product largely caused by the use of nitrogen fertilizers. Pulse crops possess nitrogen-neutralizing properties and are able to convert nitrogen found in the air into a natural fertilizer that crops can use.

Sustainable future

Today's farmers face the challenge of producing more and more food to meet the demand of a growing population while leaving behind the smallest possible environmental footprint. Pulses provide an affordable, nutritious and sustainable alternative to traditional sources of protein like red meat, poultry and fish.

Spicy chickpea burgers, red bean brownies, butterbean casseroles, baked curry lentil cakes — pulses aren't just good for soups! Visit www.pulses.org for a variety of healthy, mouth-watering recipes

Power to dig holes for fences, footings, and landscaping

Ideal for landscapers, farmers, and municipalities planting trees and shrubs or installing decks and fencing in all soil types and conditions.
